Passing of Penrose Ends Sway of East.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 2.—[Special.]—The passing of Boies Penrose marks the end of an era characterized by the domination of the senate by eastern senators who were themselves great political bosses and directs attention to the rise of the west to commanding influence in congress, a process that has been in progress noticeably for a decade.

Penrose was the last of the eastern bosses who dominated the Republican party for a generation and shaped legislation in the senate. The group included such men as Aldrich of Rhode Island, Quay of Pennsylvania, Hale of Maine and Platt of New York, a quartet which ruled congress with an iron hand and dictated the high protective tariff and other legislation on which the industrial and financial interests of the east waxed fat.

Lodge Reigns but Does Not Rule.

Penrose succeeded Quay as boss of Pennsylvania and rose to be grand marshal of the old guard in and out of the senate. But it was not long before the twilight of the bosses set in with the progressive revolution during the Roosevelt and Taft administrations and Penrose found himself the sole survivor of the old oligarchy. While he lingered the figures of the eastern leaders faded from the picture and were replaced by western men.

Western Oaks in Senate.

The outstanding leaders of the senate today are such men of the west as Cummins and Kenyon of Iowa, McCumber of North Dakota, who succeeds Penrose as chairman of the finance committee; Lenroot of Wisconsin, Smoot of Utah, Watson of Indiana, Borah of Idaho, Johnson of California, and Warren of Wyoming.

Senator Watson of Indiana falls heir to the mantle of Penrose as leader of the conservative element of the senate, and the day probably is not far distant when he will succeed Senator Lodge as Republican leader. His influence commands a wider sweep than did that of Penrose, for Watson can count on the support of more progressive Republicans.

New Leaders to Bar Sectional Lines.

Of course, the rise to power of the western senators does not mean that the west is beginning to profit from legislation at the expense of the east as the east has fattened on legislation at the expense of the west for many years. The western leaders show no disposition to wrest a sectional advantage from the dominating position, although the east has been loudly complaining of late that this is the net result of the agricultural bloc.

The west, however, is in a position to satisfy its just demands in the way of legislation. Its men have risen to control in the senate and they are undergoing the test of fitness to represent a section of the country which has felt itself subordinated to the east when Republicans were in control of congress.

St. Lawrence Canal to Be Test.

There will be a test of this new power of the west at no distant date when the proposal to construct the St. Lawrence seaway in cooperation with Canada comes before the congress. The vote is almost solidly in favor of it. The plan is being fought in the east. The seniority rule still holds in congress and the west has risen to power because it has been reflecting its senators and representatives more generally than has the east in recent years. Rising to the top of the list through the operation of this rule, western senators now dominate such major committees of the senate as agriculture, appropriations, commerce, education and labor, finance, interstate commerce, judiciary and postoffices.

Eastern control remains, but in diminishing degree, in the committees on banking and currency, foreign relations, immigration, military affairs and naval affairs.

Under Secretary of State Henry P. Fletcher is being considered for appointment as senator from Pennsylvania to fill the remainder of the term of Senator Penrose, according to Washington political gossip today. Mr. Fletcher, according to this plan, would serve until November, 1922, when he would be appointed ambassador to Belgium.

MR. LUGUBRIOUS BLUE AND MR. SMILEY GLADD DISCUSS THE SITUATION

[Copyright: 1922: By The Chicago Tribune.]

MR. GLADD—"My goodness, Mr. Blue, this is no way to start the new year! Cheer up. 1921 is past and the worst is over.

MR. BLUE—"I'm indigo from the ground up. This happy New Year stuff is all bunk. For every 1 per cent of silver lining you have 99 per cent of cloud."

MR. GLADD—"Face the sun and you won't see the shadows, Mr. Blue."

MR. BLUE—"They'll be there just the same. Besides, there's only ten hours of sunshine out of every twenty-four. I tell you, I'm plumb discouraged."

MR. GLADD—"Try to think of the pleasant things instead of the gloomy ones. Look about you! Most people seem to be fairly happy even if nobody has everything he wants."

MR. BLUE—"Our diplomats are leading us headlong into trouble. Take this new four-flush treaty, for instance. Even the men who wrote it are already disagreeing on what it means. They say it entails no moral obligation to use force, but just wait and hear them yell when war is in sight. 'America is honor bound to take up arms!' 'Do not treat our sacred treaty like a scrap of paper!' 'America can never face the world if she repudiates her word of honor!' I can hear 'em yelling it already."

MR. GLADD—"Come, come, Mr. Blue! There is nothing in the treaty that obliges us to go to war."

MR. BLUE—"Well, why don't they say so in the treaty? No, sir; we're headed for trouble. We'll be sending our boys out to protect the integrity of Japan one of these days. You just wait!'

MR. GLADD—"O, cheer up, Mr. Blue. We'll have ten years of peace, and by that time the world will get out of the habit of wanting a war. We're headed for good times, Mr. Blue, so cheer up and look on the bright side for a change."

RESCUE RODMAN WANAMAKER AS HOME IS BURNED

New York, Jan. 2.—[Special.]—Thrilling rescues of Rodman Wanamaker and two housemaids by Ernest Schmidt, butler, and a daring dash into smoke filled rooms in which a fireman sergeant saved the life of his lieutenant marked a fire of strange origin this morning at the Wanamaker home, 69 Washington place.

RODMAN WANAMAKER.

Wanamaker, suffering from the effects of a nervous breakdown, collapsed as Schmidt was dragging him through a third floor window.

Later, at the home of his father, New York and Philadelphia department store millionaire, John Wanamaker, where he was rushed by Commissioner of Public Safety Grover Whalen, such grave concern was felt over his condition that Dr. Harvey Shoemaker, Wanamaker's personal physician, was summoned from Philadelphia.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 2.—The condition of Clarence B. The crisis will not pass for at least twenty-four hours, it was said.

DANCER IS SHOT IN AL TEARNEY'S

While scores of dancers swayed to and fro to the crooning melodies of a jazz band in Al Tearney's café at 336 East 35th street, a man was shot and seriously wounded last night. Near panic resulted.

It was shortly before 11 o'clock. A crowd of pleasure seekers, larger than usual because of the New Year's festivities, thronged the floors and gathered at the tables. In one booth sat a police captain, a lieutenant and several sergeants.

Charles Strauss, 1601 Spaulding avenue, was one of the patrons. At another table a few feet away sat a man who gave his name as Frank Ray and who says he lives in New York City.

Weaves Through Dancers.

Strauss got to his feet and began to weave his way through the titillating dozens. Ray moved, rather unsteadily, towards him. They met.

"Say, you," said Ray to Strauss. "whaddya making faces at me for?"

Strauss stopped, surprised. "I wasn't making faces at you—I never saw you before; you must be drunk!" he quoth.

"Drunk nothin'—I'll show you!" and Ray pulled a gun. Strauss' right arm went up as if to protect his face.

Strauss Is Shot, Falls.

The dancers with one movement started for the nearest exits. A policeman from the nearby booth jumped at Ray and grabbed the gun. Walters quieted the tumult.

Strauss was taken to the Lakeside hospital. His injury was pronounced serious by physicians. Ray was taken to the Stanton avenue station. He had been drinking—moonshine.

WRECKS HIS OWN SALOON; SAVES POLICE A JOB

Detectives from the Englewood station went over to raid the place. They found Konen inside. They explained their mission. Konen replied: "Get out of here; I don't give a damn for Chief Fitmorris or any one else." He drew a gun and began shooting. The detectives backed out and called the patrol wagon and a squad of policemen. Inside Konen was smashing bottles.

With the arrival of the wagon the place was stormed from all sides. The officers were greeted by a volley of shots from Konen, none of which took effect. In the ensuing mêlée the interior of the saloon was totally wrecked. Konen and Charles Lawrence, 3745 West 64th street, were arrested.

Bride Declared Ill at Her Home.

Hundreds of Chicago society people filled the Fourth Presbyterian church yesterday afternoon for the wedding of Allister McCormick, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Hamilton McCormick of 631 Rush street, and Miss Mary Landon Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred L. Baker of 1130 Lake Shore drive. But there was no wedding.

Miss Baker failed to appear.

Church sextons had unrolled the softly padded white carpet down which the bridal couple was to walk, and the stirring strains of the wedding march were sounding from the organ when the Rev. John Timothy Stone broke the news to the assemblage, sitting in hushed expectancy.

Bride Suddenly Indisposed.

"Owing to the sudden indisposition of Miss Baker," he said, "the marriage is postponed. There will be no ceremony today."

A gasp, as if those present had been suddenly immersed in cold water, echoed through the church. A moment later an excited buzz of comment mingled with the rustle of silken garments as the hundreds of guests made for the exits.

Fifteen minutes later the sextons were rolling up the white carpet and the curtain had been rung down on one of the most spectacular wedding denouements Chicago has ever known.

Society had long looked forward to the affair. Allister McCormick and Miss Baker have been considered sweethearts since childhood. They were to have been married last May, but then a postponement of the ceremony was caused by the illness of the bride-to-be.

A few weeks ago came the announcement of another date for the event, Jan. 2. "At 4 o'clock," the invitations read.

Guests Fill Church.

Long before that hour the Fourth Presbyterian church was a mass of lilies and ferns. At 3 o'clock the florists had added the last touch to the decorations. At 3:30 a stream of inclosed cars began depositing guests at the portals of the church. A list of their names would have rivaled a list of boxholders on the opening night of opera.

At five minutes to 4 the church was filled. Leander McCormick, brother of Allister McCormick and his best man, fumbled nervously with the ring. The ushers, Gordon McCormick and Harold Fowler McCormick Jr., both cousins of Allister; Leander McCormick Goodhart, Henry Channon, Joseph T. Ryerson, and Albert B. Dewey, lined up in pairs at the rear of the church.

At 4 o'clock the white ribbons forming an aisle for the bridal couple were strung in place. The soft strains of the organ, played by Eric De Lamarter, stole through the church. The hum of voices ceased. In a moment was to come the bridal procession.

Bridegroom's Parents Enter.

A side door opened. The parents of the bridegroom entered and took seats with other relatives in a front pew.

The tones of the organ grew stronger. It was sounding the wedding march. A door in the rear of the church opened. It was not the bridal couple, but Mrs. Robert M. Curtis, sister of the bride to be, in a lavender gown and picture hat, and Miss Baker's small niece and nephew.

Over and over again the first bars of the wedding march were repeated. The guests were growing a bit restive at the delay. Again the organ repeated the prelude of the march. The hands of the clock slipped to twenty minutes past 4.

Then from the rear of the church came the sound of footsteps. "At last," the guests sighed. They watched the Rev. Mr. Stone march to the front of the church, followed by the Rev. James G. K. McClure of Lake Forest. And then they heard:

"There will be no ceremony today."

Noted for Doing Unusual.

The announcement caused a veritable storm of comment and conjecture. "Trust Mary to do something unusual," came from several guests of her own age. Others were fearful lest she be seriously ill.

A number of the latter, as they climbed into their cars, ordered chauffeurs to drive them to the Baker apartment.

Ulster Paves Way to Enter Irish State

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

[Copyright: 1922: By The Chicago Tribune.]

DUBLIN, Jan. 2.—A dramatic turn in the Irish situation may take place within the next few days. I am informed on high authority that the treaty will be ratified by the Dail, which resumes its sessions tomorrow, and that the Free State of Ireland will include thirty-two instead of twenty-six counties. This means that Ulster will come in at once, retaining, of course, a large measure of autonomy under the free state.

Sir James Craig, the premier of Ulster, is said to be in Dublin today conferring with certain southern leaders on terms and conditions for Ulster's acceptance of the treaty. I give this statement with certain reserve, but my source of information has always been well informed in the past.

Ulster May Name Minister.

If Ulster decides to come in it will solve immediately many problems of the new free state. Ireland will benefit by the superior business and financial ability of the north, and it is stated that Ulster may supply a finance minister for the new government. The presence in the southern government of men of recognized financial ability might mean an advantage of 1 or 2 per cent on the issue of government loans.

Ulster will benefit by the opportunity to regain the trade with Ireland lost by the boycott and lower taxation which is sure to be imposed by the free state.

People for Treaty.

The Dail Eireann deputies returning from the country today report that the people of Ireland are almost unanimously for the treaty. Those against ratification were shrouded in the deepest gloom, while the supporters were correspondingly elated, but there are a large number of deputies who have not indicated which way they will vote and probably will not until the ballot is taken. It is probable, indeed, that some may not indicate their position until the vote is partly taken, hoping to vote against the treaty without defeating it but determined to vote for it rather than allow it to be defeated.

Two Die in Belfast Riots.

BELFAST, Jan. 2.—There was a renewal of the rioting in Belfast today. Two were killed and several critically wounded. The victims were members of both factions.

ITALIANS KILL YANKEE JACKIE IN SHANGHAI ROW

SHANGHAI, Jan. 2.—[By the Associated Press.]—Serious trouble between sailors from Italian and American warships here developed today when a band of some two score Italian sailors surprised and attacked about a dozen American jackies in a café and then went from one café to another seeking out and attacking isolated groups of Americans. Five Americans sustained knife wounds, two of them being seriously stabbed.

The attacks were the outgrowth of a trifling brawl in a café, following which the Italians gathered the raiding party, which was armed with knives and several revolvers. The Americans are declared to have been unarmed.

TAKEN OVER BY CONTINENTAL; DEPOSITS SAFE

George M. Reynolds' Offer Averts Crisis.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

In a $60,000,000 bank absorption, the Fort Dearborn National bank and the Fort Dearborn Trust and Savings bank were taken over by the two Continental and Commercial banks last night. All books and accounts were transferred by a force which labored all night.

This morning checks on Fort Dearborn accounts will be paid over the Continental and Commercial counters, and the largest bank west of New York stands behind a guaranty to pay $60,000,000 of deposits dollar for dollar and penny for penny.

This action, which followed an all day session of the Chicago Clearing House association and leading financiers, happily averted the most serious bank crisis that has recently threatened the La Salle street district.

The amount paid the Fort Dearborn for good will is approximately $1,250,000.

Chicago's Finance Is Sound.

The taking over of the two banks removes the one weak spot in the financing center, so members of the clearing house declared last night, while the ease with which the $60,000,000 absorption was accomplished—in less than four or five hours after George M. Reynolds of the Continental and Commercial had made his offer—is a striking demonstration of the solidity and soundness of Chicago's banking position.

The difficulties of the two Fort Dearborn institutions were attributed to over extension of credits. The two institutions, instead of confining themselves to banking, it is said, went into financing of manufacturing, merchandising, and real estate, and the business depression of the summer and autumn then froze up a large quantity of loans. Finally W. A. Tilden, president of the Fort Dearborn National bank, and his associates called in the clearing house committee and threw up their hands.

Extended Conferences Held.

Extended conferences were held by the Clearing House association. An examination of assets and liabilities was made, which led James B. Forgan of the First National bank and Mr. Reynolds of the Continental and Commercial to make offers to take over the Fort Dearborn properties. Last night the offer of the Continental and Commercial was accepted.

All obligations will be met dollar for dollar; no depositor will lose a cent; the only ones who stand to lose are the shareholders of the Fort Dearborn properties. Last night it was said by some that shares themselves will eventually pay off 50 to 75 cents on the dollar. Others estimated shareholders themselves may finally get dollar for dollar.

New Prestige to Banks.

The Continental and Commercial banks add still further to their prestige as the largest bank outside of New York through the merger. These allied banks will have total deposits of about $400,000,000 and total resources exceeding $525,000,000. The National bank has capital of $25,000,000, surplus of $15,000,000, and undivided profits of $5,521,000. The state bank has capital of $5,000,000, surplus of $5,000,000, and undivided profits of $2,267,000.

This banking group started with the old Continental National as a nucleus. In 1909 the Continental acquired the American Trust and Savings bank. In 1910 when it was merged with the old Commercial National the name was changed to the present title.

Guarantee by Clearing House.

The absorption entails the assumption of $60,000,000 of liabilities. The Continental and Commercial banks are guaranteed against possible losses by the clearing house banks to the extent of $2,500,000. The Fort Dearborn shareholders have made a further guaranty against loss of $1,500,000, a total of $4,000,000. In addition there is capital, surplus, and undivided profits of at least $8,000,000. Financiers declared last night this is more than ample to take care of the estimated $12,000,000 representing frozen assets of the Fort Dearborn banks.

Mr. Reynolds' Statement.

The formal action in taking over the banks was announced by Mr. Reynolds as follows:

"The Continental and Commercial National bank and the Continental and Commercial Trust and Savings bank have taken over the Fort Dearborn National bank and the Fort Dearborn

"All deposits in the Fort Dearborn National bank and in the Fort Dearborn Trust and Saving bank have been guaranteed by the Continental and Commercial National bank and the Continental and Commercial Trust and Savings bank, respectively, and checks drawn against accounts in the Fort Dearborn National bank will be honored by the Continental and Commercial National bank, and deposits, including savings accounts in the Fort Dearborn Trust and Savings bank, will be placed to the credit of the depositors on the books of the Continental and Commercial Trust and Savings bank.

"The business heretofore carried on by the Fort Dearborn National bank and the Fort Dearborn Trust and Savings bank will hereafter be conducted by the Continental and Commercial National bank and the Continental and Commercial Trust and Savings bank, respectively, at their offices, 208 South La Salle street."

Backed Earl Motors, Inc.

The obligations of Edward Tilden & Co. are estimated at about $6,800,000 and of this amount about $4,000,000 represents borrowings from banks in various states with Fort Dearborn bank stock and some other securities pledged as collateral. It was said last night that the estate in numerous instances had been asked to replace the bank stock with other collateral, but was unable to do so on short notice.

The Tilden interests were largely behind the recent reorganization of the Briscoe Motor company into Earl Motors, Inc. It is understood the estate took a major portion of an issue of $2,500,000 of new bonds and considerable new common stock, of which 200,000 shares were issued at $10 a share. Altogether it was estimated the estate purchased about $4,000,000 in new securities. The common stock recently has shown sharp depreciation in market value.

The Chicago house of Merrill Cox & Co., note brokers, had close business relations with the Fort Dearborn banks, its vice president being Averill Tilden.

The New York house of Merrill Cox & Co. is not involved in any way, so it is stated.

FROM THE CLEARING HOUSE

James B. Forgan, chairman of the Chicago clearing house committee, in confirming the announcement of the taking over of the Fort Dearborn banks' business by the Continental and Commercial banks, gave out a statement as follows:

"Owing to the overextended condition of Edward Tilden & Co. and some recently made loans and investments which proved to be bad and entailed heavy losses, it was found on examination of the two Fort Dearborn banks by the Chicago clearing house examiner that the capital of both banks had been impaired.

"It was realized that under these circumstances it was necessary to take such action as would protect the depositors in the Fort Dearborn National bank and the Fort Dearborn Trust and Savings bank, who, of course, have a prior claim to the entire assets of the two banks.

Clearing House Guarantee.

"The officers and directors of the Fort Dearborn National bank and the Fort Dearborn Trust and Savings bank entered into negotiations as a result of which the members of the Chicago Clearing House association agreed to furnish guaranties to the extent of $2,500,000 satisfactory to the Continental and Commercial National bank and the Continental and Commercial Trust and Savings bank to protect them against loss.

"Checks drawn against funds on deposit with the Fort Dearborn National bank will be honored by the Continental and Commercial National bank and deposits in the Fort Dearborn National bank will be credited on the books of the Continental and Commercial National bank, while accounts in the Fort Dearborn Trust and Savings bank will be taken care of by the Continental and Commercial Trust and Savings bank.

"The Chicago Clearing House committee assures the depositors of both the Fort Dearborn National bank and the Fort Dearborn Trust and Savings bank that their interests have been fully protected and that owing to the arrangement entered into by the Chicago Clearing House association with the Continental and Commercial National bank and the Continental and Commercial Trust and Savings bank they will suffer no loss.

Drovers Banks O. K.

"Inasmuch as Edward Tilden & Co. is interested as minority stockholder in the Drovers National bank and the Drovers Trust and Savings bank, the clearing house committee has had made a special examination of these institutions for the purpose of ascertaining their condition.

"The result of these examinations is such as to warrant the committee in saying that in its opinion these banks are absolutely solvent and entitled to the full confidence of their customers and the public in general.

"In this connection, the committee calls attention to the fact that all the directors of these institutions, representing the Tilden interests, have resigned from the banks' boards and the following gentlemen have been elected to fill the vacancies:

"Henry M. Dawes, capitalist.

"Henry Veeder, general counsel Swift & Co."

CAPITALIZATION OF BANKS

The Fort Dearborn National bank has a capital of $5,000,000, a surplus of $2,000,000, and undivided profits of over a million. The losses as they now appear are estimated to be large enough to wipe out the surplus and the undivided profits and impair the capital by about $1,000,000—about $4,000,000 all told. The loans and deposits each approximate $51,000,000, and, as said, there are $12,000,000 to $15,000,000 of the loans that are "slow."

The Fort Dearborn Trust and Savings bank has a capital of $500,000, a surplus of $250,000 and undivided profits of $262,000. It is estimated the losses will wipe out the capital, the surplus and the undivided profits, although on this there is dispute. The loans are about $5,900,000 and the deposits $9,000,000 of which about $7,000,000 are savings deposits. All of these are safe—guaranteed.

The Tilden interests in the two Drovers' banks were reviewed by the clearing house association, which after an examination announced last night these banks are "absolutely solvent and entitled to full confidence." The Tilden directors resigned and new ones were appointed.

In addition it had been tentatively planned last night that a committee headed by Joseph E. Otis, president of the Central Trust company, should take over the Edward Tilden estate in the interests of the two Fort Dearborn banks and other creditors—to serve as a creditors' committee. This plan is not yet settled.

WHO OFFICERS ARE

William Alonzo Tilden, president of the two Fort Dearborn banks, was born in Delavan, Wis., in 1857, and was employed as a traveling salesman until 1897, when he became an assistant cashier for the Drovers' National bank. He became associated with the Fort Dearborn National bank in 1907, and a year later was made president.

Among the other vice presidents of the Fort Dearborn National bank are Henry R. Kent, George H. Wilson, Charles Fernald, and Robert J. McKay.

The board of directors includes C. A. Bickett, Walter S. Bogle, F. A. Poor, Calvin H. Hill, R. T. Forbes, William F. Burrows, and J. Fletcher Farrell. The principal directors of the state bank, beside Mr. Tilden, are Stanley G. Miller, Marcus Jacobowsky, Henry R. Kent, Nathan B. Higbee, and John E. Shea.

BANKERS' ACTION RECALLS THAT IN J. R. WALSH CASE

The absorption of the two Fort Dearborn banks yesterday follows in principle, but by different method, the clearing house action on the Chicago National bank in 1905.

At that time deposits of $26,000,000 were protected and depositors were paid penny for penny, the liquidation being done by the clearing house association itself. The clearing house took over all the Walsh securities and underwrote payment to all creditors.

In the case of the Fort Dearborn establishments, the properties are taken over by the two Continental and Commercial banks. Checks upon deposits are to be paid by the bank doing the absorbing.

The Walsh troubles in 1905 affected the Chicago National, Home Savings, and the Equitable Trust company. The Walsh holdings in railroads, quarries, coal mines, and other industries had been overextended, and the bank examiners discovered that $16,000,000 of the banks' cash had been lent upon unmarketable paper.

No doubt the plans for 1922 of most men and women in business call for liberal expenditure of energy.

Whether or not such plans are adhered to will depend largely upon whether energy is restored in the ratio of its expenditure.

This, in turn, depends to some extent upon the sort of food the individual partakes of.

1855-1922

Sixty-seven years ago, the House of Greenebaum was founded upon a policy that today is maintained in all its full strength. To make this institution a financial center for all who sought sound investments that would withstand the most severe tests, was the chief object of its founder.

To aid in the development of progressive communities by the financing of worth-while enterprises, and to disseminate the benefits of thrift through conservative investments—these have been the aims of Greenebaum Sons since 1855.

Two-thirds of a century's activities have become history and many unforeseen conditions have arisen, but, through it all, the House of Greenebaum has upheld the original purposes of its founder, grown with the strength of duties fulfilled and today looks toward the future with a vision of still greater service in the field of safe investments.

...ON FINANCIERS ...ED CRISIS ...FORT DEARBORN

BY O. A. MATHER.

The taking over of the Fort Dear...born banks was attended by a succes...sion of dramatic circumstances. Sev...eral examinations of the Fort Dearborn ...anks were made by the clearing house ...examiners during November. The of...ficers of the banks were advised to ...et their loans in better shape.

A week ago last Thursday the bank ...examiners reported to the clearing ...ouse committee that the Fort Dear...born showed many doubtful invest...ments. The bank's officers were asked ...o make up detailed statements con...cerning loans to Edward Tilden & Co. ...nd other heavy borrowers.

Two days later Averill Tilden, rep...resenting Edward Tilden & Co. and the ...Tilden estate, made a statement to ...James B. Forgan, chairman of the ...clearing house committee, to the effect ...that the 21,000 shares of Fort Dear...born stock held by the Tilden estate ...had been put up as collateral for loans ...by various banks throughout the coun...try. He admitted the Fort Dearborn ...banks faced a precarious situation and ...asked that the First National bank ...take them over.

Clerks Set to Work on Books.

The middle of last week Mr. For...gan set the clerical staffs of the First ...National and First Trust and Savings ...at work on the books of the Fort ...Dearborn banks, aided by the staffs of ...the latter banks. This examination ...proceeded day and night until Satur...day. As early as Thursday this ex...amination developed that the Fort ...Dearborn banks were badly involved.

Immediately representatives of the ...clearing house were sent to Washing...ton and to Springfield, Ill., to lay the ...situation before Controller of the Cur...rency Crissinger and State Auditor ...Russel. Both were assured that every ...effort was being made to remedy the ...situation and prevent a financial break ...in Chicago.

It was said that Controller Crissinger ...was called away from a White House ...session to review the situation, while ...Mr. Russel made a flying trip to Chi...cago. Both agreed to grant some slight ...delay before taking action to close the ...banks.

Clearing House Committee Meets.

At 10 o'clock yesterday morning the ...clearing house committee met, again ...viewed the situation, and decided that ...the Fort Dearborn banks must be ...taken over by the First National and ...First Trust banks or the Continental ...and Commercial banks. Mr. Forgan ...summoned his directors and a propos...al was prepared. It was not until ...early afternoon that Mr. Reynolds was ...able to get his directors together and ...consider a proposal. With little de...tailed data and only a general knowl...edge of the Fort Dearborn banks' con...ditions, Mr. Reynolds and his directors ...plunged into the situation and in two ...hours prepared a proposal.

Three o'clock witnessed such a gath...ering of Chicago bankers and capital...ists in the First National bank as has ...seldom occurred in the city's history. ...It recalled the meeting in 1905 when ...the clearing house banks joined to ...save the Walsh bank collapse and the ...other memorable meeting in 1907 panic ...when the banks decided to issue ...clearing house certificates instead of ...paying out money.

Financial Notables Present.

There were assembled Mr. Forgan ...and his brother, David Forgan, George ...M. and Arthur Reynolds, J. Ogden ...Armour, John J. Mitchell, Frederick ...Rawson, Edmund D. Hulbert, Mar...shall Field, James B. McDougal, John ...Shoor, Joseph E. Otis, Levy Mayer, ...Albert A. Hammill, B. A. Eckart, ...Harry A. Wheeler, John A. Lynch, ...Frank O. Wetmore, Ralph Van Vech...ten, Melvin A. Traylor, F. W. Croll, ...Charles T. Fenton, Herman Waldeck, John ...Shedd and others.

These men assembled in the direc...tors' room and plunged into the busi...ness of correcting the weak spot in ...Chicago's banking situation. From ...time to time little groups emerged and ...held separate conferences. It was ...largely a matter of to what extent the ...banks and great financial interests of ...Chicago would "stand by" either the ...First National or the Continental and ...Commercial, whichever should take ...over the Fort Dearborn banks.

Forces Ready for Action.

The conference lasted more than ...two hours. In the meantime both the ...First National and First Trust and also ...the Continental and Commercial banks ...had summoned forces of tellers and ...clerks to their respective banks to be ...in readiness for removing the se...curities, cash, and records of the Fort ...Dearborn banks.

It was nearly 6 o'clock when the gen...eral conference ended and it became ...known that the proposal of the Conti...nental and Commercial banks had been ...approved by the meeting. All this time ...William A. Tilden and his officers and ...directors had been awaiting the out...come in the neighboring quarters of ...the Fort Dearborn banks. Word was ...sent to them that the Continental and ...Commercial banks' proposal had been ...approved by the general meeting.

It was a dramatic moment when Mr. ...Tilden and his associates, bearing arm...fuls of documents, filed through the ...corridor connecting the two bank build...ings and up the stairway into the First ...National banking room. They took ...seats at a long table and immediately ...went into conference with Mr. Reyn...olds and his officers.

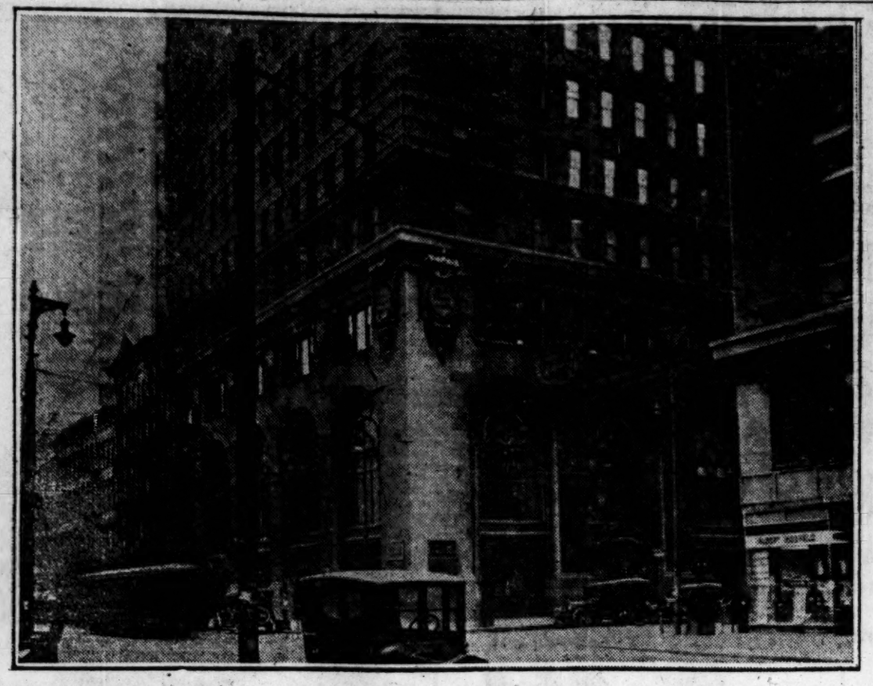

Proposal Is Accepted.

Following a short discussion it was ...announced that the Fort Dearborn ...banks had accepted the proposal of ...the Continental and Commercial banks ...and that only a meeting of the clearing ...house committee to approve the guar...anty feature was necessary to com...plete the transfer.

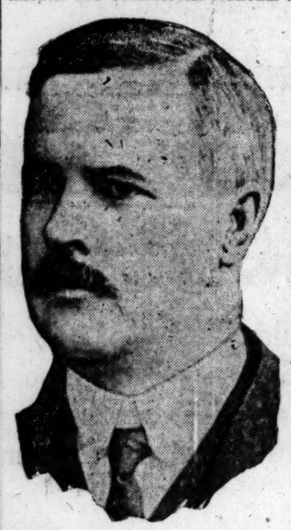

Many of the bankers had been with

The Fort Dearborn National Bank building. The assets of the bank have been taken over by the Continental and Commercial National bank, through George M. Reynolds, chairman of its board of directors.

George M. Reynolds, chairman of the board of directors of the Continental and Commercial National bank, and principal figure in the big deal.

little sleep and hasty meals for several days, so immediately the conference broke up there was a rush for nearby restaurants. A few minutes later Mr. Forgan, Mr. Mitchell, Mr. Hulbert, and Mr. Wetmore were discovered devouring sandwiches and coffee in a small restaurant of the "one arm chair and serve yourself" type across the street from the First National bank building. Upon completing this hasty meal they hurried to the clearing house quarters in the Northern Trust bank building.

Clearing House Agrees.

The business of the clearing house committee approving the proposal for a limited guarantee against loss to the Continental and Commercial banks was quickly accomplished. Mr. Reynolds went back to his bank officers to superintend the transfer of the assets of the Fort Dearborn banks to the Continental and Commercial banks, while the other members of the committee departed for home and bed after Mr. Forgan had drawn up a statement.

Within an hour after the final meeting of the clearing house committee the work of removing the Fort Dearborn banks' assets and records began. Motor trucks and a fleet of taxicabs were guarded by both mounted and foot policemen. Until long after midnight the staffs of both banks were busy making the transfer.

This morning the entire banking business of the Fort Dearborn banks will be conducted by the Continental and Commercial banks and the Fort Dearborn banking quarters will be closed. Within a short time the First National and First Trust and Savings banks will occupy the Fort Dearborn banking quarters, the building having been purchased by the First National two years ago and leased to the Fort Dearborn banks.

Justice Blindfolded, Not Masked, Judge Tells Jury

Muskogee, Okla., Jan. 2.—"Especially should the grand jury take a serious second thought in times like these when men band themselves together in secret orders for the enforcement of the law," declared Judge Robert L. Williams in the United States District court today in his charge to the grand jury which is to investigate about 200 cases. "The idea of whipping a Negro porter of a hotel and not the proprietor who permits such things to go on is a travesty," added the judge.

HAYS, OFFERED BIG MOVIE CONTRACT, DECIDES ON JAN. 14

New York, Jan. 2.—Postmaster General Hays started back to Washington today to resume his duties after three weeks of rest. He said he still was considering an invitation to become head of a group of motion picture producing and distributing corporations and probably would give them his answer at a conference in Washington on Jan. 14. He is reported to have been offered a three year contract at $150,000 a year.

BUNDLE THROWN INTO RIVER IS CAUSE OF INQUIRY

A strange bundle wrapped in gunnysacking and thrown into the Des Plaines river at Washington boulevard, Maywood, by four men early last night, brought forth a hurried police investigation of the incident.

The story of the gunnysack was told at the Warren avenue police station by Max Thormey, 2108 North avenue, and Arthur Mandel, 2235 Division street. They had been driving east in their automobile on the boulevard about 6 o'clock, they said. As they approached the bridge they noticed a big red touring car standing there. Four men were dragging some heavy object wrapped in gunnysacking to the bridge railing.

The men on their approach stopped and motioned them to turn around. Thinking they were police, Thormey and Mandel obeyed. They reached Chicago by another route and reported to the police. The dragnet squad hadn't found anything late last night.

'Twas 7 Above in Gotham; 15 to 27 Below Upstate

New York, Jan. 2.—[Special.]—A cold wave that swept into town today on the wings of a wind attaining a velocity of 48 miles an hour sent the mercury tumbling toward the zero point.

The low mark was 7 degrees, reached at 9 a. m. and again at 11 tonight. The average for the day was 12 degrees, which is 37 degrees colder than it was last New Year's. Temperatures from 15 to 27 below zero were reported from central and northern parts of the state.

Drama Comes in Dead Hour of Night to La Salle Street

Canyons of finance that usually on a holiday are as dark, dead, and dismal as a graveyard were ablaze last night in one of the most dramatic moments of Chicago finance. And it was a fortunate moment, too, for the peril of a possible bank failure had been absolutely averted.

La Salle street, usually in the night hours so silent that a single light footstep echoes and reverberates among the skyscrapers, was filled with activity.

For the directors of the city's vast fortunes were moving one bank literally into another, and a greater and stronger one—moving it lock, stock, and barrel—and the forces of both banks, down to the last and least important clerk and messenger boy, were doing the actual physical work of moving.

At the Continental and Commercial National bank it might have been to the casual observer a busy Monday morning. Here clerks and bookkeepers pored over the dockets and ledgers; tellers worked silently and deftly in their cages; floor policemen directed callers hither and thither; officials sat signing important looking documents at their desks or held conferences in the private offices along the side.

And during the orderly quiet there was steadily being moved into the expansive floor spaces the physical entities of the bank that this great institution was swallowing up. Here a desk was added to those of the officials on the carpeted floors; there a new filing case was placed against the walls.

At the Fort Dearborn bank it might have been the 1st of May—moving day. Out of one door came a steady stream of desks and chairs and books and dockets, filing cases and coin cabinets. Into the other door went as steady a column of clerks and officers working side by side with a cheerful loyalty—doing the duty of the moving man.

Great trucks moved to the doors of the building one after the other, to be gorged to their tops with the paraphernalia of banking. A caravan of them moved down Monroe street and up La Salle to the doors of the other bank building, where it was taken off and moved into the other institution.

"Business as usual tomorrow morning," was the leitmotif behind all this hustle and bustle of activity. "Each man in his usual place by the banking hour," was the watchword that moved every man to his level best of strenuous effort.

Outside the doors of each bank crowds of the curious gathered, wondering what it was all about. These crowds appeared to catch something of the drama of business that was being enacted before their eyes—they seemed to sense the unusual that was going on in these places always so silent in the night. They stood as though fascinated as the hours wore on.

"Gangway!" the workers yelled from time to time; and "Give 'em room there! Go to it, lads, go to it!" the crowd responded.

At one time, when the stalwart young bankers were lifting a particularly heavy case into a truck, the spectators shouted, "Yo heave!" as though they were under a strain and wanted to jump in and help.

And when the photographers set off big charges of flash powder with the roars of small bombs, they wanted to know:

"What are you shooting off there—T. N. T.?"

When at last the dawn streamed in through the big grated windows there remained in what had been the Fort Dearborn National bank just one fixture. This was a large metal sign on which stood this announcement:

Legal Holiday.
This Bank Will Be Closed New Year's Day, Monday, Jan. 2.

That was the truth. It was closed, not only for Monday, Jan. 2, but forever.

Covington, Ky., Jan. 2.—[Special.]—Maj. J. A. Bering, civil war hero and historian, died today at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Anna M. McLean. Maj. Bering, who was 83 years old, was ill only a few days. He was the father of Frank W. and Augustus Bering of the Sherman hotel in Chicago. He enlisted with the 48th Ohio infantry at the start of the civil war. He was promoted from private to major. He was captured at Sabine Crossroads, Tex., and escaped from the prison at Camp Ford, Texas, Oct. 12, 1864, but was recaptured.

BANKER ABBOTT, RETURNING, SAYS "CHINA CAN PAY"

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 2.—[Special.]—John Jay Abbott, vice president of the Continental and Commercial National bank, Chicago, returned from China today. He had visited the eastern republic to discuss China's default on a $6,000,000 loan made by the Chicago institution.

"This is the first time China has failed to meet an obligation," Mr. Abbott said. "But China can pay this loan. She can become the richest country in the world. What other country has 400,000,000 sober, industrious people? China today, in natural resources, is like America when Columbus landed."

What Liberati Says

About the Lyon & Healy Own Make Cornet!

"I concluded that this was the best instrument I had ever played on."

OUR OWN MAKE CORNET

It is an ideal instrument for Orchestra or Band work. Its scale is even and smooth throughout. No one tone predominates over others. Each one is clear as from a bell and is produced with the utmost facility.

PERFECT SLURRING

Without any preparation or effort Liberati was able to slur from pedal C to high C as easy as he could from B to C in the middle register.

48 MEASURES IN ONE BREATH

The beautiful quality of tone possessed by this instrument is remarkable. The intonation too is unusual. You may play from 32 to 48 measures of very difficult exercises in one breath with perfect ease. Liberati comments in the highest terms on this feature.

UNLIMITED GUARANTEE

The Lyon & Healy Cornet is covered by our unlimited guarantee as to workmanship and material. Beautiful sand blast finish—pearl valve keys. High or low pitch with quick change to A.

FORT DEARBORN STOCK LARGELY HELD BY TILDENS

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Chicago's largest holder of bank stock—Edward Tilden & Co.—is interested in the absorption of the Fort Dearborn National bank. When Mr. Tilden died in 1915 he owned 7,779 shares of this bank stock and various amounts in more than ninety other corporations. What holdings the Tilden company has in other companies is not known, but it increased its shares in the Fort Dearborn National to 11,675 shares in 1919, then to 20,875 in 1920, and last year, when the personal property tax assessments were made, it had 21,079 shares in this bank.

At $190 a share, the price quoted last week, these holdings of the Tilden company represent a value of $4,215,800. But this is only two-thirds of the bank holdings of the Edward Tilden & Co.

Owns Stock in Six Banks.

At the time of the last personal property assessment the company owned stock in six local banks of a then market value of $6,214,000. This was distributed as follows, in addition to the shares in the Fort Dearborn National: In the Drovers' National bank, 4,449 shares; Drovers' Trust and Savings bank, 870 shares; Englewood State bank, 380 shares; Fort Dearborn Trust and Savings bank, 1,455 shares, and Northern Trust company, 1 share.

President Holds 926 Shares.

The president of the bank, William A. Tilden, brother of Edward, owned 926 shares and Averill Tilden has 502 shares—a total of 1,428 shares. At $190 per share that amount represents $271,320. Under the will of Edward Tilden a trust fund was formed, said to have been about $3,000,000 in 1915, of which Averill Tilden was made trustee. That trust was to continue until the youngest child, Louis Edward Tilden, becomes 25 years of age. That child was 14 years old in 1915, so the trusteeship continues for four more years.

A total of 3,749 shares of the Fort Dearborn National was held in the Swift family. At the selling price of the stock last week, this meant $712,310. Of the Swifts, Edward F. was the largest stockholder in the Fort Dearborn National with 825 shares. He has his eggs in a number of baskets, owning stock in twenty Cook county banks.

Illinois Life an Investor.

The Illinois Life Insurance company was an investor in the Fort Dearborn National to the extent of 3,274 shares. Last June when the assessors made public the listings of bank stock this insurance company owned 5,545 shares of the Central Trust company and 2,326 shares in the Continental and Commercial National bank, in addition to its holdings in the Fort Dearborn National, thereby making it the eighth largest owner of bank stock in Chicago. Its stock in the Fort Dearborn was quoted at $642,160 last week.

L. A. Carton, owner of stock in ten different banks, at a market value at assessment time of $532,150, was another of the prominent shareholders in the Fort Dearborn National. He held 1,600 shares.

Some Other Large Holders.

	Shares.
R. C. Glenny, trustee of John A. Klug estate	1,330
John Fletcher, trustee	1,292
W. P. Rend company	1,260
C. U. Snyder	1,000

Ernest J. Stevens	600
Raymond W. Stevens	600
Mrs. F. H. Hayes, Los Angeles	600
Calvin H. Hill	500
Georgiana T. Peters	470

The Fort Dearborn National bank was organized in 1887, with capital stock of $2,000,000. In 1917 the capital was increased to $3,000,000 and in 1919 to $5,000,000.

Between 1902 and 1906 the dividends were at the rate of 6 per cent. From 1907 to 1919 the rate was 8 per cent, and last year 8 per cent regular and 2 per cent extra were paid.

FRANCE, JAPAN OPPOSE PLAN TO REVIVE RUSSIA

Fight Recognition of the Soviets.

[Copyright: 1922: By The Chicago Tribune.]

PARIS, Jan. 2.—France and Japan have lined up solidly against the British plan for a gigantic consortium to rehabilitate Russia. Japanese financial experts who attended Quai d'Orsay meetings reported very unfavorably to Tokio against many features of the consortium and President Millerand, Premier Briand, and nearly all the members of the French cabinet are skeptical regarding the plan.

Both French and Japanese circles hold that recognition of the soviets is necessary if the allies demand guarantees, but they are not willing to grant recognition. In spite of the combined opposition to the plan, it will be fully explained at the allied supreme council meeting at Cannes by Dr. Walther Rathenau, former German minister of reconstruction.

Dr. Rathenau, who received an official invitation to attend the Cannes meeting, will also explain the new German reparations offer, to be substituted for the London schedule. Under the new plan Germany offers materials valued at 1,500,000,000 gold marks ($375,000,000) annually until a new accord is reached. The present German tax on exports will be offered if necessary.

Portugal's Claim Is Large.

BERLIN, Jan. 2.—A semi-official note on Germany's reparations obligations contains the remarkable statement that Portugal wants 750,000,000 gold marks ($187,500,000) for the time it remained neutral. According to the note Portugal demands this sum on account of the damages sustained through German activities up to the day that Portugal joined the entente.

Puts France's Safety First.

LONDON, Jan. 2.—[By the Associated Press.]—On the eve of his departure for Cannes to take part in the meeting of the supreme council, Premier Briand gave a statement to the Daily Mail's correspondent in Paris, the gist of which follows:

"The key to the whole European situation is France's safety. Let there first of all be a pact or alliance between Great Britain and France—a pact which we offered and asked for, but have not obtained. Such a pact would be the platform on which the reconstruction of Europe could best be established."

Fleet of 100 British Planes to Rule Desert

Dictator for Portugal Near as Cabinet Falls

LISBON, Jan. 2.—[By the Associated Press.]—The cabinet, headed by Cunha Leal as premier and minister of finance, has resigned. Establishment of a military or other dictatorship is being discussed.

NOTHING DOING!

Miss Mary Landon Baker and Allister McCormick, whose failure to march to the altar yesterday caused astonishment in a vast gathering of society people in the Fourth Presbyterian church, where all was in readiness for one of the biggest affairs of the season. This photograph was taken last summer when the young persons were bridesmaid and best man at another wedding. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

The Fourth Presbyterian church, on Lake Shore drive, where a great gathering of society waited in vain for the bride and finally went home in a buzz of whispers.

WEDDING CALLED OFF AS GUESTS WAIT AT CHURCH

In the apartment caterers and florists had made elaborate preparations for the reception to follow the wedding ceremony. But none saw what they had done, for at the doors were guards barring entrance to all comers.

A formal statement issued by Mr. and Mrs. Baker was the only information given out.

"Miss Baker is in a state of nervous collapse," the parents said. "She was ill all day yesterday and today. She hoped to be ble to go through with the ceremony and had her wedding dress on, but at the last moment realized it was impossible. This is merely a postponement."

Unable to Leave Room.

"Mary is a frail girl," L. Hamilton McCormick said after leaving the church. "My wife spent the morning with her, massaging her and helping her every way she could, but it seems that at the last moment she found she was too ill to leave her room."

Inquiries as to the condition of Miss Baker elicited the information that she was being attended by Dr. Samuel J. Walker of 229 Lake Shore drive, whose daughter, Miss Helen Walker, was to have been the only bride's maid. Dr. Walker was first called to attend her last Sunday, it was said.

There was one other inquiry made by a number of the guests, and it has an important bearing on the question of another date for the wedding. It was:

"What is to be done with the wedding presents?"

Hope for Ultimate Ceremony.

No definite answer to the question was given last night, but it was strongly intimated that the gifts—of which there is a room full, all of gold, silver, jewels and other articles of considerable value—will not be immediately returned but will be carefully guarded in the hope that the guests who were disappointed yesterday may assemble again and see the wedding ceremony performed.

The breakdown of the bride to be is attributed to her nervous temperament. Five years ago she recovered from a serious and protracted illness and since then has taken a prominent part in the affairs of society here.

Denial of Broken Troth.

Her friends have always relied upon her for "something different." And she has never disappointed them. Some time ago she published a book of clever epigrams. Last winter she revealed another unsuspected talent, stepping from a treasure chest born by thirty young men at the Pirates' ball and executing a series of difficult and delightful dances.

The announcement of her engagement to Allister McCormick, who served as an aviator in the war, was no surprize to her friends, who knew of the close friendship of the families. The wedding date was first set for last May, but a postponement was insisted on by Miss Baker, and as a result both families were forced to deny rumors that the engagement had been broken off.

Designed Own Gown.

Finally invitations were sent out for Jan. 2. Miss Baker herself designed her wedding gown of white velvet, after the Italian renaissance period, with the headdress then in fashion. Plans included departure on a honeymoon trip to Europe immediately after the ceremony and reception in the Baker apartment.

A rumor was current last night that Miss Baker's illness was brought on by a serious quarrel last Saturday with her intended husband, but that such a quarrel had taken place was quickly denied by members of both families.

Young McCormick was at Trinity college, Cambridge, England, when the war broke out. He made plans to enlist in the royal flying corps, but was persuaded by his family to return home. He enlisted in the air service as soon as the United States declared war. While flying one of the largest types of planes abroad McCormick invented a "silencer," a device consisting of a framework fitting over the head and containing two leather pads, which clamped over the ears and protected the aviator from possible deafness due to the terrific noise of the motors.

McCormick is one of Chicago's best amateur tennis players and is prominent in Onwentsia club matches. He has appeared at many society theatricals, where he is noted for his clever dancing.

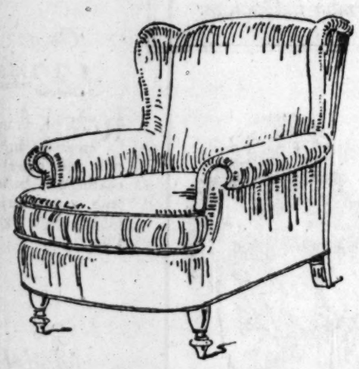

ILLINOIS YOUTH SAYS HE SLEW 2 IN SELF-DEFENSE

St. Lous, Mo., Jan. 2.—An attempt to determine the facts in connection with the shooting to death of Frank McGrath, aged 22, and George Harris, 31, will be made tomorrow at a coroner's inquest.

Ralph Johnson, taxicab driver, son of Dr. C. F. Johnson of Granite City, Ill., is held by police following his admission, police announce, that he fired shots which killed the two men. Theodore Molliman, 19, Granite City, is in a serious condition as the result of a wound.

The three men engaged Johnson to take them from Granite City to St. Louis. Johnson said when he arrived here and attempted to collect the fare the three attempted to hold him up and take his automobile. He then fired in self-defense, police say.

Illinois Central System Ready for the Tasks of 1922

The beginning of a new year is a time when we pause to review what has transpired in the year just ended, seeking to gain from our reflection something which will be of value in deciding our future course.

The eventful year through which we have just passed has been particularly marked by restrictive economic demands upon the railroads. We entered the year full of hope that the business depression which had set in would soon spend its force and that business would again go along normally, but that hope failed to materialize. As a result of the falling off in business, the railroads as a whole during the first nine months of the year earned a net return equivalent to approximately 2.9 per cent upon their valuation—a return barely sufficient to pay interest on outstanding bonds, with no allowance for compensation to the owners. The improvement in net earnings during the latter part of the year has been slow, and in many instances it has been brought about only at the sacrifice of badly-needed maintenance expenditures. A demand for reduced railway rates, in the face of the failure of the railroads, as a whole, to earn a net return sufficient to their needs, also was restrictive in the uncertainty it created.

In spite of these influences, however, the railroads have given adequate service at all times. We should not be discouraged by the present situation, unfavorable as some of its aspects may be.

We should like to give you in this review a statement of how the Illinois Central System has accounted for itself during 1921, but at this time we have complete information covering only the ten months to November 1.

During the first ten months of the year, the Illinois Central System performed a freight service equivalent to carrying 10,286,296,822 tons of freight one mile, as compared with 13,200,197,416 net ton miles in the first ten months of 1920. During the first ten months of 1921, we performed a passenger service equivalent to carrying 642,365,624 passengers one mile, as compared with 859,526,161 passenger miles in the first ten months of 1920. This decrease in business is reflected in the gross earnings. For the first ten months of 1921 we had a gross income of $135,926,186, which was $6,615,074 less than the gross income of the corresponding period of 1920.

Through drastic reductions in our expenditures, we ended the first ten months of 1921 with a net income of $7,772,154. Approximately $6,375,600 was required to pay dividends on stock for the ten months' period, leaving a balance of $1,396,554 for improvements in our properties. However, during the ten months of this year covered in this report we spent a total of $16,284,809 for new equipment, over and above amounts spent in the repair and maintenance of equipment, and a total of $6,614,782 for permanent improvements to roadway, over and above expenditures for maintenance. This total new investment of $22,899,591 exceeded the amount we had left over after paying expenses and a return on investment by $21,503,047, which had to be borrowed.

We entered the year with 57,081 employes, but the drastic reductions in force made necessary by the great decline in business cut the number to 48,649 in February. Since that time there has been a steady gain in the number of employes. When it became known that a reduced scale of wages would become effective July 1 through the ruling of the Railroad Labor Board, we immediately laid plans for large increases in our forces, with the result that by October we had a total of 60,388 employes in all departments.

In spite of the depression, the Illinois Central has made a creditable showing. One reason for this has been that our employes have striven at all times to perform their service to the public in that efficient and courteous manner which marks our organization. To them belongs much of the credit for what we have accomplished.

We take the position that we are but the trustees of a great investment which has been made in this agency of transportation, and that we are responsible to the public for our stewardship. We call the public's attention to the events of the year, and give our pledge that we shall strive to our utmost to make of 1922 a year of still greater successes. To that end we seek your confidence and good will.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

C. H. MARKHAM,
President, Illinois Central System.

ALDERMEN MOVE TO SPUR STATE ON I. C. PERMIT

Charles J. Michal, attorney for the council railway terminal committee, was directed by its chairman, Ald. A. J. Cermak, yesterday to call upon C. R. Miller in Springfield this morning to ascertain why permits have not been granted to fill in the Illinois Central slips at the mouth of the Chicago river. Mr. Miller is state director of public works and his permit is a prerequisite to the approval of the secretary of war, and his O. K. is necessary before the work can proceed.

"I propose to find out as soon as possible whether the lack of these permits is interfering with the progress on the electrification of the Illinois Central terminal," said Cermak. "My information is that the railroad is holding back because of the failure to get the permits.

"Attorney Michal will attempt to find out what the reasons of the state are for the delay. He has just taken the train for Springfield armed with the ordinance, Walter L. Fisher's interpretation of it, his brief on the slips, and other documents. After the permit is obtained from the state we will have to go to Washington for the government permit. The ordinance was passed July 21, 1919, and it is now 1922.

"We want action. At the next session of the committee we will call in Chairman Lipps and Engineer Noonan to find out what they know about the failure to get this permit. That session will be held this week, the day depending upon the council and finance committee programs. If we don't get some satisfactory information I will favor calling in President Markham of the railroad. He advertises frequently that he wants constructive criticism and should be willing to give some if that is necessary to get real action."

"I don't want to step on anybody's toes, but I want the construction to go ahead so that some of my constituents can get work," said Ald. Horan. "The south side aldermen are interested in the benefits to be derived from the improvements, but I want work for my constituents. The war is over; let's go."

"I am intensely interested in the electrification of and the separation of grades on the South Chicago branch," added Ald. Woodhull. "Thousands of my constituents are exceedingly anxious for results. If the I. C. will agree to depress their tracks we will have, in effect, the first subway in Chicago for rapid transportation."

Promise a Colorful Setting
For the Play Hours of Warmer Winter Lands

FOR outdoor days in the warm sunshine of the south, here are modes in perfect accord with the hour and the pastime. Chosen with discrimination which eliminates all but fashion's best, these assortments are a certain guide to the successful outfitting of winter journeyings.

Blouses and Separate Skirts

Skirts slim and straight with stunning contrasting colors—stripes, perhaps woven of black chenille on Roshanara crepe, as in the skirt featured, $25. Skirts of flannel, too, are promised much vogue. White or in gay sports colors.

Blouses are usually tailored, of tub fabrics or tub silk. Clever very, as to detail. The silk blouse featured is $11.50. Other tailored blouses are of crisp tub fabrics—their smart simplicity accented with perky frills and often edgings of contrasting colors.

Hats Vivid in Color

Tangerine, flame, Callot-rouge, jade. Embroideries done with a needle threaded with strands of Georgette crepe, loops of velvet ribbon on wide-brimmed hats of Tagal straw, clusters of grapes made of sheerest organdy, tinted in water colors.

Sports hats of nonchalant lines. Soft crushable affairs—whether of straw or of silk, they are vastly becoming with their gayety of color and brims to be tilted to suit one's fancy. Travel hats, trim and smart, in black, navy blue and brown. According to style, priced $15 to $35.

Fifth Floor, South.

Tweed Suits Are Favored

For town or for travel. Also for many outdoor pastimes. And the tweed suits here are marked by the superior workmanship and skillful cut which makes the success of tailored modes. The tweed suit sketched at the right above, $40. Suits, too, of wool jersey, $20.

Fourth Floor.

Crisp New Tub Frocks

Truly summer frocks, with their lovely colors add gayety to sunny mornings out-of-doors. Linen, ratine, gingham and, from France, hand-made frocks of voile.

JEWISH CHURCH EXPELS TROTZKY ON FATHER'S PLEA

Rabbi Places "Curse of Damned" on Him.

LONDON, Jan. 2.—[United Press.]—Leon Trotzky, Russian war minister, has been expelled from the Jewish church on complaint of his father, according to the Berlin correspondent of the Daily Express today.

The charge brought by the father, Moses Bronstein, reads:

"Leon has forsworn his forefathers' creed, has proved to be an enemy to Judaism, and has become a curse to humanity."

"The Curse of Damnation."

Bronstein, when asked for proofs by the chief rabbi of the little Ekaterinoslav church where the services were held, declared that every member of the community, every Russian throughout the world, stood as witness to the fact, which, he declared, was accepted.

He continued that he wanted his son expelled from the community of Jews.

"I want him damned, cursed with the curse of damnation which since the beginning of the world has been spoken only against the enemies of God—the curse from which there is no redemption on earth, in heaven or hell."

Trotzky's Mother Faints.

The chief rabbi read seven prayers, seven curses, and then blew out seven candles, damning the accused for all eternity.

Trotzky's aged mother, a witness to her son's damnation, shrieked, fainted, and fell to the floor.

RIGHEIMER COMES OUT AS CANDIDATE FOR COUNTY JUDGE

JUDGE RIGHEIMER.

County Judge Frank S. Righeimer yesterday announced his candidacy for renomination in the Republican primary next April.

He did so with a formal statement addressed "To the citizens of Cook county," in which he reviewed the work of his court during the time he has sat there and the public importance of the position he holds.

In discussing the formal announcement Judge Righeimer made it plain that his candidacy is not a factional one. There had been rumors for several weeks that he might identify himself with the anti-city hall Republicans, but no such step has been taken.

After pointing out the work of his court in condemnation, special assessment, insanity, and adoption cases, Judge Righeimer takes up the importance of the election machinery, of which he is the head, and concludes:

"If I am favored through reelection I shall continue the County court as a people's tribunal, never permitting factional or partisan politics or powerful financial interests to swerve me from giving to every person justice and a square deal."

Chicago Girls to Invade "Eveless Eden" of South

Greenville, S. C., Jan. 2.—[Special.]—Donalds, which has gained nation-wide reputation as a town without a single marriageable woman, due to an epidemic of weddings last summer, is to be invaded by Chicago girls who announce that they expect to visit the "Eveless Eden" in search of swains.

The postmaster here received a letter from a Chicagoan who styled herself as "young, pretty and a good cook, with money," saying that she and others were planning a motor trip south and that they wanted the postmaster to investigate the situation at Donalds and give confidential report on the boys who, in the absence of girls to court, have almost crowded the stove out of the village drug store

THE TRIBUNE'S PLATFORM FOR CHICAGO

1—Build the Subway Now.

1922 WILL EXPOSE GRAFTERS.

Nineteen hundred twenty-one in Chicago witnessed the greatest exposure of political corruption since the days of the Tweed ring. Nineteen hundred twenty-two may prove that it was greater than Tweed's.

Until the exposure began, every one knew Chicago had:

A city administration asking an $8,000,000 bond issue in violation of all sound economics to balance its budget.

A city administration employing an army of experts in every enterprise undertaken with public money and constantly seeking increases in tax rates and offering bond issues.

These were superficial facts, given in the news. Nineteen hundred twenty-one gave the reasons.

There never before in the history of the city had been such a looting of funds, hawking of privileges, evasion of laws, betrayal of trusts, or connivance at crime as the disclosed record revealed. The city was prostrate under it. There was a complete lapse of government.

The crimes included offenses by Negro police officers against white women, the shaking down of business houses, blackmail of public utilities, division of loot with newspapers, robbery of local improvement funds, attempted corruption of the judiciary, attempted bribery of the legislature, attempted suppression of the free press by confiscation, the toleration of a wide,open saloon town in spite of law, the encouragement of black and tan vice in the most immoral mixture of races the two ever had seen, the falsification of income tax returns, the shaking down of civil service employés until they yelled under pressure, etc., etc.

The city council had entirely surrendered to the city administration. It may have been sincere in its first belief that if complete authority were given Thompson and if funds were supplied, he could get results. Authority and funds were given, but the results were not what an honest alderman would have intended to achieve.

The council submitted and the people adopted a $326,600,000 street improvement plan and funds were provided. The administration ate into that fund by employing real estate and building experts until the experts, Mesce, Lynch, et al., had presented bills for $4,891,000 of the $26,600,000, and before it could be stopped had been paid $2,742,000.

This robbing the people blind was designed to take one-fifth of the amount devoted to street improvement and turn it into the pockets of experts—in whose pockets it was not to remain. It was to go into their pockets and then be taken out and split in the pool. Mesce and Lynch have been asked to explain their income tax schedules—and they have not explained them. One-tenth of the money provided for street improvement was thus diverted. Diverted is a mild word.

The council in its abdication gave Thompson $717,000 for investigation and action to correct street car abuses. The experts went into that as rats into a sack of grain. One Negro lawyer took $30,000 of it. A foolish pamphlet cost the city $180,000. Foolish litigation paid the lawyers and robbed the city. What came of it all? Nothing. The car user observes that all he is getting is an extra transfer slip which he may preserve if he wants it as a token of what Thompson has obtained for him.

It was disclosed that while the administration was taking city funds to pay white and black lawyers and engineers for foolish litigation and foolish reports, it was also shaking down the utilities.

The brokers of municipal privilege are as well known in political circles as the purveyors of illegal booze. They are indicted for falsification of their income tax returns and have taken refuge in legal technicalities, as have the experts who dare not account for the public money they have divided with the gang. Pressure has been brought to bear upon high officials in Washington to persuade the federal government to forget it. It has not been forgotten yet. There is still an accounting due on these unaccounted for sums. Who got them? Nineteen hundred twenty-two will expose grafters.

These are flashlights upon the scene, but the steady stream of light has not been poured in. It will be. Thompson, with the aid of his creation, Small, indicted for embezzlement of state funds and for conspiracy, has been able to keep the door closed most of the time.

When he asked the legislature for an increased tax rate to give him more money for his black and white experts, a resolution was introduced stipulating that before the city was given more money it should submit to an audit of its accounts. Small and Thompson barely managed to beat the resolution and prevent the investigation, but they did.

How they did it was revealed later when they were trying to bulldoze the $30,000,000 traction scheme and the tax bill through the assembly. Representative MacNeil of Olney and Representative Snell of Carlinville openly charged that they had been offered jobs in exchange for their votes, bribery as plain as if they had been offered money in an envelope. There has been no audit of the city accounts. Thompson has kept the council from it.

Two attempts of this unscrupulous machine against the freedom of the city and state have been defeated. The attempt to steal the judiciary by putting puppets of the city hall on the bench was appreciated for its real seriousness by the people, and the city hall has not yet dug itself out of the avalanche of votes.

The attempt to suppress honest newspapers, who could not be bribed or intimidated, by bringing libel suits in the name of the city for sums which meant confiscation of property was defeated when Judge Fisher threw the fake $10,000,000 libel suit, in which Thompson used the name and the money of the city, out of court as the most dangerous attack upon the freedom of the press which the country had known since colonial days, when a British despot tried it.

Then the state has had the spectacle of Small, its governor by grace of Thompson, running hither and yon to escape the sheriff of Sangamon county with a warrant for his arrest upon an indictment charging embezzlement of funds. It now has the spectacle of this governor rejoicing because legalistic technicalities have relieved him of some counts in the indictment and because the prosecution has chosen to prosecute the case of conspiracy, in which the state regards its evidence best, rather than the charge of embezzlement.

From the cases of Dorsey Chambliss and Sunbart, the Negro police offenders against white women, to the cases of Mesce and Lynch, who do not want to explain what they did with nearly $3,000,000 of the city money, the record of the city administration has been revealed by flashes.

There is this further promise for the new year: Nineteen hundred twenty-two will expose grafters.

THE TAKING OVER OF THE FT. DEARBORN BANK.

The Fort Dearborn bank incident is not a pleasant event with which to start the new year. But if its character is understood, it will not have the effect of a serious check upon the returning tide of confidence. This bank's difficulties are not the result of any general weakness in the banking situation. They are the result of the improper conduct of one bank and it is especially encouraging to realize that this conduct is exceptional in a banking community like ours, which is solid as a rock because of its conservative and highly responsible methods and the character of its financial leaders. The fate of the Fort Dearborn bank is the exception which, if it is not needed to prove the rule of Chicago's sound banking and financial solidity, at any rate illustrates it by contrast.

Thus not only are depositors given prompt and complete protection, but the general business community can proceed upon its gradual way back to prosperous normalcy. The affair should not be allowed to cloud the steadily brightening skies. We are not going to have boom times tomorrow or the next day. There is a long process of recovery ahead. But the process is under way. The vast powers of recuperation inherent in our American situation are steadily at work. What we need chiefly is a little patience and the cheerful confidence which the basic strength of our country justifies. We are already over the worst of our troubles and the climb up has begun.

THE AMERICAN MEDITERRANEAN.

The international joint commission, with which lies the final opportunity for an effective favorable report to congress on the St. Lawrence seaway, is now considering the subject. The Canadian members will favor it. If the Americans also accept the approving report of the government engineers, of the eighteen states which have indorsed and demanded it, of Secretary Hoover, and others high in the administration, we shall have an effective recommendation to congress to authorize the improvement. If the American commissioners prefer to accept the narrow view of New York and other coast interests we shall be delayed, but we still shall get the seaway.

President Harding recently spoke in favor of an American merchant marine. His greatest chance of realizing that hope lies in the eighteen middle western states which would support it if the seaway were provided to bring these vessels to their doors. Give the ships access to our cities through the seaway, let us see and use them, and we will support them. The lakes can be made an American Mediterranean.

New York is almost as foolish to oppose their opening as Liverpool would be to oppose free passage of the Strait of Gibraltar. Detroit can become the Constantinople of this great commercial highway, and Chicago or Duluth its Odessa. The agricultural areas served by Odessa and Duluth are essentially similar.

Before the war Liverpool found it very profitable to ship through the Strait of Gibraltar to and from the rich wheat port of Odessa. The distance from Liverpool to Gibraltar is not many miles less than from New York to Montreal, while the distance from Montreal to Duluth is approximately half the distance from Gibraltar to Odessa. If Liverpool could ship profitably over the longer route to Odessa, why could not New York ship profitably over the shorter route to Duluth? Again the distances from London to Helsingfors, Finland, and other Baltic ports are similar to the Montreal-Duluth route, with the added similarity of fifty-one miles of canal. Yet England found such trade profitable. Why could we not do so? So much for domestic commerce.

The advantage in foreign trade is incalculable. We would have direct waterway communication without breaking cargo for all our products to the ports of the world. The advantage to American farmers alone would run into millions of dollars annually. The advantage to all other lines of business would be proportionate.

Incidentally the water power development would be sufficient to pay the cost of the entire job. Eastern interests opposing the project lately have raised the cry of sinister "undisclosed interests" behind the project "to establish a power trust." That is absurd. The power is incidental. It will be sold to pay for the improvement, but navigation is the thing in which the middle west is interested and the one we will have.

If the American members of the international joint commission recommend it to congress they will be showing sound economic and political judgment, and justice to the middle west. Otherwise they will be giving up the trouble merely of carrying on the fight until the middle west wins this justice.

A FAIR, MIDDLE GROUND.
[Union Labor Advocate.]

We are convinced there is a fair, middle ground between labor and capital.

This is the day when organizations of labor are necessary because of the complex character of our business life, and because what men banded together cannot accomplish for themselves is very likely to be accomplished individually.

But the war and its consequent inflation of prices of commodities and prices of labor has brought about glaring and flagrant instances of abuse that call for corrections that must be accomplished and adjustments that must be made.

It calls for a kind of readjustment that must be borne by the laborer as well as his employer. It will be hard for the highly paid worker to come down to earth, but that is just what he will have to do if business is to recover from its present slump.

In the Famous Buzzard Lawsuit, Aborigine vs. T. T., Aborigine Puts Isaiah on the Stand as His First Witness.

Being warned that a woodpecker is knocking on my spotted cottonwood tree, I am impelled to rise and deny that a buzzard was never seen north of 36° 30'. Anyhow, the Missouri Compromise gets my particular buzzard far enough north to attend the funeral. The author of the Gettysburg speech would understand this. There are just as many old birds that live by compromise today as then. And as to buzzards being nothing in the life of Gray Norns, I quote Isaiah against T. T. In a return to primeval chaos (December) Isaiah has unicorns, satyrs, ravens, cormorants, owls, bitterns, and vultures to assemble. But the king of Edom scoffed and said, "Unicorns are nothing in a cormorant's life, for who ever saw a cormorant north of Ezion-Gebe?" which was south of 36° 30', and at the head of the Ælena sea, the cormorant being an aquatic bird. But this old bird, on December days, 720 B. C., flew north across the Paran desert, sat on a limb outside the Edomite city of Bozrah, and witnessed the funeral of the king at the hands of the Israelites while the satyr cried to his fellows and the unicorns horned into the procession. So it provokes me when T. T. says that probably I saw a crow. I did not see any old crow, nor have I seen this bird since the Volstead bill became the law. Poe said that he saw a raven. Will T. T. now substitute a crow? Bust of Pallas! I saw a buzzard—and distinctly I remember it was in the bleak December.

Dear Line o' Type: About eight years ago I heard the story about the man who, failing to get the attention of the ladies seated on each side of him, seized the lettuce from the salad and, when remonstrated with, said, "My mistake; I thought it was spinach." I overworked my brain shamefully trying to see the point. But I never did. The years passed and I finally forgot the irritating thing until I saw it in the Line. It will spoil my life unless you, in a spirit of benevolence, please tell me what is the joke. Doubtless you will be distressed to find you have so stupid a reader, and I am sorry I am so obtuse. But even if you don't want to mar the enjoyment of the Column readers who are much cleverer than I am by publishing the point of the joke, please tell me. I am inclosing a stamped and addressed envelope for a reply.

BACKWARD CHILDREN.

IN an excellent pamphlet written for school teachers in Ontario, Dr. Helen MacMurchy warns us that not all backward children are feeble minded.

Among the common causes of backwardness not due to feeble mindedness and some remedies for each she schedules:

Defective eyesight: Give the child a front seat. Have the eyes examined and properly fitted, glasses provided. Defective hearing: Give the child a front seat. Teach lip reading. Have the nose and ears treated. Defective breathing: Have the nose and throat examined. Defective teeth: Teach the child how to clean each tooth. Have the defective teeth cared for. Defective immunity: Strengthen the child's constitution. Defective nutrition: Good food, fresh air, exercise and sleep.

She advises every teacher to keep a diary, and to enter therein daily her observations and opinions about the children under her care—personality, behavior, scholarship, and health. This daily record is too personal, of course, for general reading, and it must be kept under lock and key.

In a given case the diary may show that Mary was away five weeks last spring with the measles; now it is eight weeks with the whooping cough. Just before she came to this teacher she had been out two months with the scarlet fever. The diary shows plainly why Mary is backward.

Maybe the child is backward because he does not get enough sleep. Maybe it's picture shows after supper, or maybe it's delivering papers at 5 o'clock in the morning to help the family income.

Maybe the child is backward because he appears to be lazy. But supposed laziness may mean heart disease, rheumatism, growing pains, tuberculosis, or hook worm.

It may be that the backwardness is the result of school incompatibility. Possibly the family has moved seven times in the seven years, and the child has been called on to fit into seven school groups. He sours on the job and sulks.

This child may have abnormal emotions, may be peculiar, nervous or a misfit, and that may be the cause of the backwardness.

It is well for the teacher to know the various kinks in the mental processes, and the consequent behavior of the difficult child, since some of them result indirectly in backwardness, and many of them can be cured by training.

And, finally, Dr. MacMurchy writes to the teachers on the teachability of feeble minded children. What she says on that subject is worth while.

ENEMAS FOR PIN WORMS.

J. B. writes: "I am a girl 20 years of age, and since about 10 years old I have been troubled with small white worms (pin worms).

"When I have them, which is very often, I feel very miserable, and have been taking large doses of castor oil during these periods, but found no relief."

REPLY.

Pin worms live in the lower bowel. They are dislodged and killed by enemas. For instance, one consisting of one tablespoon of salt to the pint of water. This is given just subsequent to cleaning the bowel by a purgative, or by taking a simple enema.

It may be necessary to repeat the salt enema once or twice at intervals of one week.

IT'S HOW YOU LIVE NOW.

J. K. writes: "Over nine years ago I applied for a twenty year endowment policy in one of the life insurance companies, but was rejected for albumin in the urine. At the time of my applying I was doing night work and drinking pretty heavily. Three years ago I got an attack. The doctor said it came from the kidneys. Since then I go to a doctor for an examination once a year and for the last three years for a test of my urine, and the doctor's examination shows my kidneys, heart, and lungs in excellent condition. I am about 60 now.

"1. With the above favorable tests and reports, and barring accidents, may I live to a good old age?

"2. Does excessive alcoholic drinking create albumin in the urine?"

REPLY.

1. You have a fair chance to live longer than the life expectancy of men 60 years of age. That is 14½ years.

2. Yes. Not infrequently a man with your history of bad habits, resulting in Bright's disease, gets all right when he follows proper habits.

PUS DUE TO INFECTION.

M. J. C. writes: "Will you please tell me what pus in the urine means or indicates?"

REPLY.

Infection with pus bacteria somewhere along the genito-urinary tracts. The infection may be in the kidney or anywhere below that.

Behind the pus infection there may be a tubercular infection or a stone. In women a small amount of pus in the urine may come from the genital tract and be of no importance.

"HOUSEWIFE'S DISEASE."

H. B. writes: "I have had cracked hands for over two months, such deep, painful cracks in my fingers especially. Have tried different kinds of creams for it, but have found no relief, so am coming to you for help. My fingers become stiff at times and it hurts to bend them."

REPLY.

To keep the skin of your hands well greased will help considerably. It does not matter a whole lot what grease you use.

If you can do so, keep your hands warm and dry. The principal cause of your trouble is some feature of occupation. For example, washing dishes, scrubbing, etc. If you must put your hands in water, could you wear rubber gloves?

FREE FROM DUTY.

Chicago, Dec. 30.—[Friend of the People.]—I should like to know just what articles are admitted into this country free of duty. I understand that there are some on which no duty is levied. How about old paintings? E. M. E.

The list is too long to print here. Write to the United States customs officials, Washington, D. C.

Old paintings come on the "free list" under the classification "works of art." In this class are included "original paintings, drawings, artists' proof etchings unbound, engravings unbound, printed by hand, original sculptures; works of art imported for exhibition purposes or for presentation to a public institution; works of art [except rugs and carpets], which shall have been produced more than 100 years prior to the date of importation."

MUST NOT REMARRY.

Chicago, Dec. 29.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—A woman deserted by her husband about four years ago now wishes to marry again. She can find no trace of the husband. Can she marry again without knowledge of any divorce proceedings by him? Is there such a law in Illinois, providing for such a case without divorce? B. H.

No, to both questions.
TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

U. S. CAPITOL BUILDING.

Highland Park, Ill., Dec. 31.—[Friend of the People.]—When was the capitol building in Washington, D. C., built? Your answer will settle a dispute. Some claim that George Washington had it built, others that it was built before. Who designed it? E. C.

The corner stone of the original capitol building was laid by President George Washington Sept. 18, 1793. The north and south wings were destroyed by the British in 1814. They were rebuilt immediately. There were several extensions added and the building, including the dome, was really completed in 1865.

A CASE FOR THE LAW.

Cincinnati, O., Dec. 30.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—My grandmother, aged 76, had some property which was sold without her signature and entirely against her will and the will of her two daughters to whom she must look for support. It was a very crooked deal, the lawyer being bought off. Now she wants the property and we don't know how to go about it. E. K.

It seems clear that nothing can be done without legal proceedings, for which you would have to employ an attorney.

BETTER PLAY SAFE.

Chicago, Dec. 29.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—Are cases of failure to file income tax schedules which have been reported ever taken care of or given any attention? H. M. C.

We suppose they are.

THE FUTURE OF THE MOVIE.

Chicago, Dec. 27.—In the "Voice of the People" Dec. 26, signed by "Hopeless," is another slam at the movies. Evidently "Hopeless" very aptly classifies himself, but doesn't know it. It has become a custom with such reformers to bray about the movies whenever they look at the sun through their discolored glasses. Who are these reformers, but people of the narrowest intellect, who see nothing but the bad spots in life and judge the whole fabric accordingly.

We may as well awake to the fact that the movies are here, not only to stay, but will become the most potent factor in the education of the future generations.

We do not deny there are producers and theater owners without whom the industry would not suffer, but the industry is young, and as all pioneering attracted all kinds of people to the game, so did the movies. However, with the assistance of an intelligent and broad minded public, we will make the movie what it shall eventually become, the school and church of the masses.

Parents, after all, are the only censors of the screen. It will not take them very long to find out where their children can see clean and wholesome shows; as all evils perish by their own sins, so will the theater catering to the evil and indecent.

When the plans of Dr. Francis Holley, director of the Bureau of the Commercial Economic, Washington, D. C., are fully matured and carried out by our great state universities, every movie house in the country will become a part of the great educational system of this country. Numerous books will be replaced by the screen, and subjects that are now considered difficult to grasp, will become simple, and will attract pupils instead of repel. We expect to reduce the truancy considerably, if not entirely. We expect to direct the young minds to their proper vocations earlier in life, instead, as it is very often done nowdays, sending them into blind alleys.

The theater owners of America are heartily in favor of the elimination of the evils that may beset our industry, and kindly ask the coöperation of the great American public to the early accomplishment of the desired results.

J. B. DIBELKA.
Secretary of Illinois Motion Picture Theater Owners.

"MAN IS THE ONLY ANIMAL THAT CAGES THE VICTIMS OF HIS SYSTEM."—DEBS.

Chicago, Dec. 25.—Excerpts from the British Magazine and Review, published in London, England, July, 1783:

"This day was executed, opposite St. Andrew's church, Holborn, John Mills, on the Coventry act, for unlawfully lying in wait and wounding John Brazier in several parts of his body. He was attended to the place of execution by Sheriff Taylor, his under-sheriff, and other proper officers, amidst a large multitude of spectators. He was dressed in black, with a crêpe hatband in his hat, and died very penitent. He was about 27 years of age.

"The following malefactors, capitally convicted in May last, were carried in two carts, and one on a sledge, from Newgate, and executed at Tyburn—viz.: John Wharton, for burglary in the dwelling house of Robert Askey and stealing some money and a quantity of soap; John Hazelworth, for robbing John Fitzpatrick on the highway of a silver watch and two half crown pieces; Robert Cullem, for breaking into the house of John Hatch, in the night, with intent to steal his goods; William Rutley Pratt, for burglary in a dwelling house and stealing a quantity of silver plate, and William Harcourt, for treasonably having in his custody a mold, and other implements, for coining half crowns, shillings, and sixpences. They all behaved very penitently." S. E. G.

HIRE VOICES NOT NAMES FOR OPERA.

Chicago, Dec. 28.—It appears that our Chicago town, one of the greatest centers of population and wealth in the world, is having a very hard time of it trying to support one grand opera house for about ten weeks of the year. "What is the trouble?" and "What is the remedy?" are the questions now in order. On looking up the prices of seats at grand opera in THE TRIBUNE I do not find any chance to blame the music lovers for being too "tight" with their money. [For my part, I simply listen in with a little wireless set and talk about grand opera but do not pay admission fees.] The public pays, our wealthy citizens subsidize the opera, and still there is not enough money to meet the demands of the performers.

Could we not get performers for less money who could handle the jobs? I think so. A European acquaintance visiting here informs me that the city of Prague has three theaters which play grand opera for ten months of the year. They can find plenty of singers who can sing the roles.

I believe the trouble is that we are too intent upon picking favorites, that we are too much interested in hearing those approved by critics, press agents, other audiences, and paid claquers, and that we give too much thought to criticizing the work of the performers and too little to apprehending the thought which they are expressing.

Would it not be in line with democratic ideals, as well as sensible business policy, to lose interest in the "world-beaters," to pass prosperity around by getting less famous artists to sing the roles, and to eliminate all extremely and unreasonably high salaries?

CHARLES R. MERWIN.

WHAT DOES BORAH STAND FOR?

Portage, Wis., Dec. 21.—All the year Borah has been pleading for an agreement to disarm. Now that we are beginning to make an agreement he objects. "Yes, I will," he said. "No, I won't," he says.

He and the women make one think of children crying in the market place. Last winter I heard him frequently on the senate floor. His persistence in advocating disarmament was fine. However, one soon suspected he had no plan wisely conceived and well thought out which would render disarmament feasible. He could proclaim the principle in eloquent terms. That was simple for a man with his limpid speech. But could he appreciate the diplomatic procedure and statesmanship absolutely indispensable to initiate the project and carry it to completion? Could he stick to one line of action long enough to work with any set of level headed associates? Did he not really too much prefer to play the part of a free lance—"brilliant and free"—rather than stoop to those exacting diplomatic tasks required to develop and apply any proposal—certainly any he would offer? Lacking the gift of practical diplomacy, he did not think out in the end his own proposal or endeavor to show how it could be realized.

LIMIT THE BONUS TO THE NEEDY.

Dallas City, Ill., Dec. 28.—Pay no bonus to any soldier or sailor who at this time is worth $10,000 or over; in fact you might make it $5,000. Also pay no bonus to any ex-service man holding a position paying $3,600 annually or over.

It is firmly believed by the writer that the above would if put into force reduce the amount considerably.

I enlisted two weeks after war was declared in the regular army and rose from a buck private to a captain. Please accept my suggestion for what it is worth. It may not possess any value whatsoever.

THE SAME OLD STORY IN ANCIENT ROME

[From the London Sphere.]

Nero (at breakfast, to Poppœa): "What's the matter, my dear?"

Poppœa: "I'm horrible worried! We have all those children coming this afternoon and the conjuror's taken ill."

Nero: "Never mind, Poppy. I'll take them to see my new tiger eat a few inexpensive slaves."

300 IN CELLS; 20 IN HOSPITAL; ORGY RESULTS

Celebration of Chicago's third New Years' since prohibition went into effect resulted in 300 arrests. The police raided fifteen places where the merry makers were most boisterous, and arrested nine persons for violation of the Illinois prohibition law, and gathered in a score of others who were inmates.

Under Lieut. John McCarthy of the chief of police's office a squad of detectives entered a pool room at 1215 South Keddie avenue and took into custody Raphael Nagel, the proprietor, and three others. They were booked at the Marquette police station for violation of the prohibition act.

Visitor to City Arrested.

Fred Smith of Geneva, Ill., was arrested at Harrison and Larimie streets by police of the Fillmore street station. A gallon of moonshine was said to be found in his possession. He will be arrained in the Des Plaines street court.

James Cunningham and five men whom the police class as vagrants were having the time of their lives with two bottles of liquor at State and Harrison streets and had voted the day one of the happiest on record when they were swooped down upon by detectives from the South Clark street station.

Knocked Out by "Moonshine."

The kick of "white mule" laid out an unidentified man who was found lying in the street by P. A. Ryan, 5739 Ridge avenue, in front of his home yesterday. The Town Hall police took the man to the County hospital and removed the almost empty bottle of "white mule" from his pocket.

The Shakespeare avenue police found a man lying in an alley in the rear of 2227 North Western avenue with his skull fractured. It is thought the injury was caused by a fall while he was intoxicated. He later was identified at the Alexian Brothers hospital as Walter Nowakowski of Norwood Park.

During the last twenty-four hours twenty persons were taken to the County hospital suffering from the effects of moonshine.

Capture Man Wanted for Passing Bad Check in 1915

A six year search for Ernest A. Mitchell, wanted at Toronto, Ont., for passing a bogus check for $400 on the King Edward hotel in 1916, ended yesterday when Mitchell was arrested at the Alexandria hotel.

MANDATED ISLE YIELDS JAPANESE $900,000 A YEAR

Forced Labor Said to Violate Versailles Treaty.

BY WALTER WILGUS.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

[Copyright: 1922: By The Chicago Tribune.]

ANGAUR ISLAND, Jan. 2.—Although Angaur island is a mere speck in the map of the Pacific, it is the chief source of income for the Japanese from the mandated islands, more than paying the expenses of the administration in the entire mandate region. Its wealth consists of phosphate deposits, which are mined at the rate of 60,000 tons a year, which yields about 1,800,000 yen ($900,000) annually.

Jap Officials' Error.

The claim often is made by Japanese officials that the mandate islands are a dead loss and that Japan's only reason for keeping them is to help along the cause of civilization.

This claim is not borne out by official figures, which show that the total expenditure in 1920 was 363,903 yen ($181,951). The revenue, including a balance of 140,000 yen ($70,000), if brought forward from the preceding year, equaled the expenditures. The government's income from the Anguar phosphate deposits, however, are not included as an item of revenue, but appear to be clear profit.

The phosphates are sold in Japan for fertilizer, and the Japanese government gets the benefit. The money is not turned back into the mandate, although it would pay for the administration several times over.

Labor Is Forced.

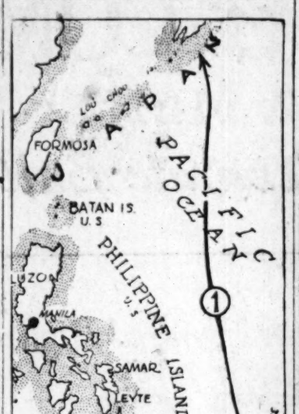

The mines are worked by native labor. The Japanese vigorously deny that this labor is recruited forcibly. Foreigners and the few natives here who can speak English tell a different story. It is said that workmen are taken from Wolea, Ponape, and other islands for varying terms, the average being for one year. There is no pretense of making a contract with them, although they are paid nominal wages during their stay in Angaur.

While there is no evidence of positive mistreatment, it appears that they are made to work whether they want to or not, and that the safeguards on forced labor imposed by Article XXII of the league covenant are not effective here.

SEEK ALBANY MAN HERE.

Chief Fitzmorris yesterday received a letter asking him to find Frank F. Robinson, who was in Chicago ten years ago. It came from John R. Marshall of Albany, N. Y.

JAPS' MANDATE PAYS

1—It is reported that Japan is mining $900,000 worth of phosphates a year on Anguar island, one of the Pelews. The Japanese government is said to be using forced labor for this work, in violation of Versailles treaty.

2—Japan is also reported to be in possession of an unnamed island in the Pelews, 500 miles from the Philippines, which is heavily fortified by nature and could easily be turned into a formidable naval base.

ENGLAND DENIES REPORT OF NEW INDIA REVOLT

BY OTIS SWIFT.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

[Copyright: 1922: By The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, Jan. 2.—The Indian office denies a Washington report that a republic of India has been proclaimed. Saildendra N. Ghose, who is alleged to have made the statement, is called an extremist and his report an invention.

The All-India congress at Ahmadabad, at which Mahatma Gandhi presided, refused the proposals made by Hasrat Mohandi, an extremist leader, to change its policy of nonviolence to violence. Mohandi on Friday made a plea for a United States of India to be proclaimed on Jan. 1, 1922, but he did not receive support.

HARDINGS BRING BACK OPEN HOUSE OF GOCD OLD DAYS

White House Reception Colorful as of Yore.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 2.—[Special.]—Official Washington kept open house today. Beginning with the New Year's reception at the White House, the first to be held there since the Taft administration, the program of former years was faithfully carried out in all official and many private homes.

The President and Mrs. Harding held their official reception this morning and the public reception, the first in nine years, this afternoon. Long before the close of the diplomatic breakfast given by the secretary and Mrs. Hughes in the Pan-American building the line in waiting for the public reception at the White House was nearly three blocks long. It was a prosperous and happy looking crowd, cheerful and good natured in spite of the cold, and included many old persons and little children and not a few colored people.

Urbain Ledoux a "Caller."

Every man, woman, and child, white and colored, got a personal greeting and pleasant word from the President and Mrs. Harding, the older people and the little children coming in for especial attention from the first lady, who shook hands with every one and chatted for a moment with a number, including Urbain Ledoux, who at 3 o'clock appeared at the White House with about twenty of his army of the unemployed.

The President and Mrs. Harding received from 11 until 1 the members of the cabinet, the diplomatic corps and foreign delegates to the arms conference, the Supreme court headed by Chief Justice William Howard Taft, senators and representatives, officers of the army, navy, and marine corps, and all other officials of departments and bureaus of the government and public institutions down to and including the president of the Columbia Institution for Deaf-Mutes.

Recalls Former Brilliance.

The full dress uniforms of the diplomats and army and navy men brought back the color and brilliance of bygone days. During the war no diplomatic uniforms, and only the khaki and olive drab of the service uniform were worn by members of the corps and army and navy officers of our own and other countries.

The German and Austrian representatives were not in uniform, the plain black and white of their civilian clothes being in marked contrast to the particularly gorgeous uniforms worn by German and Austrian diplomats under the old régime.

In the state dining room where the diplomats waited, and again in the east room after all had passed down the line, many impromptu receptions were held by Mr. Balfour, in the uniform of a British ambassador; Chief Justice Taft and Mrs. Taft, Col. Theodore Roosevelt, and others.

Former Foe Diplomats Guests.

At 12:30 o'clock the secretary of state and Mrs. Hughes received the diplomatic corps and other foreign guests in the Pan-American building, the first diplomatic breakfast since the outbreak of the war, at which were gathered the representatives of all the powers with the exception of Hungary, formerly represented at Washington, including the chargé d'affaires of Germany and Austria, who presented their credentials last week.

The presence of the German envoy, Dr. Carl Lang, with Mrs. Lang, and the Austrian chargé, Dr. Edgar A. G. Prochnik and Mrs. Prochnik, the latter formerly Miss Gretchen James of St. Paul, at the official reception at the White House and the diplomatic breakfast which followed, was of interest, as it was their first appearance at any official function here.

In the Receiving Line.

They went through the line at the White House, passing from the state dining room to the blue room, where the President and Mrs. Harding received alone, and out through the green room and the east room, the rest of the corps and other officials with their wives remaining for a time to greet the Vice President and Mrs. Coolidge, the ladies of the cabinet and Supreme court, and a small group including Mrs. Gillett, wife of the speaker; Mrs. Frelinghuysen, Mrs. New, Mrs. Mann, Miss Helen Cannon, Mrs. Marshall Field, and Mrs. Frederick Dent Grant, who had been invited by Mrs. Harding to assist her in the blue room.

SHIP GORED ON ROCK.

MAYOR "SAVED" CITY $800,000 ON BONDS, HE AVERS

Mayor Thompson, in his annual report to the city council today, will say that the year 1922 has been a year "of great achievement and advancement for the city of Chicago."

The mayor "points with pride" to the fact that the municipal government got through the year with a deficit, referred to as an "overdraft," of $750,000. He adds that amounts due the corporate fund will more than make up the deficit.

The mayor claims that he saved the taxpayers $800,000 by holding on to the $8,000,000 deficit bond issue until a few weeks ago, when it was sold at par, instead of selling it in July, when the municipal security market was less favorable.

Cites War's Effect.

"It was natural to expect that the years following the great war would present unusual difficulties in the way of economic and social adjustments," the report says.

"The city has experienced these difficulties, but with the exception of the burden of taxation following the war's wake is now, with a few exceptions, well advanced in the course of adjustment."

The mayor describes the tortuous course of the 5 cent fare litigation, says that the telephone company and the "L" lines should be forced to reduce their rates and improve their service, and declares the city will make an effort to force them to do so.

Local improvements, including the big street widening projects, should be pushed as an antidote to unemployment, the mayor advises the council.

With the bars down as far as space limitations are concerned, the mayor's department heads, in appended reports, tell their 1921 accomplishments and troubles, and outline their 1922 hopes in reports which total more than 21,000 words.

High Points in Report.

Health department—The 1921 death rate was 11 per 1,000 and there were 9,800 fewer funerals than the average annual number from 1913 to 1916 inclusive.

Police—Crime has continued to decrease. The total criminal complaints in eleven months of 1921 was 10,661, as compared to 25,487 in 1915, known as "the year of the continuous crime wave."

Controller—Announcement is made that the department intends to make the counting of election returns a permanent part of its work.

Collector—Revenue from inspections dropped off $750,000 and from special assessment collections $2,500,000 as result of reduction in number of improvements, public and private.

Law—Prosecuted 7,358 violations of city ordinances; filed 470 assessment rolls for local improvements, in addition to conducting routine legal business of the city and handling public utility litigation.

Fire—Fire losses in eleven months of 1921 amounted to $6,814,916, as compared to $6,338,343 in same period of 1920. The loss would have been less than $4,000,000 had the internal combustion explosion and fire in an elevator of the Armour Grain company last March not occurred, the report says.

GRANDMOTHER HUNTS FOR TELEPHONE GIRL MISSING SINCE FRIDAY

Mrs. A. Pappe, 6813 Stony Island avenue, yesterday appealed to THE TRIBUNE to aid her in her search for Ursula May Pappe, 16, her granddaughter, a telephone operator, who disappeared from her home last Friday morning when she left apparently to go to work.

When Mrs. Pappe checked on Miss Pappe's last appearance at the telephone office she found that the girl had been laid off, with others, two weeks ago. The girl had drawn on her savings to bring home her "pay" and had been looking for work, it was learned.

BURCH CASE TO JURY SATURDAY, NOW FORECAST

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 2.—[Special.]—When the trial of Arthur C. Burch is resumed tomorrow, Dr. Louis Weber, first alienist for the prosecution, will take the stand to demonstrate that the man accused of killing J. Belton Kennedy is not insane.

Dr. Weber will describe a visit he paid to the prisoner in the county jail, and how he attempted to apply the "suggestion test" to Burch. To every word the expert mentioned in his test, Burch would reply with some extremely ludicrous sally.

"Eat," suggested the expert. "Good; let's!" exclaimed the prisoner.

Dr. Weber gave up in disgust. He will testify, however, that Burch's answers showed a high degree of mentality, as well as extreme quickness of wit.

The prosecution will call one other alienist and about a score of laymen to swear that Burch is an unusually bright young man. The defense still has two minor witnesses to produce.

All the rebuttal testimony will be in and the arguments under way by next Friday at the furthest. The case will be in the hands of the jury by Saturday.

STEAL $800 IN FURS.

Sioux City, Ia., Jan. 2.—[Special.]—Two salesmen's trunks filled with furs vaued at $800 were stolen last night from the store of a local dealer. The empty trunks were found today on a country road three miles from this city.

Stomach Upset?

Get at the Real Cause—Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Take Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like. 15c and 30c.

Happy New Year to our patrons and friends

May your future be bathed in sunshine and may the Gods lay at your feet the best they have in stock.

You've been mighty kind to the Yellow Cab during 1921. It has been the most satisfactory year in our history. And we'd give a great deal to take each of you by the hand and say, "Thank you."

I Your patronage has made it possible for us to do many good things, which have benefited you, our employees and ourselves. And if you and our employees are grateful to each other, just imagine how grateful we are to both of you.

II Number of passengers hauled in 1921, 14,250,322 as against 10,802,196 in 1920. Number of garages increased during the year from seven to ten.

The number of drivers employed increased from 1,700 in 1920 to 2,700 in 1921.

The number of miles traveled by Yellow Cabs in 1921 was 52,302,000 as against 37,331,000 in 1920.

III This great increase in our business enabled us to distribute a bonus and a share of the profits for the year, to different classes of employees, as follows:

Top mechanic - -	$238.21	Top agent - -	$282.60
Top telephone operator - - -	$308.71	Top driving instructor -	$493.46

2,229 men received $18,952.20 in sick benefits when they were ill and unable to work.

V We carried life insurance for 4,000 men in one of the largest life insurance companies in America on which $17,000 was collected for 13 deaths.

We were able to furnish our employees hospital, dental and legal services, free of charge, for themselves and their immediate families. You have no idea how much this means to the average working man.

VI In other words, we have created here an industrial community of 4,000 souls, who are being made reasonably happy and contented by the patronage you have given us. They have become efficient and loyal to us and to you. They have won your confidence and support and because of that we have been able to reduce our rates three times during the current year. So that taxicab rates in Chicago are becoming almost as low as street-car fare.

VII No little portion of our success is due to the fact that every employee, from the President to the Office Boy, is a stockowner and a sharer in the profits. And to each one's sincere interest is due the fact that our accidents have been greatly reduced during the year, and that our drivers are driving with more care and at reduced speed. This important feature bears out the idea of earnest co-operation on the part of men who are stockowners and squarely dealt-with employees.

This scheme we have compounded is purely a selfish one. It is a new thought on how money should—and can—be made by following the human scale of being square to customer, to employee, and to stockholder, the management standing on a teter board between to see that they all get an even break. It seems to have worked out, because today this is the biggest and greatest money-earning cab company that the world has ever known. There was nothing like it in Europe before the war. There is nothing like it in Europe now. There is nothing just like it anywhere else in America, and it has been brought about by educating our working men up to the fact that they are all men, born equally and entitled to an equal chance to smile, live and die under the same sun.

Respectfully Yours,

HER PHANTOM LOVER

by ELIZABETH YORK MILLER

BEGINNING ALL OVER AGAIN.

"Andrew's grown a mustache," Ted concluded, and then went off into a gale of laughter, ending on a serious note: "I've got a safety razor."

Doria turned pale and there was real alarm in her voice.

"O, Ted—no!"

"Strewth. Ask Mr. Barry. We've had a wonderful time this week, staying with Mr. Drake. Saw no end of shows; breakfast in bed, and all the rest of it. Lunched every day at The Porteous. There was an American lawyer there yesterday—they called him 'Judge.' I don't know why—he seemed to know something about us. He thought Mr. Barry was my father. Queer bird, wasn't he, Mr. Barry? I suppose he's Irish American. His name is O'Malley. Mr. Drake was awfully fussy about the ducklings. We were a little late."

"An American lawyer—O'Malley? What do you mean?"

"Friend of Mr. Drake's. Or rather somebody who had a letter of introduction to him," Ted explained unconcernedly.

Doria's eyes sought those of her husband, and he gave her a little sign not to comment any more. She was wild to get him alone, but that was not easy. Ted had taken upon himself the rôle of host. After all, Mr. Barry was his friend.

After breakfast the travelers went up to their rooms, which adjoined, much to Ted's delight. He liked the sociable dormitory atmosphere it gave, and the door between was left open while they unpacked and changed into country clothes.

For once where his mother and his "Mr. Barry" were concerned he was in the way, but, of course, he did not know it. He did not mean the guest to be bored for one moment.

He got through his own unpacking in record time and then came in to help Ronald with his.

"Mother's looking jolly, isn't she?" he asked, as he bustled about pulling out drawers and opening cupboard doors. "I was surprised. Do you like your room? The ceiling's rather low and you want to mind your head going through doors. I got a fearful whack once. Made me quite silly for a minute or two. Always duck. When I've been here for a week I get a hump on my shoulders like a cave man. But I love it. Don't you? We don't dress for dinner. Mother changes into something loose and comfortable, and wears her bedroom slippers. I hope you don't mind. I shall tell her not to make any difference because of you. You see, she hasn't been at all well."

For a long time Ronald had sought in his mind for the secret of Ted's charm, and now he wondered that it had ever eluded him. There was no secret at all; it was the thing that every charming person the world over possesses—complete unselfishness.

The boy was always thinking of other people—a trait most rare in the young. His altruism went so far as to assume that other people also considered him. What he gave he not so much expected to get back as took for granted.

Yet there wasn't an atom of the prig about him. He was not in the least conscious of possessing either charm or an excess of virtue. Indeed, to be accused of the latter would have worried him and made him feel ashamed. Middle age has at least one point of contact with the young, and that is love. If Doria had not loved Ted to overflowing she would have hated him that day; and she certainly would not have liked to hear herself described as middle aged. Yet she was past thirty-five, and her hair wore a silver frost.

But beyond thirty-five stretches the second lap of life. New forces must be gathered; readjustments made; and Doria's life was still important to her. So was Ronald's to him.

The sun was setting, and they had finished tea when Doria thought of an errand for Ted. Some cream and eggs were wanted, so she sent him off to the farm, about half a mile away. He wanted Ronald to come with him, but she said no, she would like a little of their guest's society herself.

"You'll find us down on the rocks," she said. "I want to look for seaweed."

Ted went off, a little hurt. Why couldn't they have both come with him?

Doria laughed mischievously as Ronald helped her down the cliff path.

"Fancy, Ronny, think of having to make up an excuse to get rid of our own son!"

The answering light in Ronald's eyes caused her heart to beat more quickly. At the bottom of the path she slipped, and he caught her in his arms. They closed around her passionately.

"Doria;"

"Yes, Ronny?"

"God help me, I love you!"

"I am so glad, Ronny. I've been waiting and waiting for you to tell me so. O, Ronny, love me very much. I've been so cruelly punished. I'm not wicked any more. I'm glad Andrew has got the title and everything. He gave me back my son—and I didn't deserve it, did I, Ronny?"

"Doria, you really love me?"

She pressed her face against his coat and wept for sheer joy. "I only found out what love was when you came back."

"What are we going to tell the little lad?" he asked, gently, as he stroked her hair and looked into her brimming eyes.

"The truth," she faltered. "Yes, Ronny, I must face it—the last punishment. Ted must be told everything. He loves us both, Ronny; and it will mean a great deal for him to know that you are his father."

He drew her close to him, and they sat on the rocks at the edge of the sea waiting for Ted to come back.

To those who read, it is the end of the story; to Ronald and Doria it was a beginning.

SMALL'S CLAIM OF CUT IN FARM TAX IS DENIED

Howard Leonard, president of the Illinois Agricultural association, yesterday charged that the Illinois tax commission, instead of reducing the assessed valuation upon Illinois lands as reported by Gov. Small, in reality had increased the valuation approximately $56,000,000.

"The statement carried in the press that the commission reduced the assessed valuation upon Illinois lands is misleading," Mr. Leonard said. "The statement issued by the tax commission in Springfield at its final session gave the impression that the farmers of this state were indebted to the commission for a slice of some $56,000,000 in the assessments on land.

Really Got Increase.

"What the farmers did get at the hands of the present commission was an increase of approximately $55,000,000 over the aggregate valuation made in the counties.

"The total assessed valuations on lands returned by the county boards of review amount to $1,151,836,018. The tax commission added $56,104,839, making the total for lands $1,207,940,857. That is what the farmers of the state received at the hands of the tax commission.

"The farmers of the country have suffered from the financial stringency as no other class of our citizens has suffered. The prices of farm products have gone all to pieces. The farmer's credit is shattered and he faces utter ruin.

Farmers Will Not Forget.

"Treatment such as was accorded by the tax commission of this state will not soon be forgotten by the farmers of Illinois. It is a severe blow to agriculture and one which the state administration will have difficulty in explaining to the 250,000 farmers of the state."

THIRD TRIAL OF BANKER STRAUSE IS UNDER WAY

Bloomington, Ill., Jan. 2.—[Special.]—Four jurymen were accepted today for the third trial of Edgar A. Strause, called in the McLean county Circuit court. Twenty-two veniremen were examined, this indicating that the jury would be completed by Wednesday. Both prosecution and defense were less exacting than in two preceding hearings of the case of Strause, who is accused of murdering his banking associate, Verne Meade, both of Peru.

The tragedy occurred three years ago. The two men met in the office of the State Bank of Peoria on a Sunday morning. What transpired may never be known in all details. Meade was killed. He was cashier of the bank and Strause was president. It is known that the two had disagreed upon certain policies.

Strause claimed self defense and the prosecution was forced to rely upon circumstantial evidence in the first trial held in Peoria, which resulted in a verdict of guilty. The court fixed a term in the penitentiary, but the Supreme court granted a new trial.

CHITA SCANDAL IS CHIEF TOPIC OF DIPLOMATS

Other Papers Uncovered; "Malicious": Sarraut.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 2.—[Special.]—The alleged secret alliance between France and Japan concerning the Russian situation, which if it exists would subvert the four power treaty and undermine the work of the conference, was the chief topic of discussion in diplomatic Washington today.

"Where is your proof?" the delegates of the Chita republic, who made public notes and treaties purporting to show the Franco-Japanese agreement, were asked. They had none. They had the documents and believed them to be true, that is all.

But from an unexpected source, American and independent, came a measure of corroboration. It is stated on entirely reliable authority that there is at present reposing in the American state department files a translation of an agreement which follows almost exactly the lines of the Chita documents.

In State Department Files.

The content is stated as follows:

"It is an agreement between Kappe' officers (anti-bolshevik Russians), Japanese, with French officers present, in which the Russians agreed to put themselves under the command of the Japanese provided they were paid, the French and Japanese assuming payment jointly."

This agreement is dated Jan. 21, 1921.

In the Chita documents, under date of Jan. 6, 1921, the Japanese military mission in Paris cables the Tokio ministry:

"We have arrived at a satisfactory agreement with the French regarding the evacuation of Wrangel (anti-bolshevik Russian troops kept by the French at Constantinople). The French cannot support the army any longer, the situation is very difficult, and the French wish to use it for their benefit. In our opinion the plan proposed by the French is acceptable but only in case the French will support us by all means in the Siberian question. The French project will be transmitted today in cipher."

Chita Denied Audience.

In British and Chinese quarters today it was the inclination to regard the Chita documents as largely true, although badly translated. The Chita delegates stated that they made them public after they had knocked twice at the door of the conference, offering to show their proofs. They had been turned down by Mr. Hughes and had come to the newspapers.

M. Sarraut, chief of the French delegation, wrote a letter to Mr. Hughes today, saying:

"It is my duty to inform you that the documents are gross fabrications and that since the moment when the allied governments carried on a policy of military intervention in Siberia with the coöperation of the United States, directed only against Germany and not at all with the aim of intervention in the internal politics of the Russian people, no agreement has either been concluded or negotiated by France with any government regarding the status or destiny of Siberia.

"At this time, when it appears to me necessary to expressly deny this false news, I consider it my duty to point out to you that the illegal and malicious action exercised by representatives of the pseudo republic of Chita, having no mandate and no moral authority, with the aim of creating suspicions between the powers represented at the Washington conference, seems to be directly contrary to the aims of the peace sought."

BANK OF KINDNESS

Draw a Check on It for the Unfortunate.

BY THE REV. W. B. NORTON.

JOHN H. WITTER.

The Charitable Boys' club of Wilmette went out in the snow on Christmas and sang carols. The money they received as the result of their efforts, $7, they sent to THE TRIBUNE to be given to the Chicago Boys' club, of which John H. Witter is superintendent. The boys are: Jud Thompson, Charles Troy, George Dewar, and Herbert Nunn Jr. The boys reported every one as acting kindly towards them except one man they called "an old crab."

"We stood in front of a certain house," one of the boys said, "debating which carol we should sing. Before we had time to start a window opened and an old crab shouted out, 'Beat it or I'll call the police.' Others gave or tossed us real coin."

The Chicago Boys' club is located at 1725 Orchard street. Branch clubs are established in various needy parts of the city. The clubs care for 2,000 boys. They are furnished facilities for athletic games, art, health, hiking, reading, religious services, and summer camping. The latest addition is a wireless club which will be in operation next week. A woman on the south side of Chicago donated the equipment.

O'Connor Is "Identified" as Iowa Train Holdup Man

That Tommy O'Connor, escaped Chicago gunman, was the bandit who attempted to hold up a train near Hawarden, Ia., last Thursday, was the word received by Chief of Detectives Hughes last night. Alec Porter, brakeman, who grappled with the bandit, identified O'Connor's picture, it is said.

CHITA REJOICES AT EXPOSURES OF JAP INTRIGUE

VLADIVOSTOK, Dec. 5.—Japan's menace to the sovereign rights and territorial integrity of the far eastern republic of Siberia has been checkmated by the presence in Washington during the international arms conference of delegates from the Siberian republic, according to advices received from Chita, quoting M. Nikoforoff, president of the republic. The declaration was made before the national assembly at Chita.

M. Nikoforoff said that Japan's hopes for concessions and sacrifices on the part of the republic in exchange for recognition by Tokio had been blasted.

"The admission of our delegates to Washington," the president added, "though in the capacity of unofficial representatives, is a blow to the blockade which encircled the young republic like a dense ring. We know that our representatives in Washington will be not only guests; it is evident that their presence will bring about negotiations. We will not permit Japan to declare in Washington that all questions are settled with us."

LOSES $3,000 BROOCH.

Mrs. Henry Cohen, 7702 Sarshaw avenue, reported to the police yesterday that she had lost a diamond brooch valued at $3,000 while at an entertainment at the Windsor Park Masonic temple.

British Deny Knowledge of Franco-Japanese Pact

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 2.—The British foreign office says it does not know anything about the alleged Franco-Japanese correspondence regarding Siberia, which it calls "highly improbable." The London opinion is that the documents in the case are forgeries or possibly Moscow inspired propaganda, as the soviet government is known to be anti-French and anti-Japanese.

JAPS' NEW SET OF EXPLANATIONS IN ASIA READY

Admit Trying to Change Chita Rule.

BY CHARLES DAILEY.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1922: By The Chicago Tribune.]

TOKIO, Jan. 2.—At the next plenary session of the disarmament conference Japan is expected to make a declaration regarding its principles on Siberia. It is stated that Japan will affirm its neutrality regarding the Merkuloff and Chita governments in accordance with the promise made to Great Britain and the United States at the time it decided to continue the occupancy of Siberia.

It will explain the passage of Merkuloff troops over the Iman barrier as due to a desire to maintain its neutrality and of not interfering with the factions, but at the same time secretly feeling that the presence of "White" forces at Habarovsk would impress Chita.

Claims of Japan.

The declaration also probably will recite that failure to agree with Chita on terms of evacuation was due to article I. of the agreement wherein the Japanese demanded a noncommunistic government as a pledge for private property rights. Chita, being dominated by Moscow, could not accede to this demand. Moscow is using the Chita government, it is stated, in the hope of forcing some sort of recognition.

Japan denies that it has any ulterior purpose in establishing garrisons in Siberia. Mr. Hanihara is expected to explain that article V. relates solely to consular officials. In addition Japan is expected to announce its willingness to withdraw provided that Chita pledges itself not to seize capital, thus leaving the other questions until a noncommunist government forms, but denying that it encourages the Merkuloff government to seize all eastern Siberia.

Shantung Question Up.

The Shantung question depends on the nature of the bonds which can be issued by China, the Japanese hoping to keep this question from the conference. The Manchurian question also delays the far east committee because Japan suspects China of using Shantung as a club for Japanese recessions there, with Japan also using the situation for cementing the Manchurian treaties. Anglo-American mediation is expected to adjust this satisfactorily. The sole remaining issue is the Chinese Eastern railway, which the powers insist upon preserving for a future Russian government, thus putting off the Chinese hopes of acquiring this road.

By mediation it is hoped to avert the deadlock on far eastern affairs like that blocking the submarine committee, but it is possible that the question may drag out some time after the other issues are closed.

Beach Costumes Take on Brilliant Coloring of Warmer Climes

EVEN the most conservative Bathing Costumes of taffeta or satin have some bright, gay bit of colored trimming. Jersey knitted Suits, always favored by so many, show new and interesting combinations of color.

An unusually fascinating bathing Cape is of rubberized silk. The design is oriental and its coloring exotic.

Innovations in Silk Sweaters

THE most unusual of these delightful novelties is of grenadine knitted silk in the loveliest of colors. Embroidered Sweaters are new, too. Their designs are fanciful and generally done in Bulgarian colors.

Marigold, mohawk and poinsettia are the newest shades in Sweaters.

Sports Apparel, Sixth Floor, South, State.

Daytime Gloves

THE new ones, of imported chamois, are smarter than ever. Some are particularly attractive with hand-sewn seams. They come in two-clasp, gauntlet, and mousquetaire styles, white or natural. First Floor, South, State.

Correct Hose

THE white ones are unusually attractive, with any number of new clocked designs. Two-tone effects are very trim, also. Wool of colored mixtures for sport Hose is always desirable; and especially soft are those of cashmere. First Floor, North, State.

Lace Drape Veils

HOW many hats are given a note of airiness, and enhanced by a filmy Veil draped from their brims! Charming ones; square or oblong, have embroidery, chenille dots, fringe ends, or bandings of sequins. First Floor, South, State.

For Sun or Rain

AS a protection against hot sun, or sudden showers are these Umbrellas designed. Of plain or figured silk, with novelty handles and convenient straps, they are altogether appropriate for most occasions. First Floor, South, State.

Women's Suits of Unrivaled Smartness

SUITS claim the importance due them, especially at this time when thoughts are turning to smart, comfortable and convenient traveling costumes. For these are handsome woolens, both light and dark colors, and for dressier occasions, those of white or soft-colored silks.

For the Debutante's Winter Travels

Many Brightly Colored Daytime and Evening Frocks

TUB Frocks have come into their own and almost everyone has some bit of handwork as trimming. Linen, figured and drop-stitch ratine, organdie and dotted swiss figure most prominently in such Frocks. Taffeta, pussy willow and crepe de Chine and crepe knit are used especially in afternoon Frocks.

Sixth Floor, North, State.

Wraps for Every Moment of the Day

THE Newest Cape has no armholes or sleeves, is slim and straight and very often trimmed with fur. Then there are the never-to-be-forgotten linen Dust Coats that are indispensable, and jaunty duvetyn or flannel short coats.

Tweed Suits Smartest of All

FOR traveling and daytime wear the tweed Suit is the thing. Often it comes in delightful shades of lavender, blue and old rose. Jersey will be worn again this season for it is loosely woven and cool for warmer weather.

Sixth Floor, Middle, Wabash.

The Smartest Skirts Are Black and White Combinations

INDISPENSABLE as ever, Misses' Skirts have a place of their own in the wardrobe of the Winter traveler.

Combinations of black and white are very distinctive, and the materials are mostly novelty silks, flannels and baronette satins.

Sixth Floor, Middle, Wabash.

Trunks and Luggage

SHOE Trunks, Hat Trunks, Golf Trunks, Week-End Trunks, Suitcases, fitted or otherwise, Hand Bags, chosen for their fitness to the need each fulfills, will provide the easy feeling that all accessories to a happy sojourn are traveling safely and will arrive the same way.

Custom Apparel Shows Paris Models

SELECTED in Paris by our representatives sent especially to secure them, are frocks and suits from Dorat, Lanvin, Miller, Groupy, Charlotte, and Jenny. These are authoritative styles for the South and California, forecasting a season of color, of handsome silk fabrics and cotton novelties, and rich trimming. Suits and dresses alike declare their choice of these materials.

Women's and Misses' Custom Apparel, Ninth Floor, South, State.

Hats in the Gayest Mood of Summer

WIDE brims that droop 'neath the weight of flowers are of silk or straw to match the lovely colors of Summer Costumes.

Smart little sports Hats, practical, becoming, are prepared to meet all the contingencies of golf, tennis, sailing, motoring, riding. Traveling Hats of dark silk or straw, have some perky feather aslant or are rich with bright embroidery.

Fine Milan, timbo and celophane straws are much in evidence, many of them combined with wool or wool embroidery. Silk and organdie flowers seem to surpass all the glories of former seasons.

Fifth Floor, North, and Middle, State.

Fresh Blouses

WHITE and crisp; tailored or daintily trimmed; colored, beaded, and sashed—thus are the new Blouses modified. Silks, and sheer cotton fabrics alike are used for both tailored and more elaborate styles, while crochet edging and patches of color are new trimmings, charming with suits and sweaters. Peasant Blouses and beaded overblouses also are very attractive.

Sixth Floor, Middle, State.

Gay Togs for Little Travelers

TO be as gay and fresh as the sunshine is the direct design of little girls' and boys' new Southern togs. They show a decided tendency toward the fashionable peasant lines, with jaunty flares and colorful smocking or embroidered trimming. Boys' Galahad and Boat Suits are just as cunning as the girls' new Sunbonnets and Bloomer Dresses. Plain imported, or checked ginghams, and crisp white goods will all be used in warmer lands.

Fourth Floor, North, State.

New Skirts

THE tendency toward open, loosely woven materials is clearly shown in the straight lines of the new separate Skirts. Skirts of homespun, tweed, flannel, or the many novelty wool weaves, made brighter by gay plaids and stripes, are a very smart part of the outdoor costume. Silk and cotton Skirts, too, precisely plaited or plain, are as desirable as ever—always so summery with colored jacket or sweater.

Women's Skirts, Sixth Floor, South, State.

New Cotton Fabrics

TO view the display of new Cotton Fabrics is to marvel at their wealth of color, of unusual weaves, and novel designs. Fashion places her stamp of approval on Voiles, Ratines, Linens, Organdies, dainty white materials, and Ginghams.

Second Floor, Middle, State.

Women's Lovely Wraps

For Day and Evening Wear

SOFT silken affairs are many of these, to throw over airy frocks for tropic evenings. Novel trimming of chrysanthemums distinguishes the one sketched. Others are fascinating little novelty Coats of bright colored woolens, printed linens, or of Marseilles, a new tubable fabric, with gay lining of kasha cloth which may be taken out when the Coat is washed. Soft woolen things for motor or steamer are also well represented.

Women's Wraps and Coats, Sixth Floor, North, State

Costume Room Frocks

THERE are many lovely novelty materials and charming, bright colors to make this showing of new models particularly refreshing.

Delicate evening Frocks are of the softest chiffon taffetas, chiffons and colored laces, many of them glistening with beads. Daytime Frocks of cloth and silk, and those of new cotton fabrics complete a collection which has the added charm of attractive prices.

SENATORS SEEK TO SPEED WORK ON TARIFF PLAN

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 2.—[Special.]—Executive sessions of the senate finance committee for the formulation of tariff policies will start the latter part of the week.

Before attempting to decide upon rates of duty the committee must dispose of the question of American valuation. That the original American valuation plan, as embodied in the Fordney bill as passed by the house or as revised later by the senate finance committee, will not be approved seems certain. There is strong sentiment, however, for the principle of American valuation and members of the committee insist that they will not abandon it entirely.

The amendments offered by Senator Smoot have not met with entire approval. Under these amendments, ad valorem duties would be fixed on the old foreign valuation basis, but the President would be given authority to direct that the American valuation plan should be applied in the case of certain commodities and that the rate of duty should be changed accordingly. This was the scheme which President Harding outlined in his message to congress.

Rather than accept this plan some of the leading advocates of the American valuation plan are urging members of the finance committee to assess duties on the American wholesale price of their imported article.

Manufacturers who are eager to prevent the sale of German articles in this country at prices below the American cost of production believe that, by assessing duties on the American selling price of the imported article, greater protection would be provided than if rates were based on the foreign invoice value.

WINDOW SHADES MADE TO ORDER — PHOTO STUDIO LINCOLN AVE. STORE

SHERIFF MAKES PLANS TO PUT ON NEW POLICE

While plans for the policing of rural highways near completion, the county board will be asked today to make arrangements for placing the names of the seventy new motorcycle highway deputies and their four officers on the county pay roll.

Though objection has been made by Morton N. Bell, attorney for the county board, to placing the new policemen on salaries, because, he holds, the sheriff's office is a fee office, it is the opinion of the sheriff and the Circuit court judges that the salaries can be paid from funds now in the hands of the county treasurer the same as clerical help in the office now are paid.

Examine the Applications.

In the meantime, Chief Depnty Sheriff Henry C. W. Laubenheimer has been examining the applications of numbers of men who desire to qualify for the new positions.

"The seventy men given us by the circuit court judges are only about half the number we need," said Mr. Laubenheimer yesterday. "We asked for 135 men. There are 1,600 miles of roads in the county to be protected, so we will have to divide the force into three sections.

Force Too Small.

"One of these sections will take the roads leading from the north boundaries of the city, another the west highways, and the third will be delegated to the south section.

"This allows twenty-three men to a section and in consideration of the four division into night and day shifts it is easily seen how inadequate the force is."

SKATERS THREE

It was with considerable difficulty that The Tribune photographer was able to persuade Miss Eleanor Bink, her sister, Miss Ethel Bink, and Miss Hazel Quinn, left to right, to stop skating long enough for him to take their picture, and we'll say that we wish we could have been at Lincoln park skating with them.

Commission Government in Effect in Michigan City

Michigan City, Ind., Jan. 2.—[Special.]—The commission manager form of government began functioning here today, this being the only city in Indiana operating under this system. The city commissioners met at the courthouse and organized by electing John Finske chairman, or mayor.

IS CON CON DEAD, DYING, HEALTHY? DIAGNOSIS TODAY

BY E. O. PHILLIPS.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 2.—[Special.]—The Illinois constitutional convention hangs in the balance tonight. The session tomorrow may decide it is a going concern or that it is a total loss.

The proposed restriction of Cook county's legislative representation is the issue. If a compromise whereby the city would stand for restrictions in the senate and proportionate representation in the lower house is planned that compromise was not visible tonight.

The downstate element, actuated largely, it is believed, by the activities of the dry forces, aided by the state administration, insists on hobbling Cook county in both houses.

The rules committee tonight decided to put up to the convention, by a special rule, immediate consideration of the legislative article. Three courses are in sight. One is a direct vote on the pending report of the committee on phraseology and style, limiting Cook county in both houses, which would require Cook county's opponents to muster fifty-two votes to win. The fifty-two are not in sight.

The second is a substitute for the committee report, embodying the proposed compromise of restriction of Cook county in the senate only. This course would necessitate fifty-two votes by the friends of Cook county.

The third is the parliamentary play that may be made by the anti-Cook county radicals, for another recess until after the Jan. 23 elections.

Conservatives express the opinion tonight that adoption of such a motion is tantamount to sine die adjournment of the convention.

DEATH CLAIMS THIRD FIREMAN IN TRUCK CRASH

Two More Near Death; Offer $1,000 Reward.

As a third fireman died yesterday from injuries received in the collision of two fire engines, each weighing nine tons, answering a "false alarm," at Division and Larrabee streets Sunday nights, wheels began to whirr in a drive for a relief fund for the families of the victims and in the hunt to apprehend the miscreant who turned in the false alarm.

JOHN F. CULLERTON.

The third death was that of William Gelis, driver of engine company No. 14, who suffered internal injuries and skull fracture when the machines, costing $26,000, came together. Gelis died at the Henrotin hospital. Seven other firemen were injured.

Two More May Die.

According to John F. Cullerton, business manager of the department, the death list may be swelled to five, as the condition of Lieut. Frank Hawley and Fireman Clarence Burke is serious.

Albert W. Goodrich, fire fan of years' standing, and Eugene R. Pike, former city controller, jointly offered a reward of $1,000 yesterday for the arrest and conviction of the "joker" who turned in the false alarm. Four suspects are held at the Hudson avenue station.

At the Chicago avenue station Michael McCarrick, 1126 Chatham court, and Joseph Lozzara, 1213 Vine street, were also held for possible identification.

This was followed by the announcement of Ald. Edward R. Armitage, chairman of the council fire committee, that he will ask the council at this morning's session to increase the reward to $2,500.

EUGENE R. PIKE.

Ald. Armitage's resolution will also urge Mayor Thompson to appoint a committee of citizens and officials to receive contributions from the public for the widows and children of the three firemen "killed in action."

Goal Is $15,000.

Mr. Cullerton started the fund with a $1,000 contribution from the Fireman's Mutual Aid association. The goal is $15,000—$5,000 each for the families of Fireman Gelis, Fireman Patrick Dixon, and Lieut. Albert Little. Tais means public contributions totaling $14,000.

"I believe the public will be glad to give $15,000," Mr. Cullerton said. "The three firemen left widows and children and their families lived from hand to mouth on the $2,000 a year received from the city.

"Little and Gelis were members of the firemen's aid association, from which their families will receive $2,000. Dixon was not a member, but as president of the association I have decided to turn $2,000 over to his family just the same. I believe the firemen will stand behind me in that action."

The present penalty for turning in a false alarm "just to see the engines run" is a year in jail and a $100 fine.

False alarms cost the lives of six firemen in 1921.

21 False Alarms Already.

In the first forty-two hours of 1922 the department responded to twenty-one false alarms. From Dec. 22 to Jan. 1, there were sixteen false alarms in the fire district in which the tragic accident occurred.

"My resolution will call for the consideration of a law which will make possible the imposition of a penalty of such severity that the false alarms will be viewed by the practical joker with as much seriousness as it is now feared by the firemen," Ald. Armitage said.

Under a law passed at the last session of the legislature the city is empowered to insure the lives of firemen and policemen for $5,000 each and it is probable that the council finance committee, now considering the subject of such insurance, will include the Little, Gelis and Dixon families by dating their insurance from Jan. 1, if that is legally possible.

Another Dies by Auto.

The death and the serious injury of a woman were reported yesterday as the result of two automobile accidents.

Alexander Gerrie, 59, 5812 Michigan avenue, died yesterday morning in Washington Park hospital. He was struck by an automobile Dec. 22.

EVANSTON SPENT $5.94 PER CAPITA OVER ITS INCOME

Washington, D. C., Jan. 2.—[Special.]—The department of commerce announces that the costs of government for the city of Evanston, Ill., for the fiscal year ending Dec. 31, 1920, amounted to $1,595,166, which was a per capita cost of $42.13. The per capita costs for 1920 consists of expenses of general departments, $29.47; expenses of public service enterprises, $3.25; payments for interest, $1.49; and for outlays, $8.91. The total revenue receipts in 1920 were $1,370,138, or $36.19 per capita. For the fiscal year the per capita excess of governmental costs over revenue receipts was, therefore, $5.94.

"THE BAT" is gone; long live "The Nightcap"! If your memory holds a nosegay for the erstwhile proceedings at Cohan's Grand, solace awaits you in the current excitements at the Playhouse.

The two melodramas were cut from the same piece.

There need be no famine in thrills while this lively fabrication of Messrs. Bolton and Marcin remains on Michigan avenue. It is a jocund wave of crime, replete with sinister circumstances. Only one man is killed, but there are many shots in the dark, much keening of an eery wind in the rafters, mysterious comings and goings, hidden identities, lurking perils, police, detectives, and a bank robbery.

There is a touch of "The Tavern" about it, too—moments when you wonder if the authors are making fun of you. No doubt they are, but it is genial kidding and were best disregarded. You will have a better time if you approach "The Nightcap" in a credulous mood.

Here you have Jerome Patrick, blonde, handsome, and a bank president, wishing to die because he has misappropriated a matter of $600,000. Suicide will not do, since it would invalidate his life insurance policies. So he summons his bank directors to a house party and invites them to arrange his murder. For their convenience he has provided an automatic pistol equipped with a spotlight which makes it impossible to miss. For their convenience, too, he enlists the services of his butler, whom he discovers providentially to be a thoroughgoing crook, more than willing to turn a dishonest penny.

Having thus paved the way for his demise, Mr. Patrick marries his ward, a forthright and engaging young woman in the person of Miss Flora Sheffield. But he is beloved by the vivid Miss Elizabeth Risdon, and it is Miss Risdon's husband who complicates things by being shot to death on the lady's balcony at midnight, with Mr. Patrick unfortunately present.

I shall not, of course, tell you how the murderer is discovered, or how Mr. Patrick regains his desire to live. It is an intricate and intriguing chain of events, relieved by frequent farcical interludes which are contributed chiefly by John Daly Murphy and Jack Raffael, the one as a drolly sententious crêpe hanger and the other as an amusingly inebriated coward.

LAUDER, "LILIOM" COMING.

Various impending changes in the theaters were made known yesterday. To the Great Northern on Jan. 23 comes the perennial Scotch entertainer, Sir Harry Lauder, to fill in a week between the departure of Mr. Sothern and Miss Marlowe and the arrival of Mr. Griffith's picture version of "The Two Orphans." At the Princess on Feb. 5 Miss Anglin and "The Woman of Bronze" will be followed by Franz Molnar's curious play, "Liliom," with Miss Eva Le Gallienne in the rôle she has been playing in the east and Henry Hull replacing Joseph Schildkraut as the chief masculine figure. Miss Rambeau and "Daddy's Gone a-Hunting" will leave the La Salle at the same time, making way for "The Rose Girl," something musical in which the proceedings are dominated by Fred Hildebrand, a whimsical comic whom you saw in the original production of "Take It from Me."

SOVIETS STIR UP A FUSS AT LOCAL RELIEF MEETING

Czar's Flag and Wilson "Booed."

Old and new Russia clashed in Chicago yesterday in a bloodless battle in which cheers, hisses, and boos took the place of bullets and bayonets.

SENATOR JOSEPH I. FRANCE.

Orchestra hall, where a meeting was being held under the auspices of the American committee for Russian relief, was the battleground. Bishop Samuel Fallows was the presiding officer at the meeting, which was addressed by Senator Joseph I. France of Maryland, Mrs. Margaret E. Harrison of Baltimore, who spent eighteen months in a soviet prison, and E. J. McBride.

The strife between the two factions of Russians started before the meeting itself opened or the chairman had taken his place. It was caused when thirty young men and women of the local Russian church appeared on the stage, dressed in the costumes of old Russia and carrying the flag of the Russia of the czars.

Flag Starts Things.

As the flag made its appearance there came a storm of hisses and boos and but a few faint cheers. The majority of those in the audience, not familiar with the change in the flags of Russia, did not know what it was about.

Quiet was soon restored, but feeling was still running high. The mention of the name of former President Wilson was the signal for a renewed outburst of hissing and booing.

Finally an emboldened disciple of Lenin arose and proposed: "Three cheers for soviet Russia."

They were given, but a minute later some one in the front of the hall arose and called for "Three cheers for the government of the United States."

The response evidently convinced the soviets that they were greatly in the minority and there was no further disturbance.

Asks Inquiry for Soviet.

Senator France in his speech intimated that the soviet government had not been given fair treatment. He proposed that the United States government should send a commission to Russia to make an investigation of the soviet régime. He declared much misinformation had been circulated concerning the "red" rule. The senator has recently returned from a trip through Russia.

Mr. McBride was more pronounced in his praise of the soviet government. He assailed former President Wilson for failing to recognize the soviet government in spite of his pronounced sympathy with the principle of self-determination.

About $2,600 for Russian relief was raised at the meeting.

FEAR ROBBERS HAVE SLAIN MAN AFTER HOLDUP

Belief that Charles Schultz, paper box manufacturer, who disappeared Thursday night after leaving the Elks club, 174 West Washington street, had either committed suicide or been robbed and then slain, was expressed by the police yesterday following the finding of his overcoat at the foot of Fullerton avenue. Schultz was carrying $3,700 When he left the club he said he was going to his home at 2631 North Mozart street. He has a wife and two children.

PLANTERS HOTEL SOLD; PURCHASE PRICE $250,000

The Planters hotel, 13-19 North Clark street, changed owners yesterday. The purchaser was Erwin L. Wenzel, principal owner of the Washington hotel, 167-169 West Washington street. Sylvanus George Levy was Mr. Wenzel's attorney. T. F. McDermott, 163 West Washington street, acted as broker for both parties. The sale price, including furnishings, good will, and personal property, approximated $250,000.

Senators May Attend Reception to R. R. Levy

Robert R. Levy, who was sworn in as United States marshal last Saturday, will take possession of his offices in the federal building today. A committee of his friends has arranged a reception there at 2 o'clock this afternoon. It is expected United States Senators McKinley and McCormick will be present.

Blue Ribbon Fiction

THE VENGEANCE OF HENRY JARROMAN

BY ROY VICKERS

Blue Ribbon Fiction

INSTALLMENT I.

JARROMAN IS FREED.

"One-nine-three, Henry Jarroman, forty-eight, sentenced to death, Central Criminal Court, November first, nineteen hundred, for the murder of Charles Eddis, commuted to penal servitude for life, to be released by routine order C.72. Received here for discharge, third ultimo. Advance, Jarroman."

As the police clerk finished his routine statement with the sharp demand, a man stepped out of the line of some half dozen convicts who, brought up from Dartmoor the night before, were awaiting their discharge from this London police court.

The superintendent in charge looked up with something that might almost have been interest. A man who had served twenty years penal servitude was a rarity. That a man should have sprung from the educated classes, that he should have forfeited his automatic reductions of sentence, and made no fewer than three abortive attempts to break prison, was another unusual feature. Moreover, a whisper of the gossip of the guard who had brought him from Dartmoor had reached the superintendent's ears—whispers of a strange turn of fortune's wheel.

"You are a free man. You can go."

He glanced at the man's face and nodded to himself. It was not the face of the regular convict, nor yet the face of the gentleman crook. The man had availed himself of the privilege now granted in the later months of a long confinement to grow a beard. A trimmed tuft of iron-gray concealed the lower part of his face and threw into sharp relief the high, ascetic cheekbones. The wide set, heavily lidded eyes ignored his surroundings and unexpectedly made the superintendent feel small. It was as if twenty years in prison had not robbed the man of a sense of intellectual superiority to those about him.

There was something else in the eyes, too. They showed no trace of the emotion that would be expected in a man from whom the fetters of twenty years were being unlocked. That would have been understandable enough—men were often crushed beyond the power of acute feeling; but then their eyes always showed listlessness. The eyes of 193, Henry Jarroman, showed fixity of purpose. His expression was that of a man who is submitting to a momentary interruption of an important task.

"Sign here, Jarroman," said the superintendent, handing him a paper. "This is your discharge."

The ex-convict took the pen and signed without the faintest trace of unsteadiness. To the questions asked him before his discharge was handed to him, the man answered laconically. At last all formalities were completed.

With the leisured, unhurried step that came of long years of marching, Jarroman left the room. In the corridor outside the man on duty stopped him.

"There's a gentleman come to fetch yer, a Mr. Theed. You'd better come along o' me and I'll take yer to 'im."

Down the corridor the couple passed and stopped at a door labeled "Waiting Room."

"You'll find your pal in there. No need to knock on the door, you're a free man now."

Jarroman opened the door. There was a single occupant of the room, a man of about his own age. He was fleshy and too well fed. He had watery eyes that seemed perpetually to be on the verge of weeping for the sorrows of humanity. The other features of his face, in spite of their fleshiness, gave an odd suggestion of piety, and his voice as he spoke was unctuously sentimental.

"Jarroman, my poor, dear friend. At last! At last!"

Jarroman was taken aback as he felt his hand being pressed. He had the impression that the man who was greeting him was about to weep. Moreover, in spite of his iron self-control, he was undeniably startled and momentarily impressed by the other's silk hat, frock coat, and dove waistcoat. He had to tell himself that this was Theed, the struggling young solicitor who had prepared his defense—and bungled it—twenty years ago.

"You are Theed, aren't you? I should not have known you," he said with a curtness that might have jarred the other's feelings.

"Of course, not! Of course, not!" said Theed. "The hand of time has been laid upon us both, my dear Jarroman. But I should have known you at once. You will never, never persuade me that you are not your real self in spite of the suffering which I dare not even think about. But we must have a long, long talk, my dear Jarroman." His voice took on a pained look as he added:

"I wonder—ah—er—that is—may I ask whether the authorities have given you to understand that the—er—ah—preceedings are at an end?"

Jarroman nearly missed his meaning. He had not heard that kind of conversation for twenty years.

"Yes," he said abruptly, "I am free."

Theed opened the door of the waiting room, and, linking his arm in that of the ex-convict, led him proudly past the men on duty at the gate.

A smart tourist car was waiting by the pavement. The chauffeur saluted as Theed and his companion appeared. Theed opened the door and followed Jarroman into the car, which glided through North London to Regent's Park, the chauffeur having received orders to drive to Theed's office by a circuitous route through the West End.

Theed had expected Jarroman to be impressed by the car. The motor, he had remembered, had been in its infancy when Jarroman had received his sentence. It was probably the first time he had ever driven in one. All the same, Jarroman seemed to take it for granted. He was as unimpressed by the car as by the crowded streets, and later the wooded beauty of the park. Theed hastened to supply the deficiency.

"Ah! It's good to drive through London again, eh, Jarroman?" he remarked.

"It's better than walking, I suppose," replied Jarroman. "Are we on our way to your office?"

"We shall arrive there eventually," said Theed. "I thought you would first like to have a look about you. Things must have changed so much since—it happened. See how many motors there are on the streets. At any time an airplane—a flying machine, you know—may appear above our heads. And then, of course, the war has done much."

"The war!" echoed Jarroman. "O, yes! We heard there was a war. It was against Germany, wasn't it? I suppose we won?"

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Question.

Will the present year see either wages or prices reduced to the pre-war level?

Where Asked.

Clark and Madison streets.

The Answers.

Howard Moss, 1136 Morse avenue, motion picture promoter—I doubt if the year 1922 will see any great reduction in prices, although wages will be reduced all along the line. I think we are making good progress toward normalcy, but it will take more than this year to accomplish it.

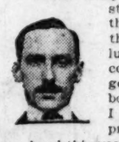

Harry Lantz, Cherry Valley, Ill., farmer—I believe wages for farm help are about the same as they were before the war. Farm labor is not hard to get. Our prices will be about a third less than what we received in 1921. We are getting to a pre-war level generally.

Myrtle Reilly, 2615 Emerald avenue, switchboard operator—Yes, I think the year will see reductions in both wages and prices. I have noticed a steady tendency to reduce the price of women's wearing apparel. However rents do not seem to be coming down with a rush.

Norman Alley, 3328 West Adams street, salesman—With the exception of certain things, such as rents, luxuries, and shoes, the coming year will see general reductions in both wages and prices. I look for foodstuff prices to reach a pre-war level this year.

C. R. Clark, 314 West 73d street, salesman—Good shoes, rents, and some foodstuffs are high in price, but I think they will decline gradually until the pre-war level is reached, although this will extend beyond the year 1922. Wages will come down, but pre-war conditions ought to exist before they do.

Pennsylvania Injunction Case Before Landis Today

Hearing on the temporary injunction granted the Pennsylvania railway several weeks ago against the United States railroad labor board is scheduled today before Federal Judge Landis. The open shop issue is involved. The injunction restrained the labor board from issuing a decision rebuking the carrier for failure to comply with an order in the shop crafts dispute.

HOPES AND FEARS LEAD 'FIFI' IN TREK TO FROZEN NORTH

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Three Rivers, Que., Jan. 2.—[Special.]—Mrs. "Fifi" Stillman, restored to energy and hope by the aid of Jean Crete, her chief defender in the St. Maurice valley, came near wreck in the last phase of her divorce action again today when news of a fire in Crete's house at Grandes Piles reached her here.

She had escaped disaster, or what looked like disaster, Sunday night when Jean Crete, the mayor of Grandes Piles, arrived at Quebec with positive information from most of the French-Canadian witnesses that they would testify at Montreal in the divorce hearing starting Jan. 11.

More important, perhaps, than Crete's ability to gather the witnesses was his possession of the records vital in the case of records which establish the dates of Mrs. Stillman's trips in the valley, and are said to establish the falsity of some evidence offered against her. These records were in the safe of Crete's house at Grandes Piles on the St. Maurice river.

Travels North with "Bud."

This morning, fired with the new hope Crete brought, Mrs. Stillman embarked on the first lap of her journey into the river country. With "Bud," her son, who accompanied her, and with Philip O'Brien, her only attorney here, she took the early train to Three Rivers, at the southern tip of the frozen valley.

Within a half hour of her arrival at Three Rivers, Jean Crete, who was with her, received the telephone message from Grandes Piles that his house was burning. No further information was available at the time.

The news threw the party into complete confusion. The records were in the burning house. When reassuring messages from Crete's wife arrived, telling him the flames were under control of volunteer firemen and the danger was past, the party was restored to some calm.

Mr. Crete bundled the entire party off to Grandes Piles on the first train. Mrs. Stillman will make Crete's house her headquarters for a day or two.

Tries in Vain to See Girls.

Her mission here called for the examination of three witnesses, Annie, May, and Tina Wilson, halfbreed waitresses in the Hotel St. Louis, a small hostelry, and former maids in Mrs. Stillman's camp.

They were expected by Mr. Brennan and Mr. Mack, Mrs. Stillman's chief advisers, to testify that they had been approached by bribes from agents of Mr. Stillman, who, it is alleged, attempted to get them to say they had observed intimacy between "Madame" and her Indian guide.

Mrs. Stillman went to the Hotel St. Louis to see the girls. Annie was sick in the hospital, the manager said, and May and Tina were visiting her this afternoon. She could not get to the hospital, and she was not permitted to see the waitresses at the hospital.

Grandes Piles, which Mrs. Stillman will reach tonight, is the last railroad station up the valley. From there on her trail will lead through the white winter of the north by sleigh, sled, or any other means the woods people find possible.

"Affaire de Madame."

The valley's excitement over the Stillman case, known as the "affaire Stillman, or the "affaire de madame," took form today in a rumor that James A. Stillman was in Three Rivers. Madame received the report from three supposedly reliable agents in Quebec last night, but discounted it as absurd.

"Do you suppose 20 below is Mr. Stillman's notion of ideal winter weather?" she asked in amusement. "If I saw him myself I would not believe it."

The atmosphere of intrigue which surrounds Mrs. Stillman's last and most desperate fight is such that any rumor gains some credence. Examination of the hotel registers, for example, shows that in each place she has stopped there have been three men from New York, registering under the same name each time, and unknown to any member of the party or to any newspaper man.

Mystery of the Spies.

Whether agents of the other side are totally absent, or whether the valley is honeycombed with them, it has become apparent to all members of the party that "madame's" difficulties in the journey will be innumerable. Everywhere the trail leads, the people of the woods speak glowingly of "madame," her charity, her beauty, and her graciousness.

But when the same people are asked for actual information they grow silent or protest their ignorance. The salvation of the trip today, as yesterday, seemed to Mrs. Stillman herself to be in the hands of Jean Crete.

HEARING ON GAS RATES WILL BE RESUMED TODAY

The gas rate hearing before the Illinois commerce commission will be resumed this morning. The company in its brief, which it will file, asks that the present rate be continued.

Its principal contention is for a rate which will permit the stockholders to recoup dividend losses of 1918, 1919, and 1920 to the extent of $12,109,374. By that amount the company failed to earn 7½ per cent on its $85,000,000 valuation.

The state commission fixed the rate and the rate was too low to permit the earnings.

OBREGON PUSHES SCHOOLS INTO DARKEST STATES

Militant Education Born in Mexico in 1922.

BY J. H. CORNYN.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1921: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Mexico City, Jan. 2.—While the director of state education and the governor of the state of Vera Cruz are planning to suppress the government colleges and institutions of higher learning throughout that state, the federal government has countermated by announcing that it has decided to establish a college in Orizaba during the first two months of this new year.

This proposed college, which will be under federal control, will pay special attention to industrial chemistry and the industrial arts. A like college is to be opened in Monterey, where the state governor has shown himself slow in advancing higher education along practical lines.

Policy of Government.

The federal government has laid down the policy that it has no right nor authority to coerce the states, even in the matter of popular education, but it has just as emphatically stated that education must receive careful attention throughout the country and that, for this reason, wherever the states cannot or will not supply the proper schools the federal department of public education will proceed to do so. Moreover, such schools shall remain under the direction of the central department of public education.

Another step in this direction is the proposed southeastern university which is shortly to be established in Yucatan. The government of the latter state, however, welcomes this step on the part of the federation.

Insure Pupils' Health.

The greater part of the students in the primary, high, and superior schools come of poor families, and some of them have not the means to buy books. So books are purchased for them at the government expense. This custom dates back to the Diaz regime.

Now, however, the department of education plans to insure the health of the students. To this end a medical consultation office, with well known doctors and physicians in attendance, is to be established in each one of the eight wards of Mexico City. These medical departments, in addition to looking after the sanitary conditions of the schools, school grounds, and students, will give attention to individual students at the medical office.

Schools for Remote Places.

The 1922 budget for education in the district of Lower California is the largest ever appropriated for that purpose in the peninsula by the federal government. The northern half of Lower California contains only 23,000 inhabitants, of which perhaps one-fifth, or less than 5,000, are within the school age. The educational budget approved by the President provides for the expenditure of 628,000 pesos, or an average of 130 pesos per pupil, while former expenditures were as low as 30 pesos per pupil.

The report of the head of the free library department of the federal department of public education, just issued, shows established throughout Mexico last year 270 free libraries: Public libraries, 103; workingmen's libraries, 79; students' reference libraries, 52; circulating libraries, 5; general libraries, 32.

ALASKA'S MINERAL PRODUCTION LOWER IN 1921 THAN 1920

Washington, D. C., Jan. 2.—Alaska's mineral production during 1921, according to preliminary estimates made public today by the geological survey, was valued at $16,100,000, compared with $23,303,757 the previous year.

The decrease is accounted for by a loss of about $6,000,000 in the value of copper mined, $573,000 loss in silver; $100,000 in lead; $155,000 in platinum, and $120,000 in petroleum.

The practical completion of the Alaska railroad, the report said, was the most important event of the year to the territory mining industry.

WIFE, BEATEN FOR GIVING CHILDREN MILK, FILES SUIT

Aurora, Ill., Jan. 2.—[Special.]—Because she gave her three children milk in their coffee instead of serving it black her husband beat her with a razor strop, so Mrs. Sophia Pilka, 29 years old, yesterday asked Judge Edward Mangan to give her a divorce.

Mrs. Pilka said she made more than $4,000 for her husband in fourteen years by washing and ironing and could have made more, but she ran a boarding house for six years.

"My husband got me most of my boarders," she said. "He and I together put more than $11,000 in the bank, but he got angry when I gave the children milk to drink and when I sassed him he whipped me with a razor strop."

Mrs. Pilka did not explain how her husband hade made $7,000 that went into the bank with her earnings, but federal revenue officers who seek to collect a tax of $2,200 from him on alleged illegal sales of liquor said they had an idea.

Policeman Catches Two Trying to Rob a Safe

Policeman H. T. Shanley of the Chicago avenue station caught two men breaking into a safe in the Wyman cafeteria, 721 North Clark street, early yesterday morning, forced one to drop his revolver, and locked them both up. They gave their names as James Langadori and Ernest Neisch. The latter, the police say, has served terms in the bridewell and in the St. Cloud (Minn.) penitentiary.

Dies After Fall Into Tub of Hot Water in His Home

Clarence Herbert, 28 years old, 4020 West 25th place, died yesterday from injuries received Christmas day, when he slipped and fell into a bathtub filled with boiling water in the home of his sister, Mrs. Mary Lindstrom, 1853 South 51st avenue, Cicero. His wife was badly scalded pulling him out of the tub, but physicians say she will recover.

MEN AND WOMEN FIGHT CLUB FIRE IN WESTCHESTER

New York, Jan. 2.—[Special.]—Fanned by a northwestern gale, fire destroyed the historic Westchester Country club today. The firemen with their eight engines were helpless, as the nearest city water hydrant was three-quarters of a mile from the clubhouse.

Before the firemen arrived, wealthy men and women, members and guests of the club, formed bucket brigades and fought the fire.

Through the bravery of the women guests many of the valuable pieces of antique furniture, tapestries, and paintings on the main floor of the clubhouse were carried to the lawn.

The Westchester Country club is one of the oldest and most exclusive of its kind in the United States, numbering on its roll the Vanderbilts, Mackays, Potters, and others of the "400."

The club was organized in Pelham in 1876, and the clubhouse which was destroyed today was built in 1888.

Learn the Value of GAS SERVICE

GAS SERVICE is not the mere selling of gas. It is far more than that. It is the pledge of a responsible organization that your industrial gas requirements will be met in any volume—at any time—in any place.

Gas Service insures you a flexible factory fuel delivered at your burners, without any charge for hauling or handling. You have no money tied up in its storage; no fuel contracts demanding fulfillment; no fuel shortage to worry over.

Gas Service is your protection of your production. You have one responsible organization to deal with instead of several. When using coal, the dealer, the jobber, the mine owner, each represent a human hazard to the continuous and successful operation of your business. Each of these three is dependent on the other and they, in turn, are all dependent on the man with pick and lamp in the mines.

You Can Do It Better with Gas

In Chicago alone, 23,417 industries are using Gas Service. The proof of Gas Service efficiency is improved production. Our staff of competent engineers is available to aid you in the application of Gas Service to your factory or shop.

There is no strength in the mad rush of crowded hours. Strength lies in controlled activity and in the good use of every given moment.

THE CHILDREN AND GEORGE WASHINGTON

More Entries in the Race for $11,650 in The Tribune's Prizes for School Children and Teachers.

Patience Seemed Inexhaustible.

Washington had a character that all Americans, young and old, should respect and remember. He loved peace, yet in war he did great things. He was one of the most honest men ever recorded in history. His cheerfulness kept many men from becoming discouraged in the war for independence. When everything seemed dark and hopeless he looked to the bright side of things. He had the ability to accomplish great tasks, and when he set out to do a thing he always succeeded.

His patience seemed to be inexhaustible. He had courage—that most wonderful quality which enabled him to lead his soldiers to success in the war that made us free. He was truthful, and a man who is truthful is one who may be honored, although his name does not appear in history as does Washington's. He had a patriotic spirit—the spirit that all Americans should have! Is it any wonder that Washington, with his splendid character, achieved what he did? If a man has honesty, truthfulness, kindness, patience, ability, perseverance, cheerfulness, courage, and a patriotic spirit such as he had don't you think he can accomplish something worth while?

Gave Up Luxury.

George Washington was called "The father of his country" and also "The greatest American."

Every child grows up with a great love and reverence for him, and wishes to be like him.

When he was a child himself he showed many of the traits which afterwards made him a great man. He was truthful, brave, kind, and just. His home training also fitted him to be a wise leader.

When our country needed him he gave up a life of ease and luxury to face the most terrible hardships. His patience in enduring them was a great example to the other soldiers.

After he had led his armies to victory and freed us from England he showed his unselfishness by declining to be made king. He wanted the people to govern themselves, and this country to always be a refuge to those who wished to live in peace and freedom.

Had we not had him when we needed him there might not have been the United States, which means so much to us.

MITCHELL CALLS OFF LEONARD GO; HAS A LAME ARM

BY FRANK SMITH.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 2.—[Special.]—The Bennie Leonard-Pinkie Mitchell fight scheduled for this afternoon was canceled after the fighters weighed in this morning, when an examination by the commissioners of Mitchell disclosed an attack of neuritis in the challenger's left shoulder.

PINKIE MITCHELL. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

An effort was made to reschedule the bout for Jan. 9, but this plan was dropped following a conference of Leonard's manager, Gibson, and the promoters. Leonard today signed articles to meet Johnny Dundee here Jan. 12.

The cancellation of the match at the last minute came as a shock to 3,000 ticketholders. The entire house had been sold out, and totaled $40,000.

Jolt for Chicago Fans.

The cancellation of the match came too late to prevent the attendance of 2,000 from other cities. Special trains from Chicago came in loaded down, as the battle promised to be one of the most interesting in many years.

So anxious was Leonard to box that he offered to meet any one whom the promoters might select, but the state boxing commission did not favor a substitute program, and advised postponement of the bout. Later in the day there was talk of staging a match between Leonard and Johnny Mendelsohn next Friday night, and also of having Leonard meet Mitchell at that time, providing Mitchell's arm was well again.

No Substitutes Allowed.

Both propositions fell through. No enthusiasm developed when the Leonard-Mendelsohn bout was broached and the champion stated that he did not want to remain here for another week. Although he had not signed articles at the time, he had given his verbal consent to meet Dundee here a week from Friday, for another club, and the state boxing commission ruled not to allow a boxer to engage in another bout in Wisconsin, if he boxes less than five days before the match he is signed for.

The champion was a keenly disappointed lad when the show was called off. He took a short auto ride early in the afternoon to escape the condolences of his friends, and later stayed in his room.

Leonard Refuses Forfeit.

Leonard refused to take Mitchell's $1,000 forfeit or accept the expense money from the promoters, but he said he thought Mitchell might have given an indication of his condition to the promoters in time so a substitute could have been obtained.

The champion weighed in at 137½ pounds.

Mitchell went to his home after weighing in and refused to see friends. It was the big chance of Pinkie's lifetime, and it hurt him to have to pass it up. There is a possibility that the bout may be put on later in the season.

IN THIS CORENR, MLLE. JEANNE, IN THAT, MISS ADELE

Boston, Mass., Jan. 2.—[United News.]—Will somebody please page Miss Jeanne Le Mar, who recently arrived in the United States with a challenge to any and all women pugilits?

"Miss Adele" of Boston wants to put on the gloves.

Miss Adele, as she prefers to be called, for three years has been following boxing and wrestling, not only as a participant but she has worked out at times at a local gymnasium, where several boxers in training have agreed she packs a wallop.

TENDLER EASILY BEATS ADAIR IN EIGHT ROUNDS

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 2.—Barney Adair, New York, was given a severe New Year's day ring mauling by Lew Tendler, this city, in the eight round windup at the Olympia this afternoon. Tendler did everything to Adair but knock him out. He had Adair down in the fifth for the count of nine.

Willie Jackson, New York, billed to meet Sailor Joe Kelly, this city, was unable to box, owing to bruised hands from his fuss with Johnny Dundee last week. Johnny Donnelly of Uniontown, Pa., substituted, and won in eight slow rounds.

GREB POMMELS CHICK WIGGINS IN 10 ROUND GO

Cincinnati, O., Jan. 2.—[Special.]—Harry Greb of Pittsburgh easily defeated Chuck Wiggins of Indianapolis in their ten round bout this afternoon. Greb had things all his own way throughout the milling. The bout was staged before the largest and highest priced house here.

Boxing as Varsity Sport Turned Down by W. Va.

Morgantown, W. Va., Jan. 2.—Boxing as an intercollegiate sport will not be adopted by West Virginia university this year. Contrary to the attitude of some institutions, mountaineer authorities are said to favor the sport, but think that facilities should be more adequate and that a larger number of men should be interested before the sport is put on an intercollegiate basis.

Runs 1,274 for Record in English Billiards

LONDON, Jan. 2.—T. Newman was today considered as holding a new world's record in English billiards by making a break of 1,274. The former record of 919 was made by H. W. Stevenson in 1912. Newman's former record of 844 was made in Oct., 1919.

He made his long run on Saturday night while playing against C. Falkiner, a top-liner for several years. Falkiner lost the professional championship to William Smith of Darlington, in 1920.

GASOLINE ALLEY—ONE OR T'OTHER

BY EDWARD DOHERTY.

Referee Tom Louttit declared the blow the worst foul he had ever seen delivered. It came a few seconds before the bell rang to end the first round.

"I had told both men to fight and protect themselves at all times until I told them to break," he said. "They were in a clinch in Tate's corner. I told them twice to break. Then I separated them and as they broke Wills delivered the blow."

Felled by Terrific Blow.

It was a terrific wallop. Wills leaped up and struck like lightning. Tate, 6 feet 6 inches tall, tottered and then fell, as a great chimney falls. He seemed to break in the middle. His legs slipped out and he struck on his right shoulder and hip. There was a look of surprise and chagrin, rather than pain, on his handsome, scholarly face.

Louttit reached for Tate's long right arm and raised it, the sign of victory. Wills stood looking on, wondering what it was all about. Then the bell rang and Tate and Howard stepped out of the ring and went to the dressing room.

No Verdict Given.

The crowd, a little less than 5,000 men and women, the biggest gang of fight fans that ever got into Milwaukie arena, was puzzled that there was no announcement. Nobody apparently knew what had happened. Everybody sought an explanation.

Wills sat in his corner asking his seconds what was the matter. Louttit had disappeared. Finally an announcement was made that Tate wanted to come back and finish the fight but that his manager refused to let him.

Crowd in Ugly Mood.

Tate and Howard had gone when Wills reached the dressing room, and still the crowd remained. Men and women were up on chairs, shouting, booing, calling Tate a coward, declaring the fight was a frameup. The fans were in an ugly mood.

"I'm through," said George Moore, one of the officials; "this is the last fight for me. I'm going to hold up the money, too, until the Milwaukie commission and the Portland commission, acting in an advisory capacity, makes some sort of ruling on the matter. I don't know what it's all about, myself. Some one better go in there and announce that the fight is over."

Nobody, however, wanted the job. And nobody took it. The crowd left after a time, walking into the cold rain and uttering sentiments that threaten to put the boxing game on the hummer in Portland.

Not Entitled to Meet Dempsey.

Sam Langford, well known colored heavyweight, was to fight the winner of the Tate-Wills brawl Jan. 17. But immediately after the affair the Milwaukie officials tried to find Langford, that they might tell him not to come.

As for boxing Jack Dempsey, it does not appear that either Tate or Wills now has the remotest chance. From the showing made in the ring, neither is entitled to a fight with the white man.

Tate was extremely cautious. Wills was wary, and showed little cleverness. Tate hit Wills but once, and that not very hard. Wills struck Tate a number of times, but there was only one real blow struck, and that was a wild swing.

Had it not been for the preliminaries the crowd would have demanded back its money. But the preliminaries were worth while—were, in fact, the whole show.

Prelim Scraps Are Lively.

The bill opened with Frankie Ritchie and Frankie Webb, 116 pounders, wading through the claret to a well earned draw. It was a dandy fight. Red Callahan got a decision over Battling Barnes in a four round go at 134 pounds. Muff Bronson and Willie St. Clair went to a draw in six rounds. They were 140 pounders. Freddy Anderson, 142 pounds, a brother of Bud Anderson of the old days, beat Charley Dawson in six rounds.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 2.—Marty Killilea, manager for Johnny Wilson, middleweight boxing champion, announced today that he was notifying Promoter Tex Rickard of New York that Wilson would not take part in an agreed match with Harry Greb at New York next month.

Killilea stated that Rickard made it a condition of paying Wilson the $35,000 purse which was held up after his bout with Bryan Downey at Jersey City last Labor day that Wilson agreed to meet Greb under Rickard's management of the match. Because it was on this condition only that he could obtain the money Killilea said Wilson felt no compunction about withdrawing from the match.

LYNCH PLANTS K.O. ON WALKER IN FIRST ROUND

Dugan, playing a hit and run game, had the better of the first round, but that was all.

ARNOLDS BREAK PIN RECORD ON LOCAL CIRCUIT

Although the A. H. Arnolds are only third in the standing of the Randolph Bowling league, they hold three of the circuit's records. They have an average of 1,002 6-24, which is also a world's mark for league competition; and counts of 1,065 2-3 for a three game series, and 1,134 for the best team score of the season. The Mineralites, who top the procession, have taken part in two more series than the Arnolds.

The shooting of the Arnolds has been a feature of the weekly rolling of the league, which is the classiest and the largest in the country. Nine individuals have marks better than 200, with Hank Marino leading with 211 13-39. Bill Carey is right on his heels with 211 7-21, although he has not taken part in as many games.

Oswald Carmichael has the highest individual average for three games, with 252 2-3, and Jack Shannon has the highest individual game of 280.

IN the WAKE of the NEWS

THE AFTERMATH.

"The shouting and the tumult dies,
For Yuletide days at last are o'er;
We throw a hundred boxes out
With strings and Christmas cards galore.
Our Christmas tree has shed its coat
And mixed with broken candy canes,
Our parlor rug is spoiled, I fear.
The baby's doll has had a fall,
The dolly buggy's lost a wheel—
We all are sick from chocolate creams

But as we're this way every year,
There is no cause to fume and fuss.
We gave our growing boy some skates—
He straightway fell upon the ice;
The doctor charged us fourteen bones,
But fixed his arm up wondrous nice.
So, as I said, the tumult dies,
The Christmas shouting ceases here;
But never fear, 'twill resurrect

Bill Millar.

Before we pass from the subject of Christmas let us listen to the belated paeans of joy arising from Helper J. W. D., who, "having received an automobile robe as the piece de resistance of my personal presents, it occurred to me that such a gift for the benefit of those who sit in the back seat is very appropriate for father, who drives the car from the front seat."

* *

This Helper's gift reminds us of the chap whose wife insisted on more evenings in society, so as a Christmas remembrance to her he bought himself a dress suit and trimmings. Friend Wife in the case accepted the gift gracefully and upon the occasion of this birthday soon after bought herself an opera coat as a present for him. "And his present surely was a surprise to him," she confided to us.

Several Helpers have written asking how come that observations for The Wake are held two or even three months before publication, then appear when the sender had given up hope.

This occurs frequently in "Way Back Whens," "Earlier Chicago," and "When I Was a Kid." In these popular departments we place incoming mail on the bottom of the heap, where it is reached in turn. Otherwise, with the supply exceeding the demand, some Helpers would never see their comment in print. It's the only fair way don't you think?

JOHNNY BUFF TAKES HIS TITLE TO ENGLAND

New York, Jan. 2.—Johnny Buff, holder of the American flyweight and world's bantamweight championships, will sail for England on Jan. 15 for a visit of sixteen weeks. He will be accompanied by his manager, Lew Diamond, and Jabez White, bantamweight.

JOHNNY BUFF. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Buff has not been signed for any bouts, going abroad to fulfill a theatrical contract, but Manager Diamond said that he expected the veteran Jersey boxer would be called upon to defend his world's bantamweight title before he returned.

Buff has been subject to criticism by fight followers here for leaving this country, when there are a pack of challenges directed at him by bantams and flyweights.

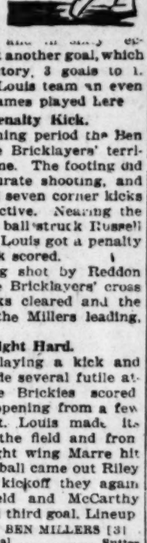

KANSAS CITY PROMOTER DIES.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 2.—William D. Scoville, 59 years old, of Kansas City, a sport promoter, died here yesterday after an illness of three weeks.

SNAPPY FINISH BY BEN MILLERS DOWNS BRICKIES

BY JOE DAVIS.

Enough excitement was crowded into the last five minutes of play in the intercity soccer match between the Ben Millers of St. Louis and Bricklayers at the latter's field yesterday, to send the spectators away warmed up after a frigid afternoon. In this brief space the Brickies, who had trailed by one goal, tied the score, but in less than two minutes the Ben Millers regained the lead and added another goal, which gave them the victory, 3 goals to 1. This gives the St. Louis team an even break on its two games played here.

Score on Penalty Kick.

Through the opening period the Ben Millers were in the Bricklayers' territory most of the time. The footing did not permit of accurate shooting, and while St. Louis had seven corner kicks they were unproductive. Nearing the end of the half the ball struck Russell on the arm and St. Louis got a penalty kick on which Hack scored.

After this a long shot by Reddon hit the front of the Bricklayers' cross piece, but the backs cleared and the end finished with the Millers leading, 1 to 0.

Visitors Fight Hard.

St. Louis was playing a kick and rush game and made several futile attacks. Finally the Brickies scored Meikle getting an opening from a few feet out. Then St. Louis made its spurt, rushing up the field and from across from the right wing Marre hit the post and as the ball came out Riley scored. From the kickoff they again rushed up the field and McCarthy counted the last and third goal. Lineup

BRICKLAYERS [1].		BEN MILLERS [3]

FARM AND GARDEN

BY FRANK RIDGWAY

DOUBLE MONEY ON CORN FED TO COWS.

IN scheming to do away with as much of the huge surplus of corn as possible before planting time this spring, farmers in Illinois, Wisconsin, and Indiana have been liberal in feeding grain to their milk cows this winter. Many general farmers who ordinarily would not sell milk have added a few extra cows to their herd of milkers this winter and are selling the surplus cream. While they are getting rid of surplus corn by feeding it to their cows, and selling milk and cream, they are also getting twice as much for their corn as they would if they sold it as grain.

In checking up on the records of hundreds of dairy cows recently, experts at the University of Illinois showed clearly that farmers can afford to feed heavily this winter, for increased milk production. Farmers can market their corn at 85 cents a bushel, hay at $24 a ton, and silage at $6 a ton by feeding these feeds to cows according to an analysis of a compilation of records of more than 500 typical cows in the Illinois dairy region.

Milk producers in the Chicago district are fortunate in having ready access to an abundance of cheap feed this winter. Corn is selling lower in this region than anywhere else, and even with the price of milk less the cost of feeding a cow has been greatly reduced.

RUTH MAY VISIT LANDIS TO ASK ABOUT PENALTY

Judge Landis, baseball commissioner, may have a caller this week in the person of Babe Ruth. The maker of home runs is headlining at the Majestic and before he departs he is anxious to learn whether or not there is a chance of having his sentence lightened so that he can play ball before May 20. If he seeks Landis he probably will learn the latter is not inclined to overlook violations of O. B. rules. Since fining and suspending Babe the Judge has given no indication of a change of heart in the case.

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

Pasadena, Cal., Jan. 2.—[Special.]—In a great battle featured by hard, vicious tackling and clever defensive play by the eastern eleven, California and Washington and Jefferson struggled to a scoreless tie today at Tournament park before a gathering of 45,000 fans.

WAYNE BRENKERT. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

It was a great battle played under adverse conditions. The heavy rain of yesterday left the field in poor shape. This condition hampered the open play of both teams, although W. and J. successfully executed one forward pass for a good gain. On the other hand the Bears attempted few passes and these failed to gain as only two were completed and both were behind the line of scrimmage.

Nisbet's Punting Saves Bears.

On straight football, W. and J. had a decided advantage, which was offset by the brilliant punting of Archie Nisbet. It really was this player's clever toe work that kept California in the game and at times compelled W. and J. to fight in the shadows of its own goal posts.

California can be justly criticized for poor work at the end of the first half. An exchange of punts, combined with a few line plunges, placed the oval on the W. and J. fifteen yard line. The captains were told there was only two seconds left to play. The ball rested directly in front of the goal posts. Instead of calling upon Irving Toomey, a reliable field goal kicker, a forward pass was ordered. It was not completed, and a golden opportunity was lost. Time was called while the ball was in the air on the pass.

Pass Again Fails California.

Again in the fourth period, with only three minutes to play, W. and J. was against its goal line through the excellent punting of Nisbet. W. and J. immediately elected to punt, but Wayne Brenkert, who played a stellar game at half for the eastern eleven, punted out of bounds on his twenty-three yard line. California tried two straight plays with little gain, and then the forward pass was employed. The toss was intercepted by Brenkert, one of the best players of the day, and another great scoring opportunity for the Bears was lost.

In attempting to execute a trick play at the beginning of the second half W. and J. nearly got into serious trouble. California kicked off and under such conditions all players are onside. The ball was kicked high and the Bears tore down under it with great speed. The player designated by W. and J. to catch the oval failed to get under it and it struck the ground. Brenkert, however, finally recovered it after a great lunge.

Muller a Marked Man.

This piece of poor work put the W. and J. team in a bad predicament. The ball rested in the watery part of the field and Brenkert finally kicked it to midfield. California was practically helpless, and Nisbet punted over the goal line for a touchback.

Harold "Brick" Muller, the forward passing ace of the Bears, did not start the game. He was sent forth in the second period, but was a marked man throughout the contest. He was helpless in his attempts to hurl the ball.

Coach Earl "Greasy" Neale, of the eastern eleven employed a great defense in stopping the Bears from going down the field to cover punts. The W. and J. ends played wide enough so that they had the opposing ends and kicker in the same line of vision. As soon as they were sure the ball was to be punted the W. and J. ends hit the California flank players from one side and the defensive half back from the other. In other words, the Bears were pinched and unable to get down the field.

Offside Costs W. and J. Touchdown.

Early in the first quarter, after W. and J. had marched down the field, Brenkert broke loose off California's right tackle and ran thirty-five yards for a touchdown. His change of pace was pleasing to watch, but unfortunately a teammate was offside when the play started and the ball called back and the eastern eleven penalized five yards. It was a tough break, but W. and J. took it philosophically.

W. and J.'s eagerness to cross the line nearly brought defeat. With twelve yards to gain on a third down, a forward pass was started. Irving Toomey, the California back, leaped for the oval and pulled it down. He then started down what appeared to be a clear field. The Bears' back, however, under the excitement of the moment cut back toward the center of the field and ran right into the open arms of the desperate W. and J. players. They brought him down with a thud. Had he shot out toward the side of the field, chances are he would have gone for a score.

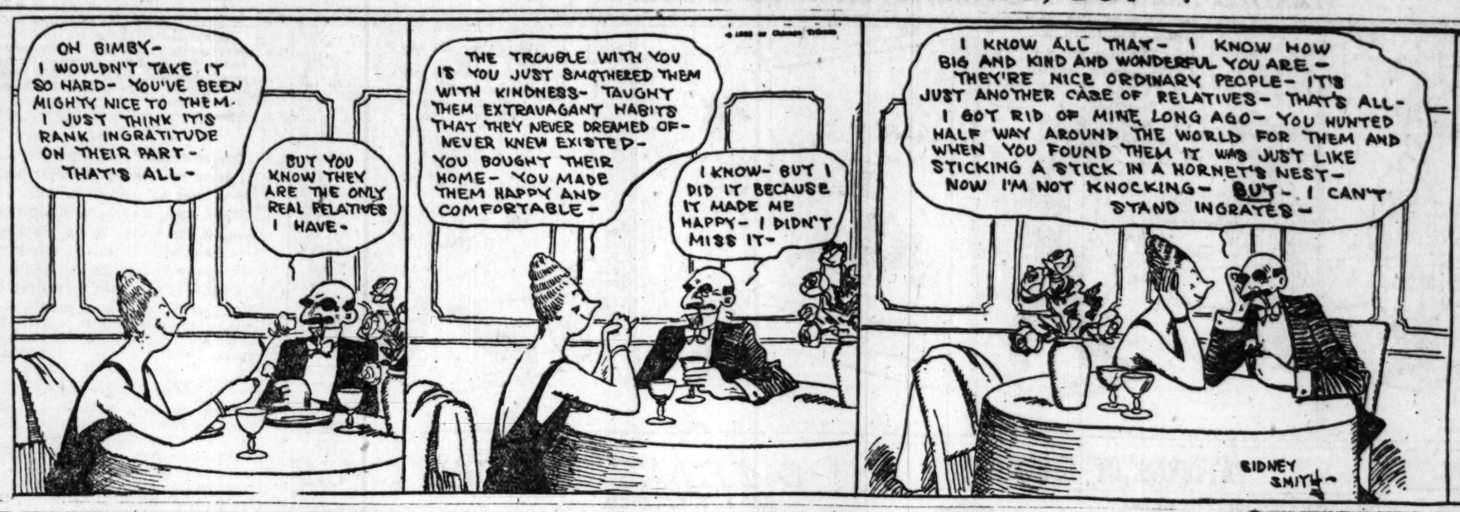

Stein Tries Place Kicks.

The eastern eleven took desperate chances to swing the tide. In the final quarter, Captain Stein tried to place a kick from the 45 yard line but the attempt was wide. A little later he tried another from the 38 yard mark. This attempt was blocked.

As the game was played, W. and J. had the advantage in ground gained and its defense was superior to that of the Bears. The eastern team made seven first downs against two for California. Coach Neale's eleven also executed the only forward pass of consequence. It was a toss, Brenkert to Kopf, which netted 22 yards.

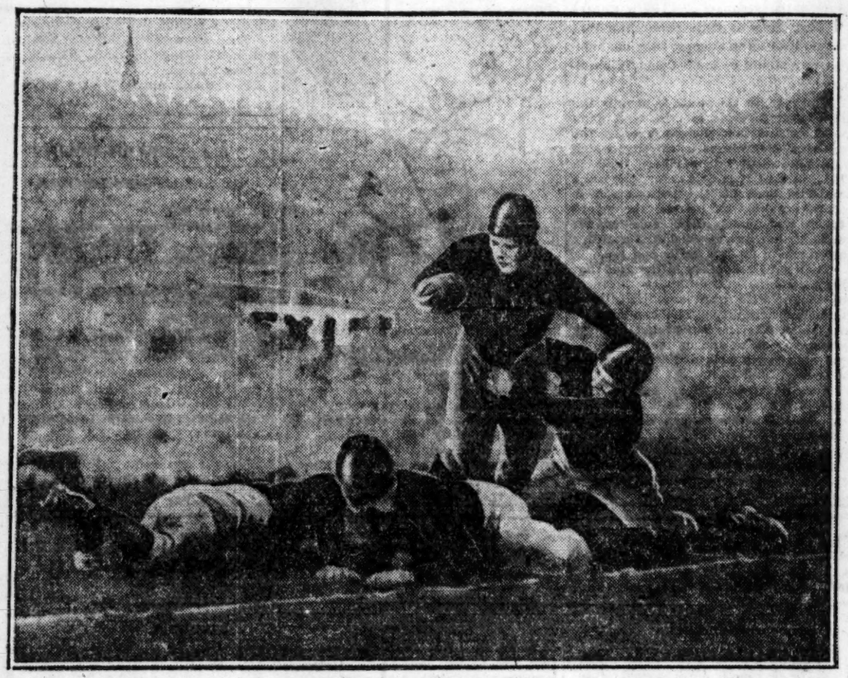

It was a much better battle than the one of a year ago between California and Ohio State.

TELEGRAPHIC PICTURE OF GAME

IN the fourth quarter Erickson of W. and J. took a California punt and started to run it back, but Stephens of the Bears is tackling him on W. and J. 35 yard line. One California tackler is seen on the left, spilled by the interference, with a W. and J. man in the foreground.

This picture was received by telegraph from Los Angeles by means of an instrument known as the telephotograver, which is based upon the same principle as that employed by The Tribune in receiving pictures by wire of the Dempsey-Carpentier fight in Jersey City, July, 3, 1921.

The picture was started over the wire from the Los Angeles Times at 7:15 p. m., Chicago time, and four hours later was completed in The Tribune art room. The fastest train service between the cities occupies four days.

Dallas, Tex., Jan. 2.—One of the biggest upsets of the football season occurred today when Centre college, conqueror of Harvard and rated as the champion of the south, went down before Texas Agricultural and Mechanical college, the battling representatives of the Southern conference here. The score was 22 to 14.

"RED" ROBERTS. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

The Texas team took the lead within the first three minutes of play, when Bartlett of Centre was downed behind his own goal line by Wilson of the Aggies for a safety. The Texans, generally predicted to lose by at least twenty points, battled every minute of the four strenuous periods and at times displayed a drive and determination that literally swept the Colonels off their feet.

Score in Third Quarter.

Entering the third period with the score still 2 to 0 against them after they had been twice halted in the shadow of the Texans' goal posts in the second period, the Colonels recovered an Aggie fumble and Snoddy scored their first touchdown.

Shortly after the kickoff Miller of the Texans made an unexpected pass to Evans, who raced 30 yards to a touchdown, and McMillan, subbing for Morris, kicked goal, making the score 9 to 7 in favor of the Texans.

From then on A. and M. held the advantage, turning back the Colonels in every style of play. In the third period with the ball on Centre's 30 yard line Wilson circled right end for another A. and M. touchdown and McMillan again kicked goal. The final period witnessed the last Texas score when "Bo" McMillan of Centre, after being tackled behind the line, made a blind pass. Winn intercepted for A. and M. and raced 40 yards across the Centre goal.

Centre Battles Hard.

The Colonels exhibited their last flicker of offensive strength in the closing minutes of play when a neat double forward pass, McMillin to Covington to Snoddy, followed by Roberts' goal kick brought their score up to 14.

Red Roberts, all-American end, and "Bo" McMillin, famous quarter, playing his last game under the eyes of his bride of a few hours, were targets for the Aggie defense throughout and gave only a mediocre performance. Snoddy Covington and Gordy were the Colonel's outstanding players. For Texas A. and M. Wilson at left end must be regarded as the Aggies' chief hero.

Approximately 12,000 persons watched the game. When the referee sounded the last whistle enthusiastic admirers rushed onto the field and carried the Texas players away on their shoulders.

MORE NOTES ON OUTDOOR TRAGEDIES.

ACCORDING to E. F. Steinhauer of Vandalia, Illinois goldfinches are not the only birds that become entangled in clusters of burdocks and become unable to free themselves. E. F. writes us that he has a specimen of a ruby-throated humming bird which suffered the fate of the goldfinch, which was told in these columns recently.

The pretty little "hummer" was found with wings spread just as it died on a cluster of burdock burrs. We imagine that such a small bird had even less a chance of getting free than the goldfinch.

As an example of accidents that sometimes befall the hawks, Mr. Steinhauer tells us about a sharp-shinned hawk which he removed from the front of an express train engine. In some manner this bird had flown against the front of the speeding engine and one wing had gotten caught. During the spring and fall migrations many birds are killed at night by flying against engines. Apparently they are dazzled by the big headlight of the engine and dash against the speeding train.

Austin-Columbia A. A. Wins Ice Derby of Norwegian Club

BY FRANK SCHREIBER.

Winning three events and placing second in one, skaters of the Austin-Columbia A. A. yesterday won the annual derby of the Norwegian-American A. A. held at Humboldt park with a total of 18 points. The Alverno A. A. placed second with 16 points, while Logan Square A. C. and Norwegian-American A. A. tied for third honors with 10 points each.

Harry De Wize and Lawrence (Larry) Quirk of the Austin-Columbia team placed first and second in the class C mile race. Quirk won the two mile handicap event, and Edward Murphy of the same club finished first in the novice class 1 mile race.

McWhirter Duplicates Feat.

Roy McWhirter of the Alverno A. A. duplicated his performance of last Sunday in the Sleipner A. C. derby when he won the class A mile race in handy fashion. William Steinmetz of the Norwegian-American A. A. gave McWhirter a hard battle, leading the field in the fourth and fifth laps, but McWhirter jumped into the lead on the first turn of the final lap and finished winner by ten feet. Steinmetz was out of the race when he made the final turn wide.

Rose Johnson of the Northwest Skating club had little difficulty in winning the women's race. Jumping into the lead at the first turn, she set a steady pace and never was headed.

Jimmy Thomson Performs.

Little Jimmy Thomson, 13 year old skater from the Avondale playground, who was one of the team of Chicago boy skaters who defeated New York and Philadelphia teams last year, gave a great exhibition in winning the half mile race for boys under 14. Jimmy stepped out in the lead in the first lap and then dropped back into second place, but on the final round put on a burst and coasted across winner by twenty feet.

The club derby was a feature, the Alvernos taking honors after a close finish. With the Norwegian-American team ten feet in the lead as the final turn began, McWhirter jumped William Steinmetz, for the Norwegian club, on the turn and won by one foot. Steinmetz spilled across the line.

Larry Quirk of the Austin-Columbia A. A. with an allowance of 150 yards, won the two mile handicap event.

By Mae Tinée.

This is the best picture Marion Davies has ever had. In it she does better work than ever she has done before, too. Also never has she been so pretty.

The story, by Donn Byrne, is built about an old Irish custom. On her wedding day the bride walks about a circle formed by her guests, asking each man the question, "Are you the one whom I love best?" When she comes to the groom he admits he's the man and takes her in his arms.

There was a wedding, it seems, some 800 years ago, when the bride, married against her wishes to an old man, asks the question, and is answered by the man she loves, and forthwith is carried away by him on his snow white charger.

On the day of the marriage of the beautiful Aileen to Sir Fergus an aged crone recalls the story and foretells dire things, for it is known that Aileen had thought much of a certain fickle poet.

As you will see by the cast, the two stories are given on the screen. Miss Davies is the heroine of each.

The production is most sumptuously staged and costumed, and is well directed. Wyndham Standing makes, as always, a splendid impression. The supporting players have been well chosen.

You will be carried away with the scenery. The photography is excellent.

CLOSEUPS

J. W. O'Mahoney, director of publicity for Educational, which released "Doggone Torchy," in which the baby figured so painfully, writes as follows:

My Dear Miss Tinée:

The writer follows your reviews with considerable interest and has always found himself in the position of agreeing with you, even when you, figuratively, have tread on our toes.

A clipping from THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE of Dec. 10, in which you review one of our releases titled "Doggone Torchy," has come to the writer's desk, and he believes he will take occasion to advise you how this picture was made.

The writer happened to be in the studio when Mr. Hines was making this picture, and can assure you that there was absolutely no danger to the little child from the lights or any other cause. The child, as a matter of fact, is a niece of Mr. Hines, and at no time were the lights turned on for more than half a minute, and, furthermore, the child really did not work in the picture but a very short time, its place being taken by a dummy.

We realize, of course, that the general public is not conversant with the mechanism of motion picture production and frequently the reviewers are not fully informed as to all the details in connection with the production. But we feel that in this instance, due to the lack of information, you were just a little bit severe with us, and we want to go on record with you as saying that at any time we have worked any child in any of our releases there never was the slightest danger attached to their person. In the case of this particular youngster its mother was present every moment of the very few moments that the child worked in the picture.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY

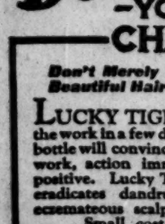

M. S.: THE BETTER WAY TO A successful shampoo is to reduce the soap to a liquid by shaving it fine, adding water, and letting it boil a couple of minutes. Wet the hair first. Follow with a goodly dose of the cooled liquid soap, and rub good and hard right into the scalp. Repeat the soap wash twice if the head of hair is heavy—possibly three times. Then rinse in clear water three times at least. In rinsing is the secret of a good wash. If you have a bath spray, rinse with that. A final cold rinse tones up the scalp. Then rub the head vigorously with a rough towel, and it will dry more quickly. Do not use borax or ammonia in the water. Used in any quantities it dries the hair. Send me s. a. e. for more information on care of the hair, which includes a formula for a good hair tonic.

HAROLD TEEN—ABOVE ALL, HE MUST BE A MAN

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Cold Weather Spreads.

Now is the time when like the old woman of rhyme "victuals and drink" should be the chief of our diet. Let milk be the drink and good bread with a thick spread be vigorous "vittles." Let us keep our appetites by eating fruit and vegetables and exercising, and eat fats, in winter weather especially if we are along in years and must suppress the inclination to talk constantly of doctors and diets and misery and death.

Fats are regular anthracite in the diet, but let us combine them with the scurvy preventing fruits and vegetables.

Here is a simple spread that combines the two: Chop sweet green pepper fine and mix it with sweet butter. The mixture keeps well and oleomargarine may take the place of the butter (or some home made savory fats). They have the same fuel value as the butter.

If a square of bacon, old fashioned brisket, or a piece of cured jowl is pot roasted, with all the savory seasoning of vegetables and a bit of candied ginger besides, not only slices of it but the fat which cooks out, make a most agreeable sandwich filling. We can always make a sandwich of our slice of bread, plain or toasted.

The fat from a cooked ham should never be wasted, even when it is no more than from one slice. Put it on a small plate, smooth it over, and cover it thinly with a little of the mixture made of one level teaspoon of mustard, one level teaspoon of vinegar to wet it, and one-fourth cup of brown sugar, or use a sirup. It makes a delicious sandwich filling, especially if the ham was boiled with seasoning vegetables.

MEN'S FASHIONS

BY A. T. GALLICO.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—The youth exhibited in the drawing is astonishingly like the one we see populating our country clubs during the summer and, as a matter of fact, there is little about him that would lead us to suspect that his habitat was Miami or Palm Beach in January.

However, as the south is usually the forecaster in style for the next summer, we find that the cap worn in the drawing constitutes a novelty which will be dotting our northern links in 1922, in that it is of paisley, the same material used for the famous shawls of that name. Of course, the bright colors and plaids that these shawls usually show are avoided, and the caps are made in modest grays and tans.

Their advantage lies in the fact that they combine extraordinary lightness of weight with what amounts almost to indestructibility. The cap may be crumpled into the hip pocket of one's golfing knickers and be resurrected at the eighteenth hole and in a moment look fresh and neat.

For the rest, caps of light silk or linen are worn, and there is at present on the market a shaped Madagascar hat which is something like a Panama and is exceedingly flexible. Another popular piece of headgear, especially for the man who expects to put in a great deal of time on the southern links, is the white duck hat lined with green, which, besides giving a neat appearance, is genuinely restful to the eyes in the glare of the sun.

The sweater is a useful and popular garment for the migratory man. This is generally a coat sweater with long sleeves, buttoning down the front, and is often worn when playing golf in lieu of the heavier coat. The sleeveless sweater appears only beneath the coat in the form of a vest.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

It Was Good.

One afternoon while attending a little party the hostess' little girl asked me to peel an orange for her. Her mother, upon hearing this, asked me to taste the orange to see whether it was sweet or not. An interesting subject came up, and I found I had eaten the whole orange when we finished our little gossip. It was a most embarrassing moment when the little girl asked me if we didn't have any oranges home. M. A.

After the Holidays.

I was teaching in Georgia, and it took my last cent to buy my ticket back after the Christmas holidays.

I thoughtlessly took the express train, and the conductor, of course, refused to stop at my station, so I faced the prospect of spending the night in the depot at Augusta.

In vain I pleaded with the conductor. Then a man behind me said: "You will have no difficulty. Another train leaves Augusta half an hour later."

"Then allow me to buy it. You can return the money by mail. This is my address," he said.

Did I thank him? Well, I guess. L. L. P.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

"An elderly woman needs a good, strong cane, also a warm house dress and warm underwear are needed by an invalid. L. P. G."

Can Make Things Over.

"Is there among your readers any one who has clothes, size 14 or 15, for a boy or girl, or shoes, size 5½ to 6½ for girl, 4 to 5 for boy? Or something for myself, size 38 to 40? I can make over clothes. My husband is out of work. MRS. W."

Mrs. W. can make things over, and any outgrown clothing you may have will be gratefully received.

Quaker City Holds Mummers' Pageant as Thousands Watch

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 2.—King Momus held sway in Philadelphia today. At the head of one of the largest and most gorgeous mummers' pageants in the history of the city's unique New Year's spectacle, he marched between lines of cheering humanity banked on both sides of Broad street, from Porter street to Girard avenue. For several hours during the parade Broad street was transformed into a fairway of fantasy, mimicry, and music.

More than 11,000 persons, representing scores of New Year's clubs, took part in the pageant and incidentally competed for $12,000 in prizes offered by the city and other thousands offered by business houses. There were fancy dressed clubs, the costumes of some of whose captains were reported to have cost many times as much as the amount of any prize they might win; comic clubs, whose antics furnished the spectators with much amusement; string bands of great variety, and scores of floats depicting events of historic as well as present day interest.

Thousands of persons went without sleep in order to obtain points of vantage along the line of march. Most of the mummers organizations held dances, beginning at midnight, and motion picture houses provided entertainment for others. Clowns, jockeys, Cleopatras, Chimpanzees, and assorted freaks, in their costumes ready for the parade, cavorted through the cafés and streets of the downtown section throughout the night.

Peasant Embroideries in Many Designs

by Corinne Lowe

ence.]—Nowadays we play the "Poet and the Peasant" overture with the poet left out. These vivid tinted peasant embroideries and stunning designs appear today, not only in connection with cloth dresses, but with some of the voile frocks imported from France for southern wear.

These show sometimes entire sleeve treatments of Czecho-Slovakian embroidery in bold reds, greens, and yellows. Indeed, the peasant embroideries which are a feature of this illustrated frock of navy duvetyn might well be transferred to the battle ground of white voile or crêpe.

Nor does the peasant motif stop at embroideries. There are dashing bands of red and white or green and white which are applied successfully to navy serge dresses. These, delightfully reminiscent of some quaint national costume, frequently appear on mid-season frocks sent from Paris. Indeed, braid and bands of all sorts are outstanding features of the midseason.

DAILY HOROSCOPE
Doris Blake Says:

If your birthday is today, you are HAPPY-GO-LUCKY.

Care sits lightly on your brow. Your nature is jovial and infectious. At a party you are the life of it. You love everybody and everybody loves you. By sheer force of your great vitality and good nature you are a leader.

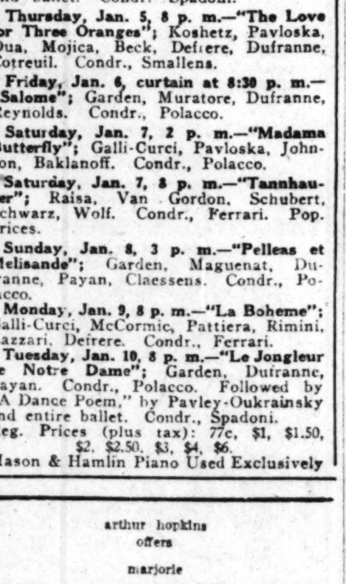

On Her Mind.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am only 16 and have known a young man of 26 about one year. He has been constantly on my mind and it worries me a great deal. Although I never went out with him we were quite friendly. Now he has left town, and I don't see him any more. Miss Blake, will you advise me whether I should call him up or forget about him, which I can't. "WORRIED."

No, dear, don't call him up. I think you are just romancing about him more than he is entitled to.

Federal Reserve Reviews and Forecasts.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 2.—Continued upward movement of business and the gradual restoration of normal conditions are indicated in the comparison of reports in the last month with those of the corresponding month of 1920, according to the December review of the economic situation issued tonight by the federal reserve board.

Manufacturing conditions, however, the board reported as far from uniform, there being a decrease of activity in the iron and steel industry, while textiles showed little change from previous months, and uncertainty exists as to the future of the clothing industry, due to labor disturbances and the continued demand of consumers for lower prices.

Freight Rates Disturbing.

"Freight rates," the board said, "continue as a disturbing factor, due to the belief that reductions already announced as affecting some commodities may be much more widely extended in the near future."

Relatively lower prices for cereals and cotton, the board continued, had discouraged trade in the agricultural districts, and also had resulted in retarding the process of liquidating frozen loans. Hardware and related lines were also said to be in an unsatisfactory condition, but wholesale prices "are showing increased stability."

Unemployment conditions were reported by the board as but little changed.

Economic Outlook Good.

Indications that the turn of the year is being "marked by a striking improvement in the business and economic outlook" of the country and the world generally were discussed by Controller of the Currency Crissinger in his forecast for 1922.

There can be no doubt, Mr. Crissinger said, that "both the political and economic index figures" are registering improvement at this time, "when political and economic conditions so intimately inter-act."

"Taking this wider view," he added, "I feel that we may be justified in regarding the outlook as altogether reassuring, and that the New Year is coming to us with guarantees that justify the most optimistic forecasts."

EARTH SHOCKS AT GATUN LAKE PERIL PANAMA

PANAMA, Jan. 2.—[By the Associated Press.]—An earthquake lasting about a minute occurred at 1 o'clock this morning, shaking up the city somewhat, but doing no damage either here or along the Panama canal. The center of the shock was about sixty miles distant.

A heavy flood was registered in Gatun lake between 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon and 8 this morning, Ralph Kirkpatrick, in charge of the meteorological and hydrographic bureau of the canal, reported today.

This made it necessary to open seven of the spillway.

Price Insurance and the Speculative Grain Market

THE CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE is a meeting place for the buyers and sellers of actual grain and other foodstuffs. The so-called speculative market is merely an important element in that marketing. Germany's attempt to eliminate it some years ago resulted in chaos and it had to be re-established.

It is a principle of economics that there can be no ownership of property without risk. Whether a transaction be in real estate, bonds, brick, wheat or what not, the element of risk is present. It is all a speculation. The buying and selling of grain for future delivery is neither more nor less speculative than in other property. In the grain exchange system the universal instinct to "take a chance" has been harnessed for the public good.

By reason of the speculative market in grain the process known as hedging is possible. Hedging affords an insurance to owners of actual grain against loss by fluctuation in the period, let us say, between its leaving the country elevator and its reappearance as flour in an English mill. Hedged grain is grain which carries insurance against loss to the owner by price changes. This insurance is as necessary as insurance on one's house. As the speculative market alone affords this insurance its important place in grain marketing must be recognized. By reason of this protection the farmer receives more for his grain; the consumer pays less.

F. O. B. BUFFALO

THE NEW STEWARTS are by far the best trucks Stewart ever built; more modern, more economical, more serviceable.

The Most Truck for the Least Money. Improved in design and workmanship; built of highest grade materials, with Stewart quality maintained in every detail; better all-around trucks for every purpose than have ever been offered to American business men.

With years of long life and faithful service; low up-keep cost; practically trouble-proof — sturdy, simple, profitable to own — these are features that have made Stewarts famous in the past nine years.

The Most Important Announcement in Truck History.

The Stewart policy behind this announcement is based on a complete readjustment of material and labor costs effective January 1st.

Raw materials are considerably lower, of better quality—and more accessible; labor is less costly and more productive. Throughout our entire plant, we have effected economies, lowered overhead, increased factory capacity; higher standards of efficiency prevail throughout.

Behind all these is the solid financial foundation upon which the Stewart organization rests. Stewart modern factories, equipped for quantity production, have started the new year towards lasting prosperity.

In nine years Stewart reputation for Price, Quality and Service has circled the globe. Thousands are in daily use.

UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT BONDS

NOTHING IS SAFER. In the case of persons with income subject to heavy surtax, nothing is more attractive, considering safety and yield, than the tax exempt issues. They MAY temporarily sell lower, but are NOW VERY CHEAP. They will eventually sell at much higher prices. They yield from 4 per cent to 7 per cent. We make a specialty of these Bonds. We keep a supply on hand for immediate delivery. We shall be glad to explain the merits of the different issues upon application.

From 1914 through 1918 the world, from a financial point of view, SPENT its savings and "WASTED" its labor. During and after the war there was great INFLATION and undue extravagance. The relations between the nations were broken and have not yet been readjusted. In this country there was an orgy of waste and extravagance.

The inevitable results have followed. Price bubbles have burst. Such commodities as sugar, coffee, rubber, copper, cotton and wool have shrunk more than one-half. Borrowers have been forced to sell. "Rich" people to protect their business have had to sell their securities. Prices of securities have shrunk from 25% to 50%.

BUT most of the inflation is "out." The nations of the world will undoubtedly, before many months, readjust their relations. Necessity is compelling economy instead of extravagance. Expansion has ceased. The time to buy is when other people must sell, for then the buyer best serves himself and the community.

Owing to "Forced Liquidation" Government bonds, municipal bonds and other sound securities are selling at below normal values; and we believe that,

For SMALL or LARGE INVESTORS WHO HAVE SAVED CASH,

"THE BARGAIN COUNTER" FOR SECURITIES IS NOW OPEN

There are three KINDS of CORPORATIONS whose Bonds and Stocks are especially attractive:

The Corporation which has not unduly expanded during these last years and which has NO FLOATING DEBT.
A prominent one is the

UNITED STATES STEEL CORPORATION
Having 91,000 Common stockholders

The Corporation whose long history shows that its EARNINGS are not only SUFFICIENT, but CONSTANT, through periods of depression or activity. A conspicuous example is the AMERICAN TELEPHONE & TELEGRAPH CO.

Having 138,000 stockholders

The Railroad Company which, through its NATURAL ADVANTAGES and its GOOD MANAGEMENT, has maintained good earnings and freedom from floating debt. An instance is the UNION PACIFIC RAILROAD CO.

Having 34,000 Common stockholders

There are many other properties which belong in some one of these three classes; we shall be glad to give information concerning them

Complete prosperity for the whole country will come only when Railroad and Taxation Matters have been rightly settled—But

We look forward to the coming year with hope and confidence that, on the whole, better things are in store. We base our hope and confidence upon two clear facts:

FIRST: The World has shown its unwillingness to be coerced by any nation. Our people will not permit coercing by any group.

SECOND: Our people are more and more inclined toward meeting disagreements of all kinds by efforts for mutual understanding.

The result of these two facts can be only beneficial. They create a FRAME OF MIND which should gradually beget confidence, a "Good Will" asset for the general situation.

There should follow less quarrelling, more steady work, more money saved, more courage by investors, more business, more general prosperity, FIRST HERE and then the world over.

While extreme low prices have passed, the opportunity still exists for the careful investment of money in sound securities—in the Kinds of Securities which we recommended one year ago today—

We shall be glad to advise such securities, upon your application, and to buy them for you

Hard Times? Huh! Billion Dollar Bond Issues in 1921

New York, Jan. 2.—Bond issues of states, counties, cities, and smaller political divisions exceeded $1,000,000,000 in 1921, according to statistics compiled by the Daily Bond Buyer. This sets a new high record.

Financing for highway construction and soldiers' bonuses and the high cost of building are believed to be responsible for the large number of bond quotations.

When Present High Yields Are A Memory

IN 1880 the investor was faced with a problem not wholly unlike that of today. The income return from the highest grade investment bonds was then about 5.35% and it is now at approximately the same point. While it is not necessary to assume that we are now entering a period such as followed the year 1880, when for over 35 years bonds yielded less than 5.35%, it is clear that we are still far from the low yields of 3½% reached in 1902 and we believe that we are in a period of long, gradual decline in money rates and bond yields.

One of the best ways to obtain the present high income yields over a period of years, is through the purchase of long term securities which cannot be called before maturity.

We recommend the following Bonds, and call your attention to the effect on their market price should the yield of securities decrease ½ of 1%.

Non-Callable Bonds	Present Price About	Yield About %	Price if Yield Decreased ½ of 1%
Province of Ontario 6%, 1943	105	5.60	111.50
Western Union Telegraph Co. 6½%, 1936	107	5.80	112.00
Ill. Central R. R. Co. Secured 6½%, 1936	107½	5.70	113.25
U. K. of Great Britain and Ireland 5½%, 1937	95½	5.95	101.00
United States of Brazil 8%, 1941	104	7.60	109.50

We shall be pleased to execute orders for any of these issues or to suggest other securities.

THE advancing movement in bond prices has definitely set in. Such market activities invariably experience a temporary halt such as occured within the past ten days. This is a natural incident in the upward trend of the security market, and offers the investor his opportunity to secure high grade bonds at favorable prices before the upward swing is again under way.

SHIPPING BOARD VESSELS TO HELP RUSSIA, IS PLAN

Newport News, Va., Jan. 2.—Thirty shipping board steamers anchored in James river are to be made ready for sea at once and placed in the Russian relief service, according to well founded reports here. When the movement will start or through which ports the grain will move no one is able to say.

U. S. to Speed Up Things.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 2.—The shipping board is preparing to give the American relief administration such tonnage as may be needed for the transportation of grain to Russia after the American private owners have done what they can, Vice President J. B. Smull, in charge of charters and collections of the shipping board, said today.

The board plans, if necessary, to assign thirty 7,500 to 12,000 ton ships to this work. It will take only ten days at the most to outfit such ships as are selected for this service, Mr. Smull said.

BUSINESS NEWS IN BRIEF

COPYRIGHT: 1921: BY FAIRCHILD NEWS SERVICE.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—Cotton yarn market closed the year with substantial net price advances as compared with a year ago. Actual buying last week was at minimum.

NEW YORK.—In 1921 New York smashed all previous records for business failures. Voluntary and involuntary petitions in bankruptcy during year numbered 2,345. Next highest was 1915, with 1,700.

NEW YORK.—Specifications for the sale of government owned balloon cloth show that these materials are of cotton, not of linen, as had been believed.

PATERSON, N. J.—Heavy orders are reported for silk described as crêpe filling on Canton warp. It wholesales at $1.60@1.75 a yard.

LONDON.—Export trade in practically all lines was well satisfied with Christmas business. There are signs of freer buying. War surplus textiles are playing a prominent part.

NEW YORK.—January fur reduction sales opened fairly briskly the country over. In only a few instances has the public been told that new prices are possible through prospective repeal of 10 per cent excise tax.

NEW YORK.—Extreme competition in the cloak and suit market is anticipated. Manufacturers are preparing for extraordinary efforts to win trade. Prices still depend upon outcome of strike in New York.

BOSTON.—Tariff uncertainty is contributing to failure of wool houses to contract for the new western wool clip. Cloth manufacturing trade also is a soft spot in the market. Large sales to cloth producers are not expected.

NEW YORK.—Doubt no longer exists in the wholesale market that blouses are due for a "comeback" during the spring season. During 1921 the industry diminished materially.

NEW YORK.—Despite American Woolen company's decision not to lower wages in 1922, other woolen companies are reported preparing for such a move. Cuts ranging up to 33 1-3 per cent are under consideration.

NEW YORK.—Immediate delivery of merchandise in dress market is scarce. Lots picked up by retailers for January sales hardly could have been classed as "jobs." Prices are firming.

NEW YORK.—There was little trading in the gray goods market Saturday, most houses being busy closing their books and inventories for the year. Prices were firm and there are indications of a slight advance during the coming week.

OIL BOOM IN MEXICO.

Mexico City, Jan. 2.—Petroleum fields along the gulf coast made a new record for production during December. There was a total output of 18,000,000 barrels, 13,000,000 being produced by the Toteco and the Cerro Azul lots alone. Thirty-four new wells were started during the month.

FORGAN REPORT REVEALS GAIN IN SAVINGS FOR 1921

James B. Forgan, chairman of the board of directors of the First National bank and the First Trust and Savings bank, in submitting his annual report to the stockholders says:

"Continued deflation from the abnormal expansion in bank credits, due to conditions produced by the war, resulted during the year in a gradual decrease in commercial deposits and a corresponding liquidation of loans. In the First National bank deposits declined from $192,443,070 a year ago to $178,346,491, while the loans were reduced from $173,213,823 to $141,972,847. The First Trust and Savings bank shows some increase in savings and other deposits are also slightly larger, total deposits now being $89,481,297, compared with $87,726,489 a year ago.

"This deflation relieved the First National bank from the strain under which it operated during 1920, and enabled it to liquidate its borrowings and rediscounts at the Federal Reserve bank, which a year ago amounted to $33,164,000. The earnings shown by the First National bank are $2,205,355, as compared with $3,346,663 for the previous year, while the earnings of the First Trust and Savings bank are $1,821,470, as compared with $1,770,025 last year.

"The dividends paid amount to $2,750,000, leaving surplus earnings for the year of $1,276,825. These combined profits show earnings for the year of 9% per cent on the average capital employed, which compares with 13⅛ per cent last year."

GRAIN MARKETS GIVEN BAD JOLT; BIG CORN RUN DUE

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

December deliveries of grain are a thing of the past, and, with the government reports out of the market, the markets are in a position to act more in accord with domestic and foreign news. The passing of 1921 was not regretted by the grain trade, as there has seldom been a year in history when conditions were so unfavorable for agricultural interests.

There has been a decided tendency on the part of sentiment of late to crystallize on the bullish side, but the markets received such a shock from the suspension of E. W. Wagner & Co. that it is generally believed that they will be slow in recovering. There will be many new factors to be considered in the situation shortly, one of which is the reduction in freight rates which went into effect at midnight, Dec. 31.

Expect Renewed Selling.

This reduction, it is believed, will start renewed country selling of cash wheat and bring about bigger receipts. Should this prove to be the case, a larger milling demand will be necessary to absorb the offerings, as the general foreign call for domestic grain is still slow. The trade has been anticipating a better call, however, with the turn of the year and it may be that the reduced freight rates will help the flour trade to some extent.

As yet there is no evidence of a material reduction in the visible supply which is regarded as necessary before there will be any material upturn in prices. Argentina is expected to commence heavy shipments in the next few weeks and recent sales to Europe have been on the basis of a heavy discount, as compared with the price of domestic grain. Under normal conditions American markets usually are soft early in January, when the first rush of the southern hemisphere grain is underway, and the bull turns hardly commence until late in February or early in March.

Statistics Little Changed.

From a statistical position the revised government report failed to change the situation materially, returns on wheat confirming the belief of the trade that this country was overexported on the basis of the preliminary estimates. It is believed that there is about 100,000,000 bu wheat remaining in this country for export and carryover after allowing for all requirements. A government report on farm reserves as of Jan. 1 will be given to the trade early this month.

Dry weather continues in the southwest and there is more than the usual prospect of a crop scare in that section. The Dec. 1 condition was the lowest on record and practically no moisture has fallen in the leading sections since the report was compiled. Drought talk is also coming from parts of Europe. Bullish statistics and crop scares have cost the trade dearly in the last year, and there is a disposition to go slow in buying until the foreign financial situation rights itself.

December wheat in Chicago closed on Saturday at $1.07⅛, a net loss of 6⅛c for the week. May was $1.15⅛ to $1.15, or 2¼c lower, and July, $1.03⅝ to $1.04, off 2⅜c. Range of prices the last week follows:

Lower Rates for Corn.

With a reduction in freight rates and fairly liberal stocks in interior elevators it is generally believed that a big run of corn to terminal markets will be witnessed within a week. To offset this is the prospect of large and persistent purchases for Russian relief, as well as the usual European demand, and the calling of a conference by the government to consider how to help agricultural interests. The passing of the December delivery eliminates an unsettling factor from the market, but sentiment is somewhat less favorable to the buying side, due to the impending movement from the country.

Under normal conditions the lowest prices of the season are made when the movement is at its height. Seldom does export business prove a sustaining influence, although it helps to prevent declines. If the country markets its grain in an orderly manner no materially lower prices are expected, but if liquidation starts there is not sufficient speculation to absorb the hedging sales. In the main the disposition on the part of the producer is to sell only on the bulges.

December corn in Chicago closed Saturday at 46⅝c, May at 53½c, and July at 54⅞c, showing net losses of 2@3c. Range of prices for the last week follows:

A marked improvement in the domestic demand for cash oats developed in the closing days of last week, and it would not be surprising if a reduction in the visible supply was shown shortly. The Advancing Market

THE decline in interest rates is very gradually but persistently causing some investment securities to advance in price. Perhaps the best evidence of this is found in the advancing market for the various Liberty Bond issues.

Do Not Overstay Your Market Before Investing

Few investors own "Buy at the Bottom." When they do, it is usually accidental. At present high interest rates money is an expensive idler. Securities are still cheap and the shrewd investor will put his money to work for as long a time as possible, keeping in mind his own requirements as to re-payment.

Kansas and Gulf.

M. K. D.—The $3,750,000 Kansas and Gulf company 8 per cent serial notes are unsecured. The company agrees not to mortgage any property without ratably securing these notes. The adjusted balance sheet as of June 30, 1921, shows net assets of $31,088,315, or over five and one-half times these notes, which are the only funded debt. Net earnings for 1920 were $2,423,861, or eight times the maximum interest charges on these notes. For the first six months of 1921 net earnings were $832,344, or at the annual rate of four and one-half times interest charges. The notes mature serially $750,000 Oct. 1, 1924, and $1,000,000 annually to 1927. They are convertible prior to Oct. 1, 1928, into common stock at par. The notes have a wide margin of safety. They are suitable for a business man's spare funds.

Pure Oil.

W. S.: There are outstanding prior to the preferred stock of the Pure Oil company $2,063,000 mortgage bonds of gas subsidiaries and $7,980,000 of 7 per cent serial notes of the company, due 1922-'25. This is a total funded debt of $11,043,000. As of Oct. 1, 1921, the net tangible assets equaled $585 per share of preferred stock outstanding, including the present issue of $4,200,000. This stock rates well among industrial preferred stocks, but is more suitable for a business man's spare funds than for savings. The company has had a successful record since incorporation in 1914 as the Ohio Cities Gas company.

Brief Answers.

M. J.—The Philadelphia and Reading railroad terminal first 5s are due May 1, 1951. The Philadelphia and Reading railroad-Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron company collateral sinking fund 4s are due Feb. 1, 1923. The Philadelphia and Reading extended 5s are due Oct. 1, 1933. All these are high grade investments suitable for savings.

E. J. R.: The 6 per cent preferred stock of the Duluth, South Shore and Atlantic Railway company is noncumulative. It is a mere speculation. The company's common stock is practically worthless. No dividend has ever been paid on either and there seems no likelihood that one ever will be, on the common at least. The par value of each is $100.

MAY OUST OKLAHOMANS.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Jan. 2.—Five Carter county officials, whose names were not disclosed, are named in ouster petitions being prepared by the attorney general's department, S. P. Freeling, attorney general, announced today.

"SOO" FREIGHT SHIPMENTS FALL OFF DURING 1921

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Jan. 2.—[Special.]—Freight shipments through the St. Mary's ship canal fell off considerably during 1921, the annual report of L. C. Sabin, its general superintendent, indicates. At the time there was a considerable increase in grain shipments.

Wheat shipments increased 54,258,522 bushels, or 38 per cent over the 1920 season. Grain other than wheat increased 44,064,129 bushels, or 85 per cent. And flour shipments increased 2,739,772 barrels. The figures are:

Wheat, bu	143,456,487	197,715,010
Grain, bu	51,630,135	95,694,264

Coal shipments upbound also increased this year over last. In 1920 of anthracite coal 2,509,266 tons passed, and in 1921 the figure was 2,256,128 tons. Soft coal to the amount of 12,096,993 tons passed last year, while 12,507,027 tons passed this year. Lumber shipments increased 7 per cent, or 13,452,000 board feet; and general merchandise increased from 558,110 tons in 1920 to 600,163 tons this year.

The vast decrease in total freight shipments for the year, which averages 20 per cent, is due largely to the falling off in ore transportation. Iron ore fell off 60 per cent, copper 39 per cent, and pig and manufactured iron 49 per cent. Salt shipments declined 37 per cent, oil 15 per cent, and stone 12 per cent.

It Pays To Advertise In The Tribune

LONDON EXCITED OVER RUMOR OF RUSSIAN TRADE

BY MANFRED EMANUEL.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

[Copyright: 1922: By The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, Jan. 2.—With the stock exchange week reduced by the Christmas holidays and with only three working days, it was natural that business was of the smallest dimensions. Operators were not anxious to enter into new business, while the general public did its best to forget all business worries.

The tone throughout the markets was generally cheerful and quite a burst of life was shown in Russian things of all kinds on the news that the soviet was more inclined to resume normal relations with the world and that a general economic conference is to be called which might solve financial and exchange difficulties, from which Europe particularly is suffering.

Gilt Edge Stocks Revived.

Gilt edged stocks, after an initial dullness, went ahead again, the strength spreading practically to every stock. In the foreigners the feature was the marking up of Russian issues, though little business took place.

Home rails were dull. Foreign rails were noteworthy for the sharp rise in Argentine stock on hopes of granting higher freight rates. The Brazilians all closed well up on the week.

Oils have not been lively, though prices have been well maintained. Leaders came in from a little professional support and the Trinidad group showed an upward tendency, with Apex at 2. The Russians were all marked up, with some good rises shown.

Kaffirs in Late Rally.

Rubber shares were an idle commodity and were not so firm as of late. In mines the Kaffirs first went off on the fall in gold, but rallied with the price of the metal. Paris lending little support. Elsewhere the only feature was supplied by the Russo-Asiatics, where large blocks of stock changed hands at rising prices.

Industrials have been cheerful, bull factors being the United Tobaccos dividend, which affected the whole section, and the surprise 10 per cent dividend on Lever ordinary shares, putting all prior issues better. Otherwise the changes were unimportant.

Miners Ask U. S. Inquiry Into Retail Cost of Living

Washington, D. C., Jan. 2.—Attorney General Daugherty was requested today by the United Mine Workers of America to include the coal mining regions in the government's inquiry into retail prices of food, clothing, fuel, and other essential commodities. Ellis Searles, editor of the United Mine Workers' Journal, said prices miners were compelled to pay are too high.

GRAIN CROPS BY STATES

Kansas raised 128,564,000 bu wheat in 1921, compared with the revised figures of 142,866,000 bu in 1920. The government in revising its crop returns for 1920 raised the Kansas crop over 5,000,000 bu, while Oklahoma was moved up 8,000,000 bu. Missouri cut down 5,000,000 bu. Illinois increased 5,000,000 bu. Indiana reduced 1,000,000 bu, and Ohio nearly 1,000,000 bu. Nebraska was unchanged. The seven states raised 362,892,000 bu of wheat the last year, against 388,672,000 bu in 1920.

The three northwestern states raised 121,840,000 bu of wheat the last year, compared with 132,314,000 bu in 1920. The North Dakota crop raised over 12,000,000 bu over the previous figures of 1920, and Minnesota 1,200,000 bu.

In the eight large corn states, exclusive of Kansas, there were 1,725,751,000 bu of corn raised the last year, compared with 1,856,791,000 bu in 1920. With the exception of Iowa, which was not changed, there were striking alterations made from the 1920 crop. Illinois was reduced 50,000,000 bu, Ohio 10,000,000 bu, and Missouri cut down nearly 14,000,000 bu. Details by states, as given by the government report, follow:

HIBERNIA BANK & TRUST COMPANY, NEW ORLEANS, TRUSTEE

For information regarding these bonds we refer to a letter from Mr. Samuel Zemurray, President of the Cuyamel Fruit Company, which states that:

Business. The Cuyamel Fruit Company, an American corporation, is engaged in the cultivation, purchase, transportation and marketing of bananas. The Company was incorporated in 1911 and together with its predecessor company has been engaged in this business since 1905. It is fully equipped for conducting its business, owning farms, railway and tram lines, steamships, wharves, etc., and employs about 2,000 people.

Security. 1. These bonds will be secured by property of the Company consisting of 53,049 acres of land, buildings, live stock, steamships, railroads, tramways, rolling stock, telephone, electric light and water supply equipment, valued by Messrs. Ford, Bacon & Davis, Engineers, as of October 1, 1921, in excess of $8,250,000 after depreciation.

As to all the above property, other than the steamships, these bonds will be secured, in the opinion of counsel, by a direct First Mortgage, and as to the steamships, by pledge and voting control of all the shares of stock of the Cuyamel Steamship Co. holding title to these ships, and also by pledge of its demand notes, delivered to the Fruit Company in payment for these ships.

2. The bonds will also be the joint and several obligation of the Company and Cortes Development Company, a Honduras corporation, all the stock of which is held by Trustees for the benefit of the stockholders of Cuyamel Fruit Company. This company owns valuable lands and other properties and has a net worth of $2,569,998. It has no liability other than its obligation on these bonds.

3. Personal guaranty of Samuel Zemurray.

Assets. The balance sheet as of November 30, 1921, after giving effect to this financing, shows tangible assets of $13,790,249, after deducting current liabilities and reserves, or 3.9 times the amount of this bond issue. The financial position of the companies is indicated by current assets of $4,317,230 and current liabilities of only $435,656, or a ratio of over 9 to 1.

Earnings. The net earnings of the companies available for interest, depreciation, Federal Taxes, etc., for 11 months ending November 30, 1921, were $2,275,447, or at the rate of about nine times the annual interest requirements on these $3,500,000 bonds. Average annual net earnings for the past five years ended December 31, 1920, after interest and taxes, but before depreciation, were $1,195,866. After depreciation, interest and taxes they were $718,085, or about 2¾ times the maximum interest requirements on these $3,500,000 bonds.

Sinking Fund. The mortgage provides for a sinking fund to retire annually by purchase or redemption not less than 5% and not more than 15% of the greatest amount of bonds at any time outstanding.

Purpose of Issue. The proceeds of the sale of these bonds will be used to retire $850,000 of the Company's 6% Marine Equipment Notes and to pay for capital expenditures already made.

Bonds are offered for delivery when, as and if issued and received by us, and subject to the approval of counsel. Pending delivery of definitive bonds, it is expected that Trustee's interim receipts will be ready for delivery on or about January 16, 1922.

January Investment Offerings, 1922

The long expected advance in bond prices began in November, and though arrested temporarily, will in all probability continue to still higher levels, as it appears that interest rates in general will show a lower tendency. We believe, therefore, that available funds should be invested without delay.

For a Sound Sleep—Let the "London" Do Your Worrying

IF YOUR factory, store or place of business should burn tonight—well, what of it? Your papers are in a fire-proof vault and everything else is protected by insurance.

But—

Suppose So and So—one of your big debtors—should fail tomorrow—what then? Are you protected against that sort of a loss? A dollar is a dollar, whether it is burned in a fire or sunk in a failure. Then why insure against fire and not against failure?

"London" Credit Insurance is an absolute guarantee against any excess loss from the failure of a debtor, and with the "London" guarding your credits, you can sleep well, knowing that any such loss will be paid within forty-five days. Why not ask today? There's no obligation.
